Stalin's Assertions Come as No Surprise To President Truman

Generalissimo States Nations "Desire Peace"

Confidence in United Nations as Peace Instrument Is Affirmed

RAPS "WARMONGERS"

World Unrest Is Blamed on Propaganda of "Political Groups"

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, March 22 (AP)—Prime Minister Generalissimo Stalin today expressed conviction that neither the nations of the world nor their armies are seeking another war, and affirmed his confidence in the United Nations Organization as "a serious instrument" for preserving peace.

He declared that the nations "desire peace and are endeavoring to secure peace," but that "certain political groups" have spread fear through the world by a propaganda campaign which is "sowing seeds of discord and uncertainty."

The Russian leader made his assertions in a written reply to three questions put to him by the Associated Press last Tuesday. His reply was dated today.

Stalin's replies were broadcast over the Moscow short and long wave radio at 7 p. m. by Yuri Levitan, Russias' ace announcer who read all the generalissimo's orders of the day during the war. Then Moscow radio began broadcasting the questions and answers in many languages to all corners of the world.

(Stalin's forthright statements immediately produced worldwide reaction, and were hailed generally with gratification and hope. United States congressmen quoted it as indicating greater success for the United Nations Organization, and as a renunciation of any militaristic ambitions by Russia. Observers in London said the interview had eased tension.)

Counterpropaganda Campaign

As a solution to the "current fear of war," Stalin urged a world-wide counterpropaganda campaign "to expose the warmongers without loss of time and give them no opportunity of abusing the freedom of speech against the interests of peace."

(Stalin did not identify the "warmongers" in his letter, but on March 13 Pravda published an interview quoting him as calling Winston Churchill a "warmonger.")

He said he attached "great importance" to the United Nations Organization and added that "it will unquestionably play a great

Soviet Leader's Views Are Hailed On Capitol Hill

Chief Executive Says He Had Always Known Way Stalin Felt

CONNALLY IS PLEASED

Question of Good Faith Is Raised by Some Congressmen

WASHINGTON, March 22. (AP)—President Truman's reaction to Generalissimo Stalin's statement to AP Correspondent Eddy Gilmore was that he had always known that was exactly the way Stalin felt, a White House spokesman said tonight.

Stalin, replying to three questions submitted by Gilmore at Moscow, had expressed belief that neither the nations of the world nor their armies are seeking another war.

The Russian leader also affirmed his confidence in the United Nations as "a serious instrument" for preserving the peace.

Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, described Mr. Truman's reaction during a news conference tonight.

The capital generally took the view that Stalin's message spells lasting peace if the generalissimo's deeds square with his words.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex), of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, pretty well summed up the Capitol Hill reaction to Stalin's pronouncement for peace and the United Nations:

"The views expressed are in entire harmony with the purposes of the United Nations Organization," Connally said.

"I am glad to note that he renounces any militaristic ambitions.

"The UNO is our best hope for peace, and if the Soviet Union will support it and co-operate with other peace-loving nations we may hope for a long period of peace and international concord."

"Lot of Words," Says Andrews

Congressional variations from Connally's theme came only in the degree of readiness to accept Stalin's words at face value.

One extreme was represented by Rep. Andrews (R-NY), ranking minority member of the House Military committee, who said:

"It is a pretty good statement but it doesn't mean much. A lot of words."

Sen. Capper (R-Kas) went farther than most of the lawmakers in the other direction:

"That is a very encouraging and satisfactory statement on the part of Mr. Stalin. I believe it is a valuable contribution to the cause of world peace. We should not raise a question of good faith until we know differently. Mr. Stalin has gone on record and I don't believe he will go back on it."

While officials and congressmen studied Stalin's comments, Soviet Ambassador Andrei A. Gromyko made an unheralded call on President Truman, but Charles Ross, White House press secretary, said it was only a courtesy visit.

Mr. Truman made it clear yesterday that his country will block the Russian proposal to postpone the Security council meeting for sixteen days while Russia prepares its defense to a complaint from Iran against continued presence of Russian troops in that country.

Byrnes To Sit on Council

In that connection, Secretary of State Byrnes disclosed that he will sit on the Security council as American representative during consideration of the Russian-Iranian dispute. Through Michael McDermott, department press officer, Byrnes said he would be at the council table only during discussion of "the Iranian case" and would not replace Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., regular United States representative.

The Iranian affair and the UNO meeting figured strongly in comment at the Capitol on the Stalin letter.

Sen. Morse (R-Ore) said that in view of the generalissimo's words, Russia now should not have "any

Rose Recruited Russian Agents, Witness Asserts

Canadian Parliament Member Is Accused by Soviet Code Clerk

By HARRY T. MONTGOMERY

MONTREAL, March 22 (AP)—Fred Rose, Communist and member of Canada's Parliament, and Sam Carr, national organizer of the Labor-Progressive party, were "recruiting agents" in a Russian organization of agents in Canada, a former code clerk in the Soviet embassy at Ottawa asserted today.

The clerk, 26-year-old Igor Gouzenko, testified in police court that he exposed the Moscow-directed espionage ring because he had become convinced that Canadian democracy was better than the Russian way of life.

He charged that Russia used the Communist party in Canada as a pivotal part of the Soviet spy network, and that Russian security police were operating in the dominion.

Gouzenko, mystery man of the spy probe, testified at a preliminary hearing for Rose, accused of sending secret scientific information to Soviet agents.

Gouzenko, telling the inside story of the espionage activities, said he wanted to help both the Russian people and the Canadian people by disclosing the Soviet operations.

He said he had become impressed by the rights of persons in Canada where a man is "actually master of his own life."

Attempted Kidnaping Charges Face Foster Son of Late Banker

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22 (AP) — A man listed as John Wright McDowell, Jr., and identified by Detective Chief John S. Siers as the 27-year-old foster son of a late wealthy banker of Peoria, Ill., was charged today with attempting to kidnap two 7-year-old schoolgirls, Gail Oliver, and Patricia Fischer.

Magistrate John T. Fisher placed McDowell's bond at $50,000 on two charges of attempting kidnaping. He set a preliminary hearing for next Thursday.

The man was arrested Wednesday afternoon following a collision between his car and another vehicle at an intersection. Siers quoted the girls as saying they escaped in the confusion of the accident.

Jewish Family of 15 Receives $500, Chicago's Annual St. Dismas Gift

By CARROLL ARIMOND

CHICAGO, March 22 (AP)—Dismas, the good thief who stole into the heart of the dying Christ, made another snatch today.

His loot was all the gratitude and admiration that a devout Jewish couple and their thirteen children could bestow upon a Christian saint.

Through his mortal agents, Dismas, the hoodlum saint and only one to be canonized by Christ personally, made his annual foray into Chicago's shabby neighborhoods, slipped into the eight-room flat of Joseph and Helen Feinhandler and handed the husband fifty $10 bills.

"Thank you, thank you, thank you," was about all the beaming but bewildered beneficiary of the annual St. Dismas gift could say at first.

"Next time I want to be the one who's giving," said the bearded, skull-capped father, surrounded by his wife and ten of the children.

The donors of the $500 were members of the Dempster Mac Murphy Post of the American Legion who collect and distribute the money each year as a memorial to Mac Murphy, late Chicago Daily News business manager who devoted years to making the forgotten Dismas a better known saint.

Dismas, crucified beside Christ, repented at the eleventh hour and was promised salvation by the Savior thus:

"Amen I say to thee, this day thou shalt be with me in paradise."

Mac Murphy called Dismas "a bum, a mine-run thief who roams the outfield of eternity, making shoestring catches of souls."

The money is given each year to a family that can use it but won't ask for it. It carries no strings and no social workers will be around to check on whether it's being preserved or squandered.

Feinhandler volunteered that he had good plans for the money, although the donors wouldn't have cared if he plunked it all on a good one in Tropical Park's added tomorrow. He said it would help tide him and his brood through hard times in his Kosher cooking oil business, hit by war-born shortages.

Senate Debates Measure To Hike Minimum Wage

Senate Committee Criticizes Disposition of Unused War Goods

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—The Senate heard today a claim that New York financiers, rather than southern employers, have held down wage scales in the south.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC) made the assertion during debate on a bill to raise the nationwide minimum pay from forty cents an hour to sixty-five cents now and to seventy-five cents after four years. Maybank was replying to a remark by Sen. Morse (R-Ore) who, in supporting the bill, said that the south too long has been competing for markets "by beating down wages."

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said Maybank was exactly right and that the South long has been "exploited by New York." The debate will continue Monday.

Meat Price Ceilings Are Hit

Declaring that the black market in meats has gotten completely out of hand, the American Meat Institute called for an end of price ceilings on steaks, chops, roasts and other meats. The demand was voiced before the House Banking committee by Institute President Wesley Hardenberch, who doubted effectiveness of an OPA crackdown ordering forfeiture in whole or part of subsidy payments to slaughterers and packers who pay above ceiling prices for cattle.

The Senate War Investigating committee scorchingly criticized the government's job thus far in disposing of unused war goods, particularly in Britain. The committee's report showed a State department settlement called for payment by England of $650,000,000 for goods which cost the United States $6,033,164,850 and release of Britain from all other claims for $16,000,000,000 of lend lease goods which were used.

The Senate gave its final approval to a bill for $250,000,000 appropriation to provide an estimated 100,000 additional "temporary housing units for distressed families of servicemen and for veterans and their families." Recently agreed upon by Senate-House conferees, the measure now goes to the White House.

Vardaman Hearing

The Senate Banking committee heard more testimony about forged affidavits as it continued hearings on the qualifications of Com. James K. Vardaman to be a Federal Reserve Board member. The senators were unable to obtain the originals, described by Frank O. Bittner, Jr., a former associate of Vardaman's, because they had been "torn up and flushed down the toilet." Bittinger mentioned the affidavits to support his charge that he was defrauded in a stock sale.

The army settled for a one-year draft extension when Gen. Eisenhower withdrew his request for an indefinite continuance. Secretary of War Patterson explained to the House Military committee that he

Army Bans Public Displays of Affection

TOKYO, March 22 (AP) — American soldiers strolling with arms around Japanese women, or making other public displays of affection, henceforth will be subject to imprisonment for disorderly conduct, Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger announced today.

The commander of the Eighth army said no ban on "fraternization" was contemplated, but that such displays were in particularly poor taste and repugnant to both Japanese and Americans.

B-29s To Obtain Technical Data Near North Pole

Three Planes Will Gather Information for Arctic Flying

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP) — The army air force disclosed tonight preparations for flights by three longrange B-29 bombers to the region of the magnetic North pole to obtain technical data for Arctic flying.

A carefully-worded announcement linked the undertaking with the Canadian army's current "Musk Ox" expedition to the strategic far north area into which the navy also has sent the aircraft carrier Midway for tests.

The army air forces, at Canada's invitation, are co-operating with the Musk Ox expedition which started on a 3,130-mile, eighty-one-day swing around Northwest Canada this month to obtain data for military operations under extreme cold weather conditions.

Start from Edmonton, Alberta

Starting from Edmonton, Alberta, the B-29 flights "will be the closest approxifation to actual military transport airborne operations under Arctic conditions ever attempted," the War department said. Specific dates for the start were not given but it was reported the planes were especially equipped for Arctic operations in a month of "twenty-four-hour-a-day activity."

The flights will cover between 1,500 and 2,000 miles to the most northerly points reached by the Musk Ox ground party. One specific purpose was given as the study of "radio propagation," which was not further explained.

The announcement said also that the AAF supply planes used by the Musk Ox party were being aided materially in current operations by "Loran' (long range navigation) equipment without which some might not have been able to reach their bases.

Special Instruments

Flying from five bases in the Hudson bay region the C-47 supply ships get their "fixes or durational signals from Loran stations in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia. In addition ten monitoring stations are to be set up, two of them manned by personnel from the AAF air materiel command.

For the forthcoming polar flight, four navigators were trained in polar navigation at a navy school at Quonset Point, Rhode Island. The three B-29s were outfitted at air depots in San Antonio, Texas, and Patterson field, Ohio.

Because of the problem presented by close proximity to the magnetic pole, the B29s are equipped with special navigation instruments, and will use electric gyro instruments for the pilot and navigation instead of the usual vacuum gyros, it was said.

Youth Is Sentenced To Die in Gas Chamber

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. C., March 22, (AP) — Eighteen-year-old Woodrow Ewing, frail, bespectacled farmer, was sentenced today to die in the gas chamber for the slaying of his wife and infant stepdaughter February 4.

A jury convicted him last night of first degree murder, making the death sentence mandatory. Judge Clawson Williams delayed passing it until today. May 17 was set for the execution.

O'Conor, Lane Rejected Offer of B. and O. Post, Baltimore Sun Reports

BALTIMORE, March 22. (AP)—The Evening Sun said it was learned reliably today that Gov. O'Conor and William Preston Lane, Jr., Hagerstown publisher, had turned down an offer of a remunerative position with the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

Gov. O'Conor is a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the United States Senate and Lane, a former state attorney general, is seeking the party's nomination for governor in the June primaries.

The Evening Sun said both men had been offered the position of vice president and general counsel of the Baltimore and Ohio at a salary "variously reported as $25,000 to $40,000 a year."

"Neither the two men nor the railroad would comment on the offer," the paper said, "but it was learned that, although Gov. O'Conor and Mr. Lane felt complimented by the tender, they also felt constrained by circumstances to reject it."

The Evening Sun said the offer first was made to Lane "before the campaign lines had been drawn and before it was known whether Gov. O'Conor would try for re-election or run for nomination for the Senate."

After Lane had declined the position and announced his candidacy for governor, the paper said, it was offered to the governor, who also turned it down after consideration.

"Sources close to the top in the Democratic party in Maryland said the railroad was persuaded to make the job available to Gov. O'Conor and Mr. Lane in order to clear the atmosphere in the party on the approach of the primary campaign," the Evening Sun said.

"The persuasion, it was said, came from two figures in the Democratic high command."

The B. and O. announced recently that Edwin H. Burgess, a native Kansan residing in New York, had been named vice president and general counsel, succeeding former Gov. John J. Cornwell, of West Virginia, who remained in an advisory capacity.

Tawes Campaigns On Eastern Shore

BALTIMORE, March 22 (AP) — State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, saying he wanted to arouse public interest in government affairs and officials, swung down to the Eastern shore today to press his campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Tawes planned to confere with Democratic leaders in Caroline, Talbot and Wicomico counties, and to speak at Delmar tonight.

From his Baltimore headquarters, he issued an announcement saying that during his campaign talks he would strive to educate the public on the importance of being acquainted with the state government and its officials.

"It is the duty of everyone to know about the men holding public office and those running for public office, so that they may choose the best equipped," Tawes said.

"Going to the polls and voting is not enough unless the voter has knowledge of the background of the candidates.

"I believe that today few people outside political circles would be able to name the principal state officials, much less tell anything about their careers."

Truman Will Address Democratic Dinner

WASHINGTON, March 22. (AP)—President Truman's first avowed political speech tomorrow night is expected to stress the importance of liberalism and unity in the Democratic party and America's position of world leadership.

Associates who have an idea what Mr. Truman will say are not looking for any table-thumping address which will lay down specific issues for the congressional elections this fall or the presidential election of 1948. But they expect the president to do considerable pointing with pride.

He speaks at 10:15 p. m. (EST) tomorrow to approximately 2,000 party stalwarts at the Mayflower hotel. They are chipping in $100 apiece for a relatively skimpy, "subsistence level" banquet—the annual Jackson day dinner sponsored by the Democratic National Committee.

Action Is Taken So Congressmen Can View Blasts

Lawmakers, Facing Heavy Run of Business, Want To Witness Tests

DECISION APPARENTLY WAS SOMEWHAT ABRUPT

International Situation Apparently Has No Bearing On Move

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP) — President Truman tonight postponed for six weeks the atomic bomb tests scheduled to start May 15 at Bikini atoll, saying the reason is legislative business that will keep congressmen from being in the Pacific on that date.

The White House discounted all talk of any international implications in the change of dates, declining to discuss any possible connection with the opening Monday of a major test of United Nations peacekeeping machinery.

Other persons close to the plans for the trial of the devastating new power against warships, however, said attention of the White House had been called to a possible conflict of dates with the UNO Security council meeting.

UNO observers, whose presence at the trials has been generally expected, presumably would be named and dispatched at the council meeting in New York.

Key Lawmakers Are Surprised

Some highly - placed Congress members speculated that administration officials might fear the repercussions of the atomic explosions in the UNO meeting itself and in generally troubled international relations. Officials, however, would say nothing on that point.

Several key congressmen who kept as nearly abreast of atomic developments as they can said the postponement was as much a surprise to them as it was to "Operation Crossroads" officers who discussed technical plans for the test at a news conference only today.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga), of the House Naval committee, told a reporter that the announcement was his first knowledge of the postponement. He said the typhoon season, which starts in early summer, was taken into consideration in selecting the May 15 date.

Sen. Johnson (D-Colo), active in the Military Affairs committee, said when first reports of the postponement came out, and before the White House announcement, that he knew nothing of it.

While the UNO meeting in New York may be over in time to avoid

Two Die in Oil Refinery Fire At Newark, Ohio

Third Worker Is Injured; Subsequent Blasts Shake Plant

NEWARK, O., March 22—(AP)—Fire swept the Pure Oil Company's refinery tonight after a boiler exploded in the plant's control house and two men were killed and a third was injured, early accounts said.

The Newark Fire Department fought the blaze, which began at 7:30 p. m., and two hours later reportedly had it under control. Two buildings still were burning and three subsequent explosions shook the oil plant.

A gateman reported two workers were killed but he added their bodies could not be recovered until the fire had subsided.

Leo Stiff, Newark, an employe on duty at the plant, was rushed to Newark hospital, where attendants reported he was suffering from "severe shock."

Highway patrolmen have stopped all traffic from nearing the plant.

Costly Fire at Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, March 22—(AP)—A spectacular three-block fire rated as the city's worst in thirty years destroyed today a forty-year-old Pittsburgh landmark — the Pittsburgh and West Virginia railroad trainshed and warehouses in the downtown business section.

Fire Chief William Davis and businessmen affected estimated damage at $500,000 to $700,000.

It was the city's second big fire in fifteen days. A $200,000 blaze in the same vicinity on March 7 razed a builders' supply building and damaged the railroad's main station.

Twenty-two firemen were hurt in today's fire by falling debris and toppling walls as flames billowed swiftly through the overhead raid terminal from Fourth avenue to First avenue. The warehouses were used by a dozen food and supply firms.

Lone Bandit Robs Bank of over $5,000

LA PLATA, Md., March 22 (AP)—The La Plata State bank was robbed of an estimated $5,000 to $7,000 shortly after noon today by a man who escaped with the loot in the bank president's car.

Clay Surbeck, bank president, was forced to drive the bandit away from the bank in his own car, R. E. Gooding, vice president, related. Surbeck later was released just outside town.

Gooding said the bandit followed Surbeck into the bank, covered him and the teller in charge with a gun, and ordered the teller to fill a paper sack he handed him with money.

Coal Wage Talks Are Recessed until Monday

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Bituminous coal wage negotiations were recessed tonight until Monday at 10 a. m., to permit the operators to consider replies to John L. Lewis's nine contract demands.

A representative of the operators said that the three-hour session today developed some real "negotiations" on the Lewis demands but neither side would report the details.

Lewis, as on the two previous days of negotiations in private, told reporters that he had "no comment on anything at this time."

Hungry Germans In Hamburg Loot 60 Food Stores

Many Civilians Show First Definite Signs of Starvation

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

HAMBURG, March 22 (AP)—Looting of food stores by hungry Germans increased in Hamburg today and a British medical officer declared that the first definite signs of starvation were apparent among many residents of Germany's second largest city.

The police ordered food dealers to board up their shop windows as an emergency measure against bands of men, women and children who have stormed nearly sixty bread stores in the last four days.

The largest band dispersed by police today was made up of fifty to sixty men and women who demanded bread without giving ration tickets. When their request was refused they smashed the windows in a bread shop and grabbed sixty loaves.

In the last twenty-four hours, twenty bread shops have been broken into by groups of men, women and children.

The bands usually scatter at the sight of the police. There has been one incident reported of police firing over their heads.

Girls and boys in their teens make up many of the bands, whose loot in the past twenty-four hours included a half ton of syrup, two tons of sugar, 130 sausages and two sides of bacon.

The British medical officer declared that yellow faces, extreme thinness and dejection—the first signs of starvation—were discernible among many Hamburg civilians.

Speaking from his experience in Holland where he had been during the widespread starvation there last year, he said:

"They (the Germans) are just like the Dutch when the famine swept Holland. People then were collapsing in the streets. I think it will be worse than that here."

Factory foremen in the Hamburg area reported a sharp increase in absenteeism among the workers since the slash of the food ration in the British zone from 1,500 to approximately 1,000 calories daily.

Westinghouse-Union Negotiations Collapse

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Wage negotiations between Westinghouse Electric Corporation and the striking United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, CIO, "have been broken off," Mediator William H. Davis said late today.

"The mediators are retiring from the case," he said, adding that they would make a report to the secretary of labor, "probably next Monday."

Arthur S. Meyer was the other mediator in the dispute.

The company has offered what it called a 15.1 cents hourly increase but the union claimed it was no better than 9.7 cents because of clauses which the union said would reduce incentive, bonus, vacation and other pay rates.

Hoover, Anderson Underestimate Food Emergency, Lehman Declares

By SIGRID ARNE

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 22, (AP)—UNRRA's director general Herbert Lehman, told a council meeting today that former President Herbert Hoover and Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson "do not recognize the full size of the food emergency which faces the world."

He referred to a statement by Anderson that the emergency would be short, and by Hoover that it will be over when the new harvest is in.

Lehman has recommended that the world return to wartime rationing.

"I certainly hope that the United States government will find it possible to institute measures which will insure the maximum use of the new crop," he said today.

Anderson has said he thought a return to rationing would be "impractical."

"We have no right to plan here on the basis that the emergency will be over next winter, Lehman said.

"What is needed is more effective action from the governments of the United Nations themselves."

Earlier developments today included:

Russia was defeated in UNRRA's committee on procedure in moves to include Poland on the organization's policy committee and to admit Albania to UNRRA membership.

Turkey's membership was accepted with no dissenting vote. However, Yugoslavia, which had voted with Russia for Albania, reserved the right to talk about Turkey's admission when the committee on procedure resolves itself into a full council meeting.

Albania's membership was proposed by Yugoslavia, seconded by Czechoslovakia and supported by Russia—it was opposed by the United States, the United Kingdom, Greece, and France.

The vote on Albania was twenty-three against, six for, fourteen absent and three nations abstaining.

Nikola Petrovic, of Yugoslavia, in proposing Albania's membership, was sharply opposed by Greece's

"That is a very encouraging and satisfactory statement on the part of Mr. Stalin. I believe it is a valuable contribution to the cause of world peace. We should not raise a question of good faith until we know differently. Mr. Stalin has gone on record and I don't believe he will go back on it."

While officials and congressmen studied Stalin's comments, Soviet Ambassador Andrei A. Gromyko made an unheralded call on President Truman, but Charles Ross, White House press secretary, said it was only a courtesy visit.

Mr. Truman made it clear yesterday that his country will block the Russian proposal to postpone the Security council meeting for sixteen days while Russia prepares its defense to a complaint from Iran against continued presence of Russian troops in that country.

Byrnes To Sit on Council

In that connection, Secretary of State Byrnes disclosed that he will sit on the Security council as American representative during consideration of the Russian-Iranian dispute. Through Michael McDermott, department press officer, Byrnes said he would be at the council table only during discussion of "the Iranian case" and would not replace Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., regular United States representative.

The Iranian affair and the UNO meeting figured strongly in comment at the Capitol on the Stalin letter.

Sen. Morse (R-Ore) said that in view of the generalissimo's words, Russia now should not have "any

Rose Recruited Russian Agents, Witness Asserts

By HARRY T. MONTGOMERY

MONTREAL, March 22 (AP)—Fred Rose, Communist and member of Canada's Parliament, and Sam Carr, national organizer of the Labor-Progressive party, were "recruiting agents" in a Russian organization of agents in Canada, a former code clerk in the Soviet embassy at Ottawa asserted today.

The clerk, 26-year-old Igor Gouzenko, testified in police court that he exposed the Moscow-directed espionage ring because he had become convinced that Canadian democracy was better than the Russian way of life.

He charged that Russia used the Communist party in Canada as a pivotal part of the Soviet spy network, and that Russian security police were operating in the dominion.

Gouzenko, mystery man of the spy probe, testified at a preliminary hearing for Rose, accused of sending secret scientific information to Soviet agents.

Gouzenko, telling the inside story of the espionage activities, said he wanted to help both the Russian people and the Canadian people by disclosing the Soviet operations.

He said he had become impressed by the rights of persons in Canada where a man is "actually master of his own life."

Attempted Kidnaping Charges Face Foster Son of Late Banker

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22 (AP) — A man listed as John Wright McDowell, Jr., and identified by Detective Chief John S. Siers as the 27-year-old foster son of a late wealthy banker of Peoria, Ill., was charged today with attempting to kidnap two 7-year-old schoolgirls, Gail Oliver, and Patricia Fischer.

Magistrate John T. Fisher placed McDowell's bond at $50,000 on two charges of attempting kidnaping. He set a preliminary hearing for next Thursday.

The man was arrested Wednesday afternoon following a collision between his car and another vehicle at an intersection. Siers quoted the girls as saying they escaped in the confusion of the accident.

Jewish Family of 15 Receives $500, Chicago's Annual St. Dismas Gift

By CARROLL ARIMOND

CHICAGO, March 22 (AP)—Dismas, the good thief who stole into the heart of the dying Christ, made another snatch today.

His loot was all the gratitude and admiration that a devout Jewish couple and their thirteen children could bestow upon a Christian saint.

Through his mortal agents, Dismas, the hoodlum saint and only one to be canonized by Christ personally, made his annual foray into Chicago's shabby neighborhoods, slipped into the eight-room flat of Joseph and Helen Feinhandler and handed the husband fifty $10 bills.

"Thank you, thank you, thank you," was about all the beaming but bewildered beneficiary of the annual St. Dismas gift could say at first.

"Next time I want to be the one who's giving," said the bearded, skull-capped father, surrounded by his wife and ten of the children.

The donors of the $500 were members of the Dempster Mac Murphy Post of the American Legion who collect and distribute the money each year as a memorial to Mac Murphy, late Chicago Daily News business manager who devoted years to making the forgotten Dismas a better known saint.

Dismas, crucified beside Christ, repented at the eleventh hour and was promised salvation by the Savior thus:

"Amen I say to thee, this day thou shalt be with me in paradise."

Mac Murphy called Dismas "a bum, a mine-run thief who roams the outfield of eternity, making shoestring catches of souls."

The money is given each year to a family that can use it but won't ask for it. It carries no strings and no social workers will be around to check on whether it's being preserved or squandered.

Feinhandler volunteered that he had good plans for the money, although the donors wouldn't have cared if he plunked it all on a good one in Tropical Park's added tomorrow. He said it would help tide him and his brood through hard times in his Kosher cooking oil business, hit by war-born shortages.

Truman Will Address Democratic Dinner

WASHINGTON, March 22. (AP)—President Truman's first avowed political speech tomorrow night is expected to stress the importance of liberalism and unity in the Democratic party and America's position of world leadership.

Associates who have an idea what Mr. Truman will say are not looking for any table-thumping address which will lay down specific issues for the congressional elections this fall or the presidential election of 1948. But they expect the president to do considerable pointing with pride.

He speaks at 10:15 p. m. (EST) tomorrow to approximately 2,000 party stalwarts at the Mayflower hotel. They are chipping in $100 apiece for a relatively skimpy, "subsistence level" banquet—the annual Jackson day dinner sponsored by the Democratic National Committee.

Senate Debates Measure To Hike Minimum Wage

Senate Committee Criticizes Disposition of Unused War Goods

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—The Senate heard today a claim that New York financiers, rather than southern employers, have held down wage scales in the south.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC) made the assertion during debate on a bill to raise the nationwide minimum pay from forty cents an hour to sixty-five cents now and to seventy-five cents after four years. Maybank was replying to a remark by Sen. Morse (R-Ore) who, in supporting the bill, said that the south too long has been competing for markets "by beating down wages."

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said Maybank was exactly right and that the South long has been "exploited by New York." The debate will continue Monday.

Meat Price Ceilings Are Hit

Declaring that the black market in meats has gotten completely out of hand, the American Meat Institute called for an end of price ceilings on steaks, chops, roasts and other meats. The demand was voiced before the House Banking committee by Institute President Wesley Hardenberch, who doubted effectiveness of an OPA crackdown ordering forfeiture in whole or part of subsidy payments to slaughterers and packers who pay above ceiling prices for cattle.

The Senate War Investigating committee scorchingly criticized the government's job thus far in disposing of unused war goods, particularly in Britain. The committee's report showed a State department settlement called for payment by England of $650,000,000 for goods which cost the United States $6,033,164,850 and release of Britain from all other claims for $16,000,000,000 of lend lease goods which were used.

The Senate gave its final approval to a bill for $250,000,000 appropriation to provide an estimated 100,000 additional "temporary housing units for distressed families of servicemen and for veterans and their families." Recently agreed upon by Senate-House conferees, the measure now goes to the White House.

Vardaman Hearing

The Senate Banking committee heard more testimony about forged affidavits as it continued hearings on the qualifications of Com. James K. Vardaman to be a Federal Reserve Board member. The senators were unable to obtain the originals, described by Frank O. Bittner, Jr., a former associate of Vardaman's, because they had been "torn up and flushed down the toilet." Bittinger mentioned the affidavits to support his charge that he was defrauded in a stock sale.

Army Bans Public Displays of Affection

TOKYO, March 22 (AP) — American soldiers strolling with arms around Japanese women, or making other public displays of affection, henceforth will be subject to imprisonment for disorderly conduct, Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger announced today.

The commander of the Eighth army said no ban on "fraternization" was contemplated, but that such displays were in particularly poor taste and repugnant to both Japanese and Americans.

B-29s To Obtain Technical Data Near North Pole

Three Planes Will Gather Information for Arctic Flying

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP) — The army air force disclosed tonight preparations for flights by three longrange B-29 bombers to the region of the magnetic North pole to obtain technical data for Arctic flying.

A carefully-worded announcement linked the undertaking with the Canadian army's current "Musk Ox" expedition to the strategic far north area into which the navy also has sent the aircraft carrier Midway for tests.

The army air forces, at Canada's invitation, are co-operating with the Musk Ox expedition which started on a 3,130-mile, eighty-one-day swing around Northwest Canada this month to obtain data for military operations under extreme cold weather conditions.

Start from Edmonton, Alberta

Starting from Edmonton, Alberta, the B-29 flights "will be the closest approxifation to actual military transport airborne operations under Arctic conditions ever attempted," the War department said. Specific dates for the start were not given but it was reported the planes were especially equipped for Arctic operations in a month of "twenty-four-hour-a-day activity."

The flights will cover between 1,500 and 2,000 miles to the most northerly points reached by the Musk Ox ground party. One specific purpose was given as the study of "radio propagation," which was not further explained.

The announcement said also that the AAF supply planes used by the Musk Ox party were being aided materially in current operations by "Loran' (long range navigation) equipment without which some might not have been able to reach their bases.

Special Instruments

Flying from five bases in the Hudson bay region the C-47 supply ships get their "fixes or durational signals from Loran stations in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia. In addition ten monitoring stations are to be set up, two of them manned by personnel from the AAF air materiel command.

For the forthcoming polar flight, four navigators were trained in polar navigation at a navy school at Quonset Point, Rhode Island. The three B-29s were outfitted at air depots in San Antonio, Texas, and Patterson field, Ohio.

Because of the problem presented by close proximity to the magnetic pole, the B29s are equipped with special navigation instruments, and will use electric gyro instruments for the pilot and navigation instead of the usual vacuum gyros, it was said.

Youth Is Sentenced To Die in Gas Chamber

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. C., March 22. (AP)—Eighteen-year-old Woodrow Ewing, frail, bespectacled farmer, was sentenced today to die in the gas chamber for the slaying of his wife and infant stepdaughter February 4.

A jury convicted him last night of first degree murder, making the death sentence mandatory. Judge Clawson Williams delayed passing it until today. May 17 was set for the execution.

Ex-Premier of Spain Dies

PARIS, Saturday, March 23 (AP) — Francisco Largo Caballero, 76, former premier of Spain, died in the Lyautey clinic in Auteuil early today.

O'Conor, Lane Rejected Offer of B. and O. Post, Baltimore Sun Reports

BALTIMORE, March 22. (AP)—The Evening Sun said it was learned reliably today that Gov. O'Conor and William Preston Lane, Jr., Hagerstown publisher, had turned down an offer of a remunerative position with the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

Gov. O'Conor is a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the United States Senate and Lane, a former state attorney general, is seeking the party's nomination for governor in the June primaries.

The Evening Sun said both men had been offered the position of vice president and general counsel of the Baltimore and Ohio at a salary "variously reported as $25,000 to $40,000 a year."

"Neither the two men nor the railroad would comment on the offer," the paper said, "but it was learned that, although Gov. O'Conor and Mr. Lane felt complimented by the tender, they also felt constrained by circumstances to reject it."

The Evening Sun said the offer first was made to Lane "before the campaign lines had been drawn and before it was known whether Gov. O'Conor would try for re-election or run for nomination for the Senate."

After Lane had declined the position and announced his candidacy for governor, the paper said, it was offered to the governor, who also turned it down after consideration.

"Sources close to the top in the Democratic party in Maryland said the railroad was persuaded to make the job available to Gov. O'Conor and Mr. Lane in order to clear the atmosphere in the party on the approach of the primary campaign," the Evening Sun said.

"The persuasion, it was said, came from two figures in the Democratic high command."

The B. and O. announced recently that Edwin H. Burgess, a native Kansan residing in New York, had been named vice president and general counsel, succeeding former Gov. John J. Cornwell, of West Virginia, who remained in an advisory capacity.

Tawes Campaigns On Eastern Shore

BALTIMORE, March 22 (AP) — State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, saying he wanted to arouse public interest in government affairs and officials, swung down to the Eastern shore today to press his campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Tawes planned to confere with Democratic leaders in Caroline, Talbot and Wicomico counties, and to speak at Delmar tonight.

From his Baltimore headquarters, he issued an announcement saying that during his campaign talks he would strive to educate the public on the importance of being acquainted with the state government and its officials.

"It is the duty of everyone to know about the men holding public office and those running for public office, so that they may choose the best equipped," Tawes said.

"Going to the polls and voting is not enough unless the voter has knowledge of the background of the candidates.

"I believe that today few people outside political circles would be able to name the principal state officials, much less tell anything about their careers."

Action Is Taken So Congressmen Can View Blasts

International Situation Apparently Has No Bearing On Move

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP) — President Truman tonight postponed for six weeks the atomic bomb tests scheduled to start May 15 at Bikini atoll, saying the reason is legislative business that will keep congressmen from being in the Pacific on that date.

The White House discounted all talk of any international implications in the change of dates, declining to discuss any possible connection with the opening Monday of a major test of United Nations peacekeeping machinery.

Other persons close to the plans for the trial of the devastating new power against warships, however, said attention of the White House had been called to a possible conflict of dates with the UNO Security council meeting.

UNO observers, whose presence at the trials has been generally expected, presumably would be named and dispatched at the council meeting in New York.

Key Lawmakers Are Surprised

Some highly - placed Congress members speculated that administration officials might fear the repercussions of the atomic explosions in the UNO meeting itself and in generally troubled international relations. Officials, however, would say nothing on that point.

Several key congressmen who kept as nearly abreast of atomic developments as they can said the postponement was as much a surprise to them as it was to "Operation Crossroads" officers who discussed technical plans for the test at a news conference only today.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga), of the House Naval committee, told a reporter that the announcement was his first knowledge of the postponement. He said the typhoon season, which starts in early summer, was taken into consideration in selecting the May 15 date.

Sen. Johnson (D-Colo), active in the Military Affairs committee, said when first reports of the postponement came out, and before the White House announcement, that he knew nothing of it.

While the UNO meeting in New York may be over in time to avoid

Third Worker Is Injured; Subsequent Blasts Shake Plant

NEWARK, O., March 22—(AP)—Fire swept the Pure Oil Company's refinery tonight after a boiler exploded in the plant's control house and two men were killed and a third was injured, early accounts said.

The Newark Fire Department fought the blaze, which began at 7:30 p. m., and two hours later reportedly had it under control. Two buildings still were burning and three subsequent explosions shook the oil plant.

A gateman reported two workers were killed but he added their bodies could not be recovered until the fire had subsided.

Leo Stiff, Newark, an employe on duty at the plant, was rushed to Newark hospital, where attendants reported he was suffering from "severe shock."

Highway patrolmen have stopped all traffic from nearing the plant.

Costly Fire at Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, March 22—(AP)—A spectacular three-block fire rated as the city's worst in thirty years destroyed today a forty-year-old Pittsburgh landmark—the Pittsburgh and West Virginia railroad trainshed and warehouses in the downtown business section.

Fire Chief William Davis and businessmen affected estimated damage at $500,000 to $700,000.

It was the city's second big fire in fifteen days. A $200,000 blaze in the same vicinity on March 7 razed a builders' supply building and damaged the railroad's main station.

Twenty-two firemen were hurt in today's fire by falling debris and toppling walls as flames billowed swiftly through the overhead rail terminal from Fourth avenue to First avenue. The warehouses were used by a dozen food and supply firms.

Lone Bandit Robs Bank of over $5,000

LA PLATA, Md., March 22 (AP)—The La Plata State bank was robbed of an estimated $5,000 to $7,000 shortly after noon today by a man who escaped with the loot in the bank president's car.

Clay Surbeck, bank president, was forced to drive the bandit away from the bank in his own car, R. E. Gooding, vice president, related. Surbeck later was released just outside town.

Gooding said the bandit followed Surbeck into the bank, covered him and the teller in charge with a gun, and ordered the teller to fill a paper sack he handed him with money.

Coal Wage Talks Are Recessed until Monday

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Bituminous coal wage negotiations were recessed tonight until Monday at 10 a. m., to permit the operators to consider replies to John L. Lewis's nine contract demands.

A representative of the operators said that the three-hour session today developed some real "negotiations" on the Lewis demands but neither side would report the details.

Lewis, as on the two previous days of negotiations in private, told reporters that he had "no comment on anything at this time."

Hungry Germans In Hamburg Loot 60 Food Stores

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

HAMBURG, March 22. (AP)—Looting of food stores by hungry Germans increased in Hamburg today and a British medical officer declared that the first definite signs of starvation were apparent among many residents of Germany's second largest city.

The police ordered food dealers to board up their shop windows as an emergency measure against bands of men, women and children who have stormed nearly sixty bread stores in the last four days.

The largest band dispersed by police today was made up of fifty to sixty men and women who demanded bread without giving ration tickets. When their request was refused they smashed the windows in a bread shop and grabbed sixty loaves.

In the last twenty-four hours, twenty bread shops have been broken into by groups of men, women and children.

The bands usually scatter at the sight of the police. There has been one incident reported of police firing over their heads.

Girls and boys in their teens make up many of the bands, whose loot in the past twenty-four hours included a half ton of syrup, two tons of sugar, 130 sausages and two sides of bacon.

The British medical officer declared that yellow faces, extreme thinness and dejection—the first signs of starvation—were discernible among many Hamburg civilians.

Speaking from his experience in Holland where he had been during the widespread starvation there last year, he said:

"They (the Germans) are just like the Dutch when the famine swept Holland. People then were collapsing in the streets. I think it will be worse than that here."

Factory foremen in the Hamburg area reported a sharp increase in absenteeism among the workers since the slash of the food ration in the British zone from 1,500 to approximately 1,000 calories daily.

Westinghouse-Union Negotiations Collapse

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Wage negotiations between Westinghouse Electric Corporation and the striking United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, CIO, "have been broken off," Mediator William H. Davis said late today.

"The mediators are retiring from the case," he said, adding that they would make a report to the secretary of labor, "probably next Monday."

Arthur S. Meyer was the other mediator in the dispute.

The company has offered what it called a 15.1 cents hourly increase but the union claimed it was no better than 9.7 cents because of clauses which the union said would reduce incentive, bonus, vacation and other pay rates.

Hoover, Anderson Underestimate Food Emergency, Lehman Declares

By SIGRID ARNE

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 22. (AP)—UNRRA's director general Herbert Lehman, told a council meeting today that former President Herbert Hoover and Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson "do not recognize the full size of the food emergency which faces the world."

He referred to a statement by Anderson that the emergency would be short, and by Hoover that it will be over when the new harvest is in.

Lehman has recommended that the world return to wartime rationing.

"I certainly hope that the United States government will find it possible to institute measures which will insure the maximum use of the new crop," he said today.

Anderson has said he thought a return to rationing would be "impractical."

"We have no right to plan here on the basis that the emergency will be over next winter, Lehman said.

"What is needed is more effective action from the governments of the United Nations themselves."

Earlier developments today included:

Russia was defeated in UNRRA's committee on procedure in moves to include Poland on the organization's policy committee and to admit Albania to UNRRA membership.

Turkey's membership was accepted with no dissenting vote. However, Yugoslavia, which had voted with Russia for Albania, reserved the right to talk about Turkey's admission when the committee on procedure resolves itself into a full council meeting.

Albania's membership was proposed by Yugoslavia, seconded by Czechoslovakia and supported by Russia—it was opposed by the United States, the United Kingdom, Greece, and France.

The vote on Albania was twenty-three against, six for, fourteen absent and three nations abstaining.

Nikola Petrovic, of Yugoslavia, in proposing Albania's membership, was sharply opposed by Greece's

Wives of Deceased World War I Vets Receive Pensions

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am the widow of a veteran of World War I; his death was not due to service-connected disability. Am I entitled to a pension, and if so, how much, and where shall I apply for same?

(MRS.) M. P.

There are two types of pensions payable to widows of veterans of World War I. If the veteran dies of a service-connected disability, his widow is paid $50 a month.

If he dies of a nonservice-connected disability, she may be paid $35 a month. Under this latter provision it must be established that her income, if she is without children, is less than $1,000 a year. Apply to Veterans' Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

Arrival of Sixteenth Armored

Dear Miss Fairfax:

A relative of mine in the Sixteenth armored division notified me of his homecoming in October. I haven't been able to find out whether he has reached the United States or not. Will you advise me please?

M. B. N.

The War department advises me that most of the Sixteenth armored division arrived in New York city on October 13, 14, and 16, 1945. Some of this division arrived in Boston, Mass., on October 15, 1945.

Wife Should Apply for Allowance

Dear Miss Fairfax:

While my husband was on a ninety-day re-enlistment furlough, we were married. He wants to apply for the family allowance for me. Whom shall he notify and when will my checks start coming?

SOLDIER'S WIFE

Since you were married while your husband was on re-enlistment furlough, it would be advisable for you yourself to apply for family allowance benefits. A photostatic copy of the marriage certificate must be attached to the application and sent to the Office of Dependency Benefits, Newark 2, N. J. Give your husband's full name and army serial number. As soon as he returns to duty he should notify his personnel officer.

The family allowance becomes effective the first of the month in which application is filed. Payments will begin after your husband reports for duty. The first check should include all sums accruing to your credit during the furlough.

Payments on Service Insurance

Dear Miss Fairfax:

If we should fail to pay the premium on my husband's national service life insurance on the date due, would the policy lapse?

(MRS.) J.G.F.

A grace period of thirty-one days without interest will be allowed for payment of any premiums other than the first premium payable under national service life insurance policies. The policy will remain in force during the grace period, but if the policy should mature within the grace period, any unpaid monthly premiums will be deducted from the first monthly installments then payable.

Flag and Headstone Supplied

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Is it true that the family of a deceased veteran of World War II may obtain an American flag and also a headstone for his grave?

EX-SERVICEMAN.

An American flag may be obtained from your county seat postmaster by the next of kin for draping the casket of a deceased veteran who is separated from the service under honorable conditions. Or your nearest Veterans' Administration office will supply one.

Headstones are supplied without charge for the unmarked graves of veterans, honorably discharged, by applying to the Memorial Division, Quartermaster General, United States Army, Washington 25, D. C.

A relative of mine in the Sixteenth armored division notified me of his homecoming in October. I haven't been able to find out whether he has reached the United States or not. Will you advise me please?

M. B. N.

The War department advises me that most of the Sixteenth armored division arrived in New York city on October 13, 14, and 16, 1945. Some of this division arrived in Boston, Mass., on October 15, 1945.

Wife Should Apply for Allowance

Dear Miss Fairfax:

While my husband was on a ninety-day re-enlistment furlough, we were married. He wants to apply for the family allowance for me. Whom shall he notify and when will my checks start coming?

SOLDIER'S WIFE

Since you were married while your husband was on re-enlistment furlough, it would be advisable for you yourself to apply for family allowance benefits. A photostatic copy of the marriage certificate must be attached to the application and sent to the Office of Dependency Benefits, Newark 2, N. J. Give your husband's full name and army serial number. As soon as he returns to duty he should notify his personnel officer.

The family allowance becomes effective the first of the month in which application is filed. Payments will begin after your husband reports for duty. The first check should include all sums accruing to your credit during the furlough.

Payments on Service Insurance

Dear Miss Fairfax:

If we should fail to pay the premium on my husband's national service life insurance on the date due, would the policy lapse?

(MRS.) J.G.F.

A grace period of thirty-one days without interest will be allowed for payment of any premiums other than the first premium payable under national service life insurance policies. The policy will remain in force during the grace period, but if the policy should mature within the grace period, any unpaid monthly premiums will be deducted from the first monthly installments then payable.

Flag and Headstone Supplied

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Is it true that the family of a deceased veteran of World War II may obtain an American flag and also a headstone for his grave?

EX-SERVICEMAN.

An American flag may be obtained from your county seat postmaster by the next of kin for draping the casket of a deceased veteran who is separated from the service under honorable conditions. Or your nearest Veterans' Administration office will supply one.

Headstones are supplied without charge for the unmarked graves of veterans, honorably discharged, by applying to the Memorial Division, Quartermaster General, United States Army, Washington 25, D. C.

POSTWAR PROBLEMS

If you're still in the armed services and you have a problem regarding insurance, allowances, allotments, maternity or infant care for wives and children, or desire the answer to any other service question, write to Beatrice Fairfax, care of this paper. If you wish a personal answer, please enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope.

A Lesson, Perhaps, From Sweden

A FEW SIGNIFICANT THINGS were revealed in a recent article on Swedish trade unions, written by Ralph H. Turner for "The Philadelphia Record."

Sweden, Turner noted, is one of the most highly unionized nations in the world, its trade union federation claiming the largest labor membership in relationship to population.

"Yet," says Mr Turner, "Sweden is virtually free of labor troubles. . . . Ninety-nine per cent of the wage agreements in Sweden are settled without strikes."

And this next statement may be especially important:

"This record has been marred only once in recent years. The metal workers' union struck for five months last year. However, this was a political strike, promoted by communists.

"The country has only one national trade union body. Its officers think this makes for stability with employers. They imply that two competing union groups such as the A. F. of L. and CIO, impede stable labor relations.

The Swedish employers also are organized in one group, the Swedish Employers' Association. The two combinations have learned to get along without much trouble.

"However, three factors stand out in the Swedish labor situation which may be of special interest to America:

"1. The strong discipline which the trade union federation exerts over its members.

"2. The Swedish labor court.

"3. The great emphasis which the trade union federation places upon increased industrial production.

"Moreover, it is provided under Swedish law that a person "directly involved in a labor dispute" forfeits his claim to unemployment benefits."

It may be that this country can find a helpful lesson here and the recent chaotic industrial situation shows that some sort of lesson is direly needed. Any workable formula that would enhance production and eliminate costly strikes would be welcomed by millions here.

The True Character Of Republicanism

IN ITS COMMENT on the action of the Wisconsin Progressives in rejoining the Republican party, this newspaper observed, among other things, that one of the significant items involved therein was the indication furnished that the Republican party is the true progressive and liberal organization of the two major political entities, a fact this newspaper emphasized.

This thought has been stressed by the "Wheeling Intelligencer" (W. Va.), which also declares that true progressive liberalism, as distinguished from the pseudo-liberalism of the New Deal, is still to be found where it always reposed—in the Republican party. What it has to say thereon is of interest in view of what this newspaper has said. The Wheeling newspaper says that Senator LaFollette struck the correct note in saying that the Republican party "offers the best opportunity for advancement of progressive principles."

The Intelligencer says it is encouraging to note "this evidence of an awakening realization of the true character of Republicanism. The essence of progressivism, of liberalism, is the safeguarding of individual freedom; implementation of the doctrine that one man's liberty stops where another man's begins, and that the duty of government is, not to nourish the individual, but to see to it that he is not unfairly hampered by others in his 'pursuit of happiness.'

"Confusing liberalism, blind to the fact that sound conservatism is nowhere in conflict with progressive principles, the New Dealers have rushed the country far along the road to collectivism. In the futile attempt to guarantee every man security, they have, of necessity, robbed the individual of his freedom of action. Applying the practices of a controlled economy to a free enterprise system, they have made the government the master rather than the servant of the people, and have created the political and economic chaos you see all about you.

"Fortunately, unless all the signs are misleading, the American people are beginning to awaken to what is happening to them. At long last, it appears that the sands are running out on the New Deal."

And it is high time that they were.

Proper Care Necessary To Prevent Pneumonia

(A guest editorial by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.)

SINCE the discovery of the sulfa drugs and penicillin, pneumonia is not as grave a threat to life as it was a few years ago. Nevertheless, pneumonia is by no means to be taken lightly. It ranks among the leading causes of death and is apt to strike particularly hard during the months of January, February and March.

Lobar pneumonia is an infection of the lung usually caused by the invasion of an organism called pneumoccus. It results in inflammation of the lung and is accompanied by high fever. There are various types of lobar pneumonia, some more and some less resistant to the sulfa drugs. All types of pneumonia, however, are serious and may be followed by such complications as pleurisy, lung abscesses or meningitis.

The first symptoms of lobar pneumonia are a chill and pain in the side. The disease develops rapidly. Within forty-eight hours there is a high fever, which may go up to 104 degrees or more. The patient has a rasping cough and expectorates blood-tinged sputum. Breathing is heavy and difficult. When sulfa or penicillin is used, the disease is usually brought under control quickly. The drugs do not seem to be effective, however, with some types of pneumonia.

Pneumonia often develops if proper care is not taken after other illnesses. The pateint who becomes active too soon after influenza may break down with pneumonia. Any number of illnesses may be followed by pneumonia if the body is not permitted to regain its strength before normal activities are resumed.

The best precaution against pneumonia is a strong body. This means getting sufficient rest, eating nourishing meals, taking care of one's self after illness, avoiding sudden chilling, not going out in cold or wet weather without protective clothing.

Some diseases, such as scarlet fever, set up immunity against reinfection. This is not true of pneumonia. On the contrary, pneumonia frequently recurs.

Although pneumonia may be quickly brought under control today when sulfa or penicillin can be used, the patient should follow the doctor's advice and allow time for complete convalescence before taking up his usual activities again.

Bureaucratic Stubbornness Is Again Emphasized

OIL INDUSTRY SPOKEMEN have asked Congress to force removal of OPA price lids from the gasoline tanks of the nation. Production having well caught up with demand, the American Petroleum Institute said that liquidation of OPA's power over the oil industry would result in no material advance in prices.

API witnesses, including J. Howard Pew, president of the Sun Oil Company, Philadelphia; Walter S. Hallahan, president of the Plymouth Oil Company, Pittsburgh, and Dr. R. E. Wilson, board chairman of Standard Oil of Indiana, told the House Banking committee that continuation of OPA controls constitutes a threat to national security, means seasonal shortages of petroleum products and can do serious damage to the nation's economy.

On the other side of the capitol, J. H. Reppert, associate director of the OPA fuels division, told the Senate Special Petroleum Investigating committee that "we are trying to withdraw from price action in oil as soon as possible. We are working on a price suspension policy which we feel we will have in effect in not less than six months, probably by June 30. We have realized for several months there are factors contributing to a satisfactory price suspension program in this country."

Here again we have evidence of bureaucratic reluctance to yield any of its prerogatives until actually forced to do do. Onlookers may well wonder why it should require several months to suspend unnecessary restrictions in the face of the situation described, which appears to have been pretty well indicated, and despite its repeated assertions that it is its purpose to remove controls when they are no longer necessary. But it seems to be an inherent characteristic of bureaucracy to hold out to the last ditch.

W. Preston Lane, Jr., Democratic candidate for governor, declares he will have nothing to do with personalities during the present primary campaign but his self-denial will probably have little weight with the other contestants, who seem to be going all out with them and, incidentally, doing their party no good.

In the seven months since the surrender of Japan, a large part of this country's military forces has been demobilized but, unhappily, there is no sign in Washington of a corresponding move to demobilize the great army of civilian employes mustered to meet the needs of war.

An ironical note was sounded on the Washington administration's labor policy—or lack of policy—when waitresses struck and picket lines were thrown around a hotel at Albuquerque, N. M., as the New Mexico Democrats were holding their annual Jackson day dinner.

A shortage of feed may force the marketing of lean cattle. The old rule not to sell until the ribs are out of sight may be passing.

Alaskan bears are becoming more belligerent, it is reported. Perhaps that Russian bear's disposition is contagious.

THE WHISTLER

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

The small-town whistling boy is no forgotten memory to me, or to anyone else, brought up in a small town. In a way, the small town is a whistling town, for there it is that associations and friendships have been carried out, far and beyond, to all corners of the globe.

Rarely do you hear the whistler in a city. There is too much rush, and it disturbs some people! But there are workmen there, who often take up their favorite God-given instrument and compose happiness hour by hour. And the whistling workman is usually the best workman, for the best workman is the happiest workman.

Whistling music is the most spontaneous and soul inspiring of all music, for it is composed in the heart, and is the most humanly personal. People who do not know one note from another give forth music in their whistle that is so unconscious that they compose without knowing it, and often wonderfully well.

Whittier immortalized the whiltling boy, "with his turned-up pantaloons" and "his cheek of tan." A happy combination.

Of all whistling there is none to compare with this one that we form with our lips. There are the factory whistle, the policeman's whistle, the traffic officer's whistle, the whistle of the wind, but these are mere mechanical whistles. They give no thrill that touches the heart, as that one does that comes so naturally and without thought from the puckered lips of a boy, man, or woman.

Never will the human whistle lose its glamor or its note of inward joy. Like the song from the throat of a bird, it will forever remain familiar and distinguished. Its tunes, gathered from a thousand sources, gush forth, varied and always unique, for who can again produce the same performance?

You have heard the phrase "whistling to keep his courage up." I can think of no better procedure to ward off discouragement or temporary failure. You know at once that there is something fine behind such a whistle!

A PREMATURE WELCOME TO SPRING

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Mrs. Roosevelt Scolded Winston Churchill At Her Husband's Grave, Pearson Says

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Mar. 22—Photographs taken of Winston Churchill placing a wreath on the tomb of Franklin Roosevelt at Hyde Park showed him serene and poised. Mrs. Roosevelt stood equally calm in the background.

However, real fact is that all was not harmony between the two when the ex-Prime Minister made the pilgrimage to the grave of his old friend of wartime days.

At just about the time the photograph was being taken, it happened that Mrs. Roosevelt was telling Churchill exactly what she thought of his speech at Fulton, Mo. What she said was not friendly.

Mrs. Roosevelt was definitely critical of the way Churchill undermined the principles of the United Nations in his speech. Always a lady who believes in saying what she feels, the widow of the late president said in effect that Churchill was "desecrating the ideals for which my husband gave his life.

"Perhaps it's just as well," she said, "that he is not alive today to see how you have turned against his principles."

Note—Mrs. Roosevelt has frequently differed from Churchill. She was vigorous in urging that England do something about India during the war, believing that if the Indian people were promised independence, it would save lives and shorten hostilities. At one time, in the summer of 1943, when Churchill visited in the White House, she purposely stayed in New York. Once during his visit she phoned her daughter, Anna Boettiger, in Washington to ask:

"Is that man still there?"

Ickes's Censored Diary

During the Ed Pauley hearings, a lot of intimations were made that Secretary Ickes had not given the Senate committee the full text of the diary in which he so caustically criticized Pauley for linking Democratic contributions with California oil lands.

Real fact is that this was true. Ickes did not give the Senate the full text of his diary. He purposely held out one pungent line. Senator Tydings, of Maryland, a Democrat, suspecting this to be the case, demanded that Ickes produce the full text of his diary notation.

Sensing they had Ickes in a trap, Tydings and other Democratic Senators licked their chops with anticipation. They figured that at last they had the Old Curmudgeon right where they wanted him.

They didn't know, however, what it was that Ickes had left out of his diary—though another senator did. He was Maine's Owen Brewster, Republican, who whispered to Chairman Dave Walsh, of Massachusetts, what it was that Ickes had censored. After that, the Democrats suddenly cooled off.

For what Ickes had written in his diary was a line which would have done Democratic leadership absolutely no good. The censored passage read:

"Pauley said he considered Ed Flynn a cheap Bronx politician."

To have this come out regarding the former chairman of the Democratic National Committee was too much even for Tydings. Democratic senators decided that Ickes had been right in censoring his own diary. They asked him no more questions.

Pauley's Oil Well

Probably the deciding factor which finally closed down the turbulent Ed Pauley hearing was some secret evidence in the hands of Senator Brewster regarding Pauley's California oil operations.

The evidence showed that Pauley had paid $66,000 to Standard Oil of California for taking oil out from under Standard's oil lands. One of Pauley's wells, drilled near Standard property, had moved 1,200 feet from where he started to drill and was underneath Standard property.

In the end, some of Pauley's operators put a stick of dynamite in the bottom of this well and blew it it. This destroyed the evidence showing exactly where the bottom of the well was. When Brewster privately showed this evidence to other members of the Senate Naval Affairs committee, it clinched the debate. Pauley, they decided, could not be confirmed.

New Italian Fascists

The State department isn't saying anything about it, but one important factor in the Spanish situation is the subsidizing of a new fascist underground in Italy. This is being done by money sent from Spain.

What happened was that just before Mussolini was captured, many leading Italian fascists fled to Spain and got protection from Franco. Along with them went large amounts of "flight capital." Among the refugees was the family of Mussolini's mistress, Claretta Petacci, which escaped to Barcelona by airplane just about the time of Mussolini's execution.

This unofficial "Mussolini mission" in Spain has greater funds and more prestige than the Italian Embassy. They are now working with Franco interests to start a new Fascist underground in Italy.

Despite this, some State department reactionaries, probably behind Jimmy Byrnes's back, have told certain Latin American diplomats that they do not favor a diplomatic break with Franco.

Liquor Crack-down

The black markets in meat and nylons have received so many headlines that people haven't heard much about illegal liquor practices. However, the U. S. Alcohol Tax unit is ready to crack down on about 500 liquor wholesalers.

Federal investigators claim they have the "goods on" these wholesalers for making "tie-in" sales of rum, wine and cordials with whiskies. In other words, retailers are sometimes forced to buy as much as five cases of rum or other slow-moving drinks for every one case of Scotch or Bourbon whisky allotted to them. This means that liquor stores are stacked with beverages they cannot sell.

"Tie-in" sales are a violation of the federal Alcohol Administration act, and the situation has become worse in recent weeks because of the impending whisky shortage certain to result from the president's grain conservation order.

Alcohol unit sleuths have evidence showing that the "tie-in" racket reaches to the top men in the industry. The wholesalers in many instances have been forced by distillers and importers to buy rum and wine in order to get whisky. Some wholesalers have informed internal revenue agents in turn that they have to "do business" with the distillers and importers or have their franchise revoked overnight.

The Justice department probably will bring conspiracy charges against the guilty parties, but, meanwhile, a large number of wholesalers will have their permits revoked or suspended.

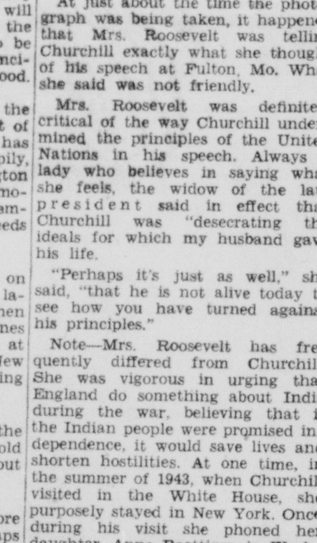
ENDED FLU THREAT



A NOTEWORTHY BATTLE was won by Dr. Wendell M. Stanley (above), 42, biochemist, when he created the modern miracle that has ended the peril of the flu epidemic. Dr. Stanley is the discoverer of the centrifuge-type influenza vaccine that will provide immunity against the disease that has killed more people than all the wars in history. In 1918 it afflicted one in every four of the world's 2,000,000,000 inhabitants.

Speech by Spaatz Disparaging Navy Is Held Improper

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, March 22.—President Truman may urge and Congress may even some day legislate a merger of the armed services, but it will be a useless move unless some way to remove the bitterness which apparently is increasing as between the army air forces and the United States Navy in certain important segments of personnel.

Naval circles have resented for some time the derogatory remarks made about the navy by various army air force generals in the field even during the war. These were reported to Washington from time to time. But the sensation now is the speech alleged to have been made on the night of March 14 by Gen. Spaatz, commanding general of the army air forces, at a private dinner given by the Aviation Writers Association.

Tirade against Navy Alleged

Gen. Spaatz is being quoted as having launched a tirade against the navy, questioning why the United States should have a navy now. He is reported to have said that, since the Russians have little or no navy and the Japanese navy has been sunk and Germany never did have much of a navy, the navies of the rest of the world are negligible. He is said to have remarked also that the navy has no enemies to fight any more except the army air forces.

Gen. Spaatz is credited with having declared also that there was no need of a separate air force for the navy and that air forces from carriers would be a waste of taxpayers' money. Some comments were reported to have been made by the general about the impossibility of launching atomic bombs from carriers. The navy's technical men say the general is mistaken and that it is possible to build naval carriers which can operate the same weight planes as the B-29 and that atomic bombs can be dropped even now at great ranges from existing carriers.

Disparagement Not Good

But the main point is that someone ought to take these high officers and sit them down together in a room and teach them that this business of disparaging an armed service isn't good from any viewpoint—not even from the practical side for if unification is to be achieved at all it must be with a spirit of co-operation and not destructiveness.

The army air forces have done a magnificent job. Nobody in his right mind has ever disparaged the marvelous work of the air forces from land bases, but can't the army air force generals concede also that maybe Adm. Halsey's Third fleet with its carriers did help to defeat Japan or that the marines, which are a part of the navy, did help to get the bases at Iwo Jima and Saipan and Guam from which the army air forces launched their attacks including the atomic bombs?

Glory Enough for All

There was glory enough for all in the last war, including the infantry and artillery—which services won many a mile of terrain in cloudy, snowy weather when planes couldn't help them. If Gen. Spaatz did make the remarks attributed to him, he owes an apology to the navy, and nothing would be more conducive to the ultimate achievement of a unified armed service than if someone who had made a mistake apologized for it and admitted he might have been wrong.

Gen. Spaatz is an able commander. He succeeds an exceptionally able commander, Gen. Arnold. But if the new commander of the army air forces said what is being attributed to him in the reports that are coming out about that Aviation Writers Association dinner, he has made his own participation in future meetings of the United States Joint Chiefs of Staff of questionable value. A forthright denial that any such statements were made would be in order so as to bring harmony where today there is disunity among the high officers of our armed services.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

I woke up this morning and realized that spring is here. Spring . . . that's when a young man's fancy turns to an outdoor version of what he's been thinking about all winter.

But this is the day Mother Nature comes around and deflates your goose pimples. Of course, we don't call them goose pimples out here . . . They're referred to as "high sunspots."

I knew it was spring hen I woke up. Professor Colonna walked in wearing his air-conditioned head. The professor said he felt like a two-year-old, and I believe it. He even looked like a two-year-old . . . one by the name of Busher.

I remember back when this was the day most of the kids in our neighborhood got a dose of sulphur and molasses to thin their blood. I never did, of course. Mother just sent me to school that day wearing a hair ribbon, and the rest of the kids took it from there.

But you can always recognize spring in California. Everything gets very balmy, particularly the press releases from the chamber of commerce.

This begins the "outdoor living" season here in California. In other words, this is the day when 100,000 house-hunters become officially social.

Now I'll start haunting the golf courses. Haunting . . . that's a current golfing term meaning, "If they go in the rough, finders keepers!"

Baruch and Hoover Appointments Are Called Bright Sign

By MARK SULLIVAN

Pause, reader, for a moment, to take in a fleeting glimpse of brightness in the world's encircling gloom. This week, two men, both of an age to justify them in taking their ease, if they did not regard duty as a superior call, bent their backs to laborious tasks. Ex-President Hoover set out by plane to make a survey of food conditions throughout Europe, a task that will involve intense work and collection of facts in ten countries; with the pressure for hurry so great that he must do all his traveling by plane; hardly ever will he sleep two nights in the same bed.

On the same day Mr. Hoover set out, Mr. Bernard M. Baruch accepted appointment by President Truman to what is, literally, the most urgent task in the current world. Mr. Baruch is to be American representative on the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, a post calling for solution of a problem at once so momentous that the future of the world depends upon it, and so novel that the world never faced its like before; it can only be solved by pioneer application of ancient wisdom to conditions that have no precedent.

Selections Cheering

What gives brightness to each incident, and especially to the coincidence of them may be realized by seeing it in any of several aspects: The willingness of men of the ages of these two to accept heavy burdens in the public interest. The spirit in President Truman that turns to men of the highest capacity, and, in the case of Mr. Hoover, selected the outstanding man in the opposition party. There is a glow of sentiment in the fact that these two men, now selected for functions on the highest level of statesmanship, are the same who, more than a quarter century ago held the two highest civilian posts in the first world war—Mr. Hoover as head of food administration, Mr Baruch as head of industrial production.

There is cheer to the human spirit too, in the fact that for both men their selection for high posts is justification of them as individuals, and of what they stand for, compensation for exile and discrimination. For half a generation both were out of tune with the times. It would be more accurate to say the times were out of tune with them.

Dogged with Contumely

The political spirit that prevailed following Mr. Hoover's defeat for re-election in 1932, and which was expressed in the regime that followed, regarded Mr. Hoover as the symbol and exponent of something that must be cried down. Throughout the political and intellectual world, those who wished to "make America over" dogged him with calculated contumely. They regarded him, accurately, as the outstanding intellectual leader of what he once phrased in the title of a book he had written, "American Individualism", and as that he must be kept down, erased. Even after the war came, and the need was great for Mr. Hoover's capacity and experience, especially for the experience he had had as food administrator in the former war, he was given no post and asked for no counsel, until President Truman, soon after he came into office last year, invited him to the White House.

Mr. Baruch, for several years before the war came, endured much the same exile of his ideas, and wholly the same harrassment of soul over seeing things done counter to his deep convictions, and things not done which he knew ought to be done. Though he had access to the White House, there were those in the administration—in the ranks of those whom the late General Hugh Johnson called the "janizaries"—who regarded Mr. Baruch as, like Mr. Hoover, an exponent of what they called "the old order", and whose ideas, therefore, must be guarded against.

Foresaw War

One frustration he endured came, not so much from any antagonism, as from a general blindness to the light he saw. Throughout the late 1930s he foresaw war. To a man of his temperament it is not enough to foresee, there must be action. For several years his chief interest and activity was to bring about preparedness.

Of Mr. Baruch's wide-ranging wisdom are many proofs. One would be found in the record of his prolonged conferrings with army and navy officials about preparing American industry for war production. Mr. Baruch, from his experience in the First World war, knew in detail what should be done. Military officials agreed. But the spirit of the times, strangely distorted, held that preparedness for war is incitement to war, and put its faith in pacifism and neutrality.

Mr. Hoover and Mr. Baruch are of the stature of greatness. Aside from whatever they may be able to accomplish, it is a bright sign when governments and peoples are moved to turn to their great men.

A Lesson, Perhaps, From Sweden

A FEW SIGNIFICANT THINGS were revealed in a recent article on Swedish trade unions, written by Ralph H. Turner for "The Philadelphia Record."

Sweden, Turner noted, is one of the most highly unionized nations in the world, its trade union federation claiming the largest labor membership in relationship to population.

"Yet," says Mr Turner, "Sweden is virtually free of labor troubles. . . . Ninety-nine per cent of the wage agreements in Sweden are settled without strikes."

And this next statement may be especially important:

"This record has been marred only once in recent years. The metal workers' union struck for five months last year. However, this was a political strike, promoted by communists.

"The country has only one national trade union body. Its officers think this makes for stability with employers. They imply that two competing union groups such as the A. F. of L. and CIO, impede stable labor relations.

The Swedish employers also are organized in one group, the Swedish Employers' Association. The two combinations have learned to get along without much trouble.

"However, three factors stand out in the Swedish labor situation which may be of special interest to America:

"1. The strong discipline which the trade union federation exerts over its members.

"2. The Swedish labor court.

"3. The great emphasis which the trade union federation places upon increased industrial production.

"Moreover, it is provided under Swedish law that a person "directly involved in a labor dispute" forfeits his claim to unemployment benefits."

It may be that this country can find a helpful lesson here and the recent chaotic industrial situation shows that some sort of lesson is direly needed. Any workable formula that would enhance production and eliminate costly strikes would be welcomed by millions here.

The True Character Of Republicanism

IN ITS COMMENT on the action of the Wisconsin Progressives in rejoining the Republican party, this newspaper observed, among other things, that one of the significant items involved therein was the indication furnished that the Republican party is the true progressive and liberal organization of the two major political entities, a fact this newspaper emphasized.

This thought has been stressed by the "Wheeling Intelligencer" (W. Va.), which also declares that true progressive liberalism, as distinguished from the pseudo-liberalism of the New Deal, is still to be found where it always reposed—in the Republican party. What it has to say thereon is of interest in view of what this newspaper has said. The Wheeling newspaper says that Senator LaFollette struck the correct note in saying that the Republican party "offers the best opportunity for advancement of progressive principles."

The Intelligencer says it is encouraging to note "this evidence of an awakening realization of the true character of Republicanism. The essence of progressivism, of liberalism, is the safeguarding of individual freedom; implementation of the doctrine that one man's liberty stops where another man's begins, and that the duty of government is, not to nourish the individual, but to see to it that he is not unfairly hampered by others in his 'pursuit of happiness.'

"Confusing liberalism, blind to the fact that sound conservatism is nowhere in conflict with progressive principles, the New Dealers have rushed the country far along the road to collectivism. In the futile attempt to guarantee every man security, they have, of necessity, robbed the individual of his freedom of action. Applying the practices of a controlled economy to a free enterprise system, they have made the government the master rather than the servant of the people, and have created the political and economic chaos you see all about you.

"Fortunately, unless all the signs are misleading, the American people are beginning to awaken to what is happening to them. At long last, it appears that the sands are running out on the New Deal."

And it is high time that they were.

Proper Care Necessary To Prevent Pneumonia

(A guest editorial by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.)

SINCE the discovery of the sulfa drugs and penicillin, pneumonia is not as grave a threat to life as it was a few years ago. Nevertheless, pneumonia is by no means to be taken lightly. It ranks among the leading causes of death and is apt to strike particularly hard during the months of January, February and March.

Lobar pneumonia is an infection of the lung usually caused by the invasion of an organism called pneumoccus. It results in inflammation of the lung and is accompanied by high fever. There are various types of lobar pneumonia, some more and some less resistant to the sulfa drugs. All types of pneumonia, however, are serious and may be followed by such complications as pleurisy, lung abscesses or meningitis.

The first symptoms of lobar pneumonia are a chill and pain in the side. The disease develops rapidly. Within forty-eight hours there is a high fever, which may go up to 104 degrees or more. The patient has a rasping cough and expectorates blood-tinged sputum. Breathing is heavy and difficult. When sulfa or penicillin is used, the disease is usually brought under control quickly. The drugs do not seem to be effective, however, with some types of pneumonia.

Pneumonia often develops if proper care is not taken after other illnesses. The pateint who becomes active too soon after influenza may break down with pneumonia. Any number of illnesses may be followed by pneumonia if the body is not permitted to regain its strength before normal activities are resumed.

The best precaution against pneumonia is a strong body. This means getting sufficient rest, eating nourishing meals, taking care of one's self after illness, avoiding sudden chilling, not going out in cold or wet weather without protective clothing.

Some diseases, such as scarlet fever, set up immunity against reinfection. This is not true of pneumonia. On the contrary, pneumonia frequently recurs.

Although pneumonia may be quickly brought under control today when sulfa or penicillin can be used, the patient should follow the doctor's advice and allow time for complete convalescence before taking up his usual activities again.

Bureaucratic Stubbornness Is Again Emphasized

OIL INDUSTRY SPOKEMEN have asked Congress to force removal of OPA price lids from the gasoline tanks of the nation. Production having well caught up with demand, the American Petroleum Institute said that liquidation of OPA's power over the oil industry would result in no material advance in prices.

API witnesses, including J. Howard Pew, president of the Sun Oil Company, Philadelphia; Walter S. Hallahan, president of the Plymouth Oil Company, Pittsburgh, and Dr. R. E. Wilson, board chairman of Standard Oil of Indiana, told the House Banking committee that continuation of OPA controls constitutes a threat to national security, means seasonal shortages of petroleum products and can do serious damage to the nation's economy.

On the other side of the capitol, J. H. Reppert, associate director of the OPA fuels division, told the Senate Special Petroleum Investigating committee that "we are trying to withdraw from price action in oil as soon as possible. We are working on a price suspension policy which we feel we will have in effect in not less than six months, probably by June 30. We have realized for several months there are factors contributing to a satisfactory price suspension program in this country."

Here again we have evidence of bureaucratic reluctance to yield any of its prerogatives until actually forced to do do. Onlookers may well wonder why it should require several months to suspend unnecessary restrictions in the face of the situation described, which appears to have been pretty well indicated, and despite its repeated assertions that it is its purpose to remove controls when they are no longer necessary. But it seems to be an inherent characteristic of bureaucracy to hold out to the last ditch.

W. Preston Lane, Jr., Democratic candidate for governor, declares he will have nothing to do with personalities during the present primary campaign but his self-denial will probably have little weight with the other contestants, who seem to be going all out with them and, incidentally, doing their party no good.

In the seven months since the surrender of Japan, a large part of this country's military forces has been demobilized but, unhappily, there is no sign in Washington of a corresponding move to demobilize the great army of civilian employes mustered to meet the needs of war.

An ironical note was sounded on the Washington administration's labor policy—or lack of policy—when waitresses struck and picket lines were thrown around a hotel at Albuquerque, N. M., as the New Mexico Democrats were holding their annual Jackson day dinner.

A shortage of feed may force the marketing of lean cattle. The old rule not to sell until the ribs are out of sight may be passing.

Alaskan bears are becoming more belligerent, it is reported. Perhaps that Russian bear's disposition is contagious.

THE WHISTLER

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

The small-town whistling boy is no forgotten memory to me, or to anyone else, brought up in a small town. In a way, the small town is a whistling town, for there it is that associations and friendships have been carried out, far and beyond, to all corners of the globe.

Rarely do you hear the whistler in a city. There is too much rush, and it disturbs some people! But there are workmen there, who often take up their favorite God-given instrument and compose happiness hour by hour. And the whistling workman is usually the best workman, for the best workman is the happiest workman.

Whistling music is the most spontaneous and soul inspiring of all music, for it is composed in the heart, and is the most humanly personal. People who do not know one note from another give forth music in their whistle that is so unconscious that they compose without knowing it, and often wonderfully well.

Whittier immortalized the whittling boy, "with his turned-up pantaloons" and "his cheek of tan." A happy combination.

Of all whistling there is none to compare with this one that we form with our lips. There are the factory whistle, the policeman's whistle, the traffic officer's whistle, the whistle of the wind, but these are mere mechanical whistles. They give no thrill that touches the heart, as that one does that comes so naturally and without thought from the puckered lips of a boy, man, or woman.

Never will the human whistle lose its glamor or its note of inward joy. Like the song from the throat of a bird, it will forever remain familiar and distinguished. Its tunes, gathered from a thousand sources, gush forth, varied and always unique, for who can again produce the same performance?

You have heard the phrase "whistling to keep his courage up." I can think of no better procedure to ward off discouragement or temporary failure. You know at once that there is something fine behind such a whistle!

A PREMATURE WELCOME TO SPRING

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Mrs. Roosevelt Scolded Winston Churchill At Her Husband's Grave, Pearson Says

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Mar. 22—Photographs taken of Winston Churchill placing a wreath on the tomb of Franklin Roosevelt at Hyde Park showed him serene and poised. Mrs. Roosevelt stood equally calm in the background.

However, real fact is that all was not harmony between the two when the ex-Prime Minister made the pilgrimage to the grave of his old friend of wartime days.

At just about the time the photograph was being taken, it happened that Mrs. Roosevelt was telling Churchill exactly what she thought of his speech at Fulton, Mo. What she said was not friendly.

Mrs. Roosevelt was definitely critical of the way Churchill undermined the principles of the United Nations in his speech. Always a lady who believes in saying what she feels, the widow of the late president said in effect that Churchill was "desecrating the ideals for which my husband gave his life.

"Perhaps it's just as well," she said, "that he is not alive today to see how you have turned against his principles."

Note—Mrs. Roosevelt has frequently differed from Churchill. She was vigorous in urging that England do something about India during the war, believing that if the Indian people were promised independence, it would save lives and shorten hostilities. At one time, in the summer of 1943, when Churchill visited in the White House, she purposely stayed in New York. Once during his visit she phoned her daughter, Anna Boettiger, in Washington to ask:

"Is that man still there?"

Ickes's Censored Diary

During the Ed Pauley hearings, a lot of intimations were made that Secretary Ickes had not given the Senate committee the full text of the diary in which he so caustically criticized Pauley for linking Democratic contributions with California oil lands.

Real fact is that this was true. Ickes did not give the Senate the full text of his diary. He purposely held out one pungent line. Senator Tydings, of Maryland, a Democrat, suspecting this to be the case, demanded that Ickes produce the full text of his diary notation.

Sensing they had Ickes in a trap, Tydings and other Democratic Senators licked their chops with anticipation. They figured that at last they had the Old Curmudgeon right where they wanted him.

They didn't know, however, what it was that Ickes had left out of his diary—though another senator did. He was Maine's Owen Brewster, Republican, who whispered to Chairman Dave Walsh, of Massachusetts, what it was that Ickes had censored. After that, the Democrats suddenly cooled off.

For what Ickes had written in his diary was a line which would have done Democratic leadership absolutely no good. The censored passage read:

"Pauley said he considered Ed Flynn a cheap Bronx politician."

To have this come out regarding the former chairman of the Democratic National Committee was too much even for Tydings. Democratic senators decided that Ickes had been right in censoring his own diary. They asked him no more questions.

Pauley's Oil Well

Probably the deciding factor which finally closed down the turbulent Ed Pauley hearing was some secret evidence in the hands of Senator Brewster regarding Pauley's California oil operations.

The evidence showed that Pauley had paid $66,000 to Standard Oil of California for taking oil out from under Standard's oil lands. One of Pauley's wells, drilled near Standard property, had moved 1,200 feet from where he started to drill and was underneath Standard property.

In the end, some of Pauley's operators put a stick of dynamite in the bottom of this well and blew it it. This destroyed the evidence showing exactly where the bottom of the well was. When Brewster privately showed this evidence to other members of the Senate Naval Affairs committee, it clinched the debate. Pauley, they decided, could not be confirmed.

New Italian Fascists

The State department isn't saying anything about it, but one important factor in the Spanish situation is the subsidizing of a new fascist underground in Italy. This is being done by money sent from Spain.

What happened was that just before Mussolini was captured, many leading Italian fascists fled to Spain and got protection from Franco. Along with them went large amounts of "flight capital." Among the refugees was the family of Mussolini's mistress, Claretta Petacci, which escaped to Barcelona by airplane just about the time of Mussolini's execution.

This unofficial "Mussolini mission" in Spain has greater funds and more prestige than the Italian Embassy. They are now working with Franco interests to start a new Fascist underground in Italy.

Despite this, some State department reactionaries, probably behind Jimmy Byrnes's back, have told certain Latin American diplomats that they do not favor a diplomatic break with Franco.

Liquor Crack-down

The black markets in meat and nylons have received so many headlines that people haven't heard much about illegal liquor practices. However, the U. S. Alcohol Tax unit is ready to crack down on about 500 liquor wholesalers.

Federal investigators claim they have the "goods on" these wholesalers for making "tie-in" sales of rum, wine and cordials with whiskies. In other words, retailers are sometimes forced to buy as much as five cases of rum or other slow-moving drinks for every one case of Scotch or Bourbon whisky allotted to them. This means that liquor stores are stacked with beverages they cannot sell.

"Tie-in" sales are a violation of the federal Alcohol Administration act, and the situation has become worse in recent weeks because of the impending whisky shortage certain to result from the president's grain conservation order.

Alcohol unit sleuths have evidence showing that the "tie-in" racket reaches to the top men in the industry. The wholesalers in many instances have been forced by distillers and importers to buy rum and wine in order to get whisky. Some wholesalers have informed internal revenue agents in turn that they have to "do business" with the distillers and importers or have their franchise revoked overnight.

The Justice department probably will bring conspiracy charges against the guilty parties, but, meanwhile, a large number of wholesalers will have their permits revoked or suspended.

ENDED FLU THREAT

A NOTEWORTHY BATTLE was won by Dr. Wendell M. Stanley (above), 42, biochemist, when he created the modern miracle that has ended the peril of the flu epidemic. Dr. Stanley is the discoverer of the centrifuge-type influenza vaccine that will provide immunity against the disease that has killed more people than all the wars in history. In 1918 it afflicted one in every four of the world's 2,000,000,000 inhabitants.

Speech by Spaatz Disparaging Navy Is Held Improper

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, March 22.—President Truman may urge and Congress may even some day legislate a merger of the armed services, but it will be a useless move unless some way to remove the bitterness which apparently is increasing as between the army air forces and the United States Navy in certain important segments of personnel.

Naval circles have resented for some time the derogatory remarks made about the navy by various army air force generals in the field even during the war. These were reported to Washington from time to time. But the sensation now is the speech alleged to have been made on the night of March 14 by Gen. Spaatz, commanding general of the army air forces, at a private dinner given by the Aviation Writers Association.

Tirade against Navy Alleged

Gen. Spaatz is being quoted as having launched a tirade against the navy, questioning why the United States should have a navy now. He is reported to have said that, since the Russians have little or no navy and the Japanese navy has been sunk and Germany never did have much of a navy, the navies of the rest of the world are negligible. He is said to have remarked also that the navy has no enemies to fight any more except the army air forces.

Gen. Spaatz is credited with having declared also that there was no need of a separate air force for the navy and that air forces from carriers would be a waste of taxpayers' money. Some comments were reported to have been made by the general about the impossibility of launching atomic bombs from carriers. The navy's technical men say the general is mistaken and that it is possible to build naval carriers which can operate the same weight planes as the B-29 and that atomic bombs can be dropped even now at great ranges from existing carriers.

Disparagement Not Good

But the main point is that someone ought to take these high officers and sit them down together in a room and teach them that this business of disparaging an armed service isn't good from any viewpoint—not even from the practical side, for if unification is to be achieved at all it must be with a spirit of co-operation and not destructiveness.

The army air forces have done a magnificent job. Nobody in his right mind has ever disparaged the marvelous work of the air forces from land bases, but can't the army air force generals concede also that maybe Adm. Halsey's Third fleet with its carriers did help to defeat Japan or that the marines, which are a part of the navy, did help to get the bases at Iwo Jima and Saipan and Guam from which the army air forces launched their attacks including the atomic bombs?

Glory Enough for All

There was glory enough for all in the last war, including the infantry and artillery—which services won many a mile of terrain in cloudy, snowy weather when planes couldn't help them. If Gen. Spaatz did make the remarks attributed to him, he owes an apology to the navy, and nothing would be more conducive to the ultimate achievement of a unified armed service than if someone who had made a mistake apologized for it and admitted he might have been wrong.

Gen. Spaatz is an able commander. He succeeds an exceptionally able commander, Gen. Arnold. But if the new commander of the army air forces said what is being attributed to him in the reports that are coming out about that Aviation Writers Association dinner, he has made his own participation in future meetings of the United States Joint Chiefs of Staff of questionable value. A forthright denial that any such statements were made would be in order so as to bring harmony where today there is disunity among the high officers of our armed services.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

I woke up this morning and realized that spring is here. Spring . . . that's when a young man's fancy turns to an outdoor version of what he's been thinking about all winter.

But this is the day Mother Nature comes around and deflates your goose pimples. Of course, we don't call them goose pimples out here . . . They're referred to as "high sunspots."

I knew it was spring hen I woke up. Professor Colonna walked in wearing his air-conditioned head. The professor said he felt like a two-year-old, and I believe it. He even looked like a two-year-old . . . one by the name of Busher.

I remember back when this was the day most of the kids in our neighborhood got a dose of sulphur and molasses to thin their blood. I never did, of course. Mother just sent me to school that day wearing a hair ribbon, and the rest of the kids took it from there.

But you can always recognize spring in California. Everything gets very balmy, particularly the press releases from the chamber of commerce.

This begins the "outdoor living" season here in California. In other words, this is the day when 100,000 house-hunters become officially social.

Now I'll start haunting the golf courses. Haunting . . . that's a current golfing term meaning, "If they go in the rough, finders keepers!"

Baruch and Hoover Appointments Are Called Bright Sign

By MARK SULLIVAN

Pause, reader, for a moment, to take in a fleeting glimpse of brightness in the world's encircling gloom. This week, two men, both of an age to justify them in taking their ease, if they did not regard duty as a superior call, bent their backs to laborious tasks. Ex-President Hoover set out by plane to make a survey of food conditions throughout Europe, a task that will involve intense work and collection of facts in ten countries; with the pressure for hurry so great that he must do all his traveling by plane; hardly ever will he sleep two nights in the same bed.

On the same day Mr. Hoover set out, Mr. Bernard M. Baruch accepted appointment by President Truman to what is, literally, the most urgent task in the current world. Mr. Baruch is to be American representative on the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, a post calling for solution of a problem at once so momentous that the future of the world depends upon it, and so novel that the world never faced its like before; it can only be solved by pioneer application of ancient wisdom to conditions that have no precedent.

Selections Cheering

What gives brightness to each incident, and especially to the coincidence of them may be realized by seeing it in any of several aspects: The willingness of men of the ages of these two to accept heavy burdens in the public interest. The spirit in President Truman that turns to men of the highest capacity, and, in the case of Mr. Hoover, selected the outstanding man in the opposition party. There is a glow of sentiment in the fact that these two men, now selected for functions on the highest level of statesmanship, are the same who, more than a quarter century ago held the two highest civilian posts in the first world war—Mr. Hoover as head of food administration, Mr Baruch as head of industrial production.

There is cheer to the human spirit too, in the fact that for both men their selection for high posts is justification of them as individuals, and of what they stand for, compensation for exile and discrimination. For half a generation both were out of tune with the times. It would be more accurate to say the times were out of tune with them.

Dogged with Contumely

The political spirit that prevailed following Mr. Hoover's defeat for re-election in 1932, and which was expressed in the regime that followed, regarded Mr. Hoover as the symbol and exponent of something that must be cried down. Throughout the political and intellectual world, those who wished to "make America over" dogged him with calculated contumely. They regarded him, accurately, as the outstanding intellectual leader of what he once phrased in the title of a book he had written, "American Individualism", and as that he must be kept down, erased. Even after the war came, and the need was great for Mr. Hoover's capacity and experience, especially for the experience he had had as food administrator in the former war, he was given no post and asked for no counsel, until President Truman, soon after he came into office last year, invited him to the White House.

Mr. Baruch, for several years before the war came, endured much the same exile of his ideas, and wholly the same harrassment of soul over seeing things done counter to his deep convictions, and things not done which he knew ought to be done. Though he had access to the White House, there were those in the administration—in the ranks of those whom the late General Hugh Johnson called the "janizaries"—who regarded Mr. Baruch as, like Mr. Hoover, an exponent of what they called "the old order", and whose ideas, therefore, must be guarded against.

Foresaw War

One frustration he endured came, not so much from any antagonism, as from a general blindness to the light he saw. Throughout the late 1930s he foresaw war. To a man of his temperament it is not enough to foresee, there must be action. For several years his chief interest and activity was to bring about preparedness.

Of Mr. Baruch's wide-ranging wisdom are many proofs. One would be found in the record of his prolonged conferrings with army and navy officials about preparing American industry for war production. Mr. Baruch, from his experience in the First World war, knew in detail what should be done. Military officials agreed. But the spirit of the times, strangely distorted, held that preparedness for war is incitement to war, and put its faith in pacifism and neutrality.

Mr. Hoover and Mr. Baruch are of the stature of greatness. Aside from whatever they may be able to accomplish, it is a bright sign when governments and peoples are moved to turn to their great men.

James L. Weber Will Wed Miss Eleanor Lee Roach

Ceremony Will Be Performed in Salisbury, Saturday, March 30

Miss Eleanor Lee Roach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Winfield Roach, "The Poplars," Tony Tank road, Salisbury, will become the bride of James Louis Weber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Weber, 500 Oldtown road, Saturday morning, March 30, at 11 o'clock.

The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride's parents.

An uncle of Miss Roach, Mr. Paul Isbill, Pelham, N. Y., will be host at a dinner in honor of the bridal party and out-of-town guests which will be held Friday evening, March 29, at 7 o'clock at the Wicomico hotel, Salisbury.

The bride-elect is a graduate of the Norfolk, Va., high school and of Duke university, Durham, N. C., in the class of 1945.

She will be given in marriage by her father. Miss Marion Weber, R. N., sister of the bridegroom-elect and supervisor of nurses in the Allegany and Garrett county health departments, will be maid of honor.

Mr. Weber's brother, John Weber, pharmacist's mate second class, who is stationed at the school of hospital administration at Bethesda, will act as best man.

A graduate of Fort Hill high school, Mr. Weber was in his junior year at Duke university when he entered the army in March, 1943. He went overseas in May, 1945, and served at Hickam field, near Honolulu, with the 3,368th signal service battalion for nine and a half months.

He was honorably discharged February 24 at Fort George G. Meade with the rank of staff sergeant, and is now employed by the South Cumberland Planing Mill Company. Mr. Weber plans to resume his studies at Duke university in the fall.

TWUA Drops Petition For Election at Local Undergarment Factory

The Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, has withdrawn from the National Labor Relations Board its petition for an election to determine the bargaining agent of the Cumberland Undergarment Company, Gay street, James A. Dundon, regional TWUA director, reported.

The TWUA has also dropped a charge of unfair labor practice filed against the local garment factory, the union official said, declaring that both moves were taken in the interests of labor unity.

In his statement the local labor leader pointed out that the type of manufacturing being done indicates that the International Ladies Garment Workers, AFL, is the logical group to represent the workers.

Concordia Choir Presents Concert

A concert of sacred music was presented by the Concordia Seminary Chorus, of Springfield, Ill., last night in the Fort Hill high school auditorium. The chorus of forty male voices, come direct from a two-day engagement in New York City.

Under the direction of Prof. Fred L. Precht, who has led the group for six years, the chorus featured the Sixteenth Century classics of the polyphonic school. The program was sponsored by the Men's Club of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church.

Engagement Is Revealed

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mason Reynolds, Camden, Ark., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen Frances Reynolds, to Kenneth Lee Kisamore, Bowling Green, son of James Kisamore and the late Mrs. Kisamore.

The bride-elect was employed as an art instructor in the public schools of Camden, prior to her entrance in the WAC, from which she recently received an honorable discharge.

Mr. Kisamore was recently honorably discharged after three years of service in the medical corps. He is a graduate of Allegany high school. While in the army he saw service in the Pacific theater.

The marriage will take place Sunday, March 31, at the First Presbyterian church, Camden.

Dance Is Planned

The second in a series of Saturday night dances will be held this evening by Fort Cumberland Post, No. 13, American Legion, in the Queen City hotel. Russell Paupe is general chairman in charge of arrangements.

Music for the dance will be furnished by Ted Williams and his Aristocrats. Varied entertainment will be featured.

Mr. Paupe is being assisted by John R. Kelly, Jr., James P. Wilkinson, John R. Neff and Robert S. Byer.

Valley Road Club Will Hold Garden Meeting March 29

The Valley Road Homemakers Club will hold a garden meeting Friday, March 29, at the home of Mrs. John S. Cook, Bowling Green. The meeting will open at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and will continue until 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The feature of the affair will be a demonstration on floral arrangements. Mrs. C. G. Ford will be in charge of the program. Members have been requested to bring flower seeds and cuttings for exchange. Unusual flower arrangements will be discussed and exhibited by the members.

4-H Club Will Give Egg-Rolling Party

The younger members of the Nave's Crossroad 4-H club will be entertained at an egg-rolling party, Sunday afternoon, April 14, at the home of the Misses Agnes and Winifred Wotring, Christie road. Plans for the event were completed at a meeting of the group Thursday evening at the Wotring home.

Miss Dorothy Streett presided at the business session and a discussion was held on the 4-H Girl's Camp season. The recreational period was under the direction of Beverly Bennett, chairman, and refreshments were served.

Each member was requested to select a clothing unit in preparation for the style show, to be given early in the summer. The next meeting of the group will be held April 18 at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Lois Ann Wentling, 518 Baltimore avenue.

Events in Brief

The Ladies' Bible Class of St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed church met at the home of Mrs. Edith Dowlan, 514 Hill Top Drive, with Mrs. Harriet Roby and Mrs. Stella Neikel as hostesses.

The Rev. Wayne Shellenberger, pastor of the Calvary church, Cresaptown, was honored at a birthday party, which was the feature of the meeting of the Adult Fellowship Class of the church, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Warnick.

The Ladies Shrine Club will hold its regular meeting Tuesday evening at 7:45 at Masonic Temple. Mrs. Henry M. Earle will be hostess at the card party following. Refreshments will be served and prizes awarded.

The annual banquet of the Ebenezer Baptist church will be held Thursday, March 28, beginning at 5 p. m. Miss Annie Flower is chairman.

The regular Saturday evening "500" party at the Knights of Malta home, 67 Prospect square, has been cancelled for this evening. The party will be held next Saturday evening as usual, however.

The Ladies Aid and Men's Work Class of the Glendale Brethren church, Flintstone, will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Opal Tideman, Baltimore pike.

Personals

English Girl and Her Fiance

The above picture was taken Thursday night in Frostburg soon after Miss Violet E. O. Stevens, Manor Park, England, arrived in Cumberland where she was met by her fiance, Robert Spitznas, son of Mrs. Earl Spitznas, Frostburg. The couple met in 1942 when Mr. Spitznas was serving with the United States Army in England. The wedding will take place in the near future.

BEALL TO REPRESENT LOCAL AHEPA ORDER AT BANQUET MONDAY

Rep. J. Glenn Beall will be the honor guest of the Cumberland chapter of the Order of Ahepa at the Ahepa national banquet to be held in Washington, D. C., Monday, Richard Diamond, president of the chapter, announced yesterday.

Over 250 members of the Senate and House of Representatives have accepted invitations to the banquet, Diamond said.

The Order of Ahepa, Diamond added, has begun a drive to raise $2,000,000 for the building of hospitals in war-torn Greece. The Cumberland chapter has already started its campaign fund and the proceeds of the banquet will be used for the hospital fund.

In its final report to national headquarters, the local chapter listed the sale of $125,000 in Victory and War loan drives. Over $300,000,000 in bonds were sold by the national organization.

President Truman, Diamond added, will become a member of the Order of Ahepa in Washington Monday, and will be enrolled as a member of the Kansas City chapter.

Young Businessmen Plan Forum on Youth Programs

A forum on recreational programs for young people in Cumberland will be a feature of the next meeting of the Young Businessmen's club, to be held Monday, April 1, at 7:30 p. m. in the George Williams room at Central YMCA.

Marcus Whitmore, advisor to the club, will lead the discussion. Donald Hambleton is president.

Robert L. Sisson, general YMCA secretary, said yesterday that James D. Preaskorn has been named as one of the two members of the club who will act as instructors in the crafts program to be inaugurated for Rec club members Friday evening, April 5. The name of the other member will be announced later.

Permits Are Secured To Build Two Homes

Two building permits were granted yesterday in the city engineer's office.

Mr. and Mrs. Arliss E. Kesecker, 512 Sheridan place, secured a permit to construct a $5,000 five-room house on Lot 12, Louisiana avenue.

The one and a half story building will measure 24 by 30 feet, with a concrete block foundation, brick walls and a composition shingle roof. Work will be done by Dayton M. Lewis.

Mrs. Clayton L. Smith, Ridgeley, W. Va., secured a permit to build a one-story frame house at 605-607 Montreal avenue at an estimated cost of $2,500. The building, to measure 36 by 44 feet, will have a concrete foundation, frame walls covered with inselbrick, and a rubberoid shingle roof. Work will be done by the owners.

Meetings Are Planned

Stanley Sutton, recreation specialist and assistant agricultural agent of Kent county, will conduct training meetings at the Central YMCA on Monday, March 25, from 1:30 to 3 p. m. and on Wednesday, March 27, from 1:30 to 3 p. m.

Similar sessions will be held at the Flintstone school on Monday, March 25, at 7 p. m. and at the Cresaptown school, Wednesday, March 27, at 7 p. m.

The series of meetings are being conducted under the auspices of the Allegany County Extension Service.

Boy Is Released

An eleven-year-old Henry street boy was released Wednesday in the custody of his mother for juvenile court action in connection with the theft of a purse containing $150 in currency from the Liberty Cleaners and Dyers, Incorporated, North Liberty street, last Saturday. Police said the pocketbook was found in an alley behind the Lear and Oliver ice cream plant. It contained $80 which had been overlooked, they added. A ten-year-old Bedford street boy was paroled Monday in juvenile court on charges resulting from the same theft.

Spring Schedule Arranged By Good Fellowship Club

Seafood Feast Will Be Given in Club Rooms Friday Evening

The Good Fellowship Club will open its spring schedule with a seafood feast to be held Friday evening, March 29, at 8 o'clock in the club rooms. The feature of the affair will be the unveiling of the club emblem, with John Shannon acting as master of ceremonies.

Guests of honor at the feast will include George Henderson, Judge William A. Huster, Morgan C. Harris, Estel Kelly, Paul Fletcher, John McMullen, Oliver H. Bruce, Robert Kimble, Judge William C. Capper and the Rep. J. Glenn Beall.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the affair includes Gus Hebb, chef; Lloyd Scheurling, chairman; Elmer, Minnicks and Homer Bice.

Charles Riley Weds Miss Mary Elbin

Miss Mary E. Elbin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Elbin, 247 Bond street, and Charles L. Riley, son of Mrs. Lavina Riley, Fort Ashby, W. Va., were married Sunday, March 17, in the parsonage of the First Methodist church.

The Rev. George E. Baughman, pastor of the church, officiated at the ceremony. Miss Mildred Nafer was maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. Ray Wagner served as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany high school. The bridegroom is a graduate of Fort Ashby high school and recently returned from the Pacific theater. He is employed by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company.

After a brief wedding trip, the couple will reside at Fort Ashby.

Clarence Wright Weds Miss Nellie Bowser

Miss Nellie Marie Bowser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Bowser, Frostburg, and Clarence E. Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wright, Eckhart, were married January 1, in the Eckhart Methodist church.

The Rev. John R. Wilson officiated at the ceremony. Miss Helen Wright, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and Charles Lewis served as best man.

The bride attended school in Frostburg and has been employed in the pajama factory in that city. Mr. Wright attended Beall high school, Frostburg, and served in the army in the European theater for two years. He is employed by the Kelly Springfield Tire company.

The couple is residing in Frostburg.

Allegany High Musical Groups Present Concert

The musical organizations of Allegany high school presented a Victory Concert last night in the high school auditorium, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Willison and Mrs. Betty Winter. The school band, orchestra, choir, choral club and glee club participated in the program as follows:

The program of band, orchestra, choir, choral and glee club numbers included the following:

Band: "Allegany High School March," Langdon; "The Crusaders Overture," Buchtel; "The Bells of St. Mary's," Yoder.

Orchestra: "Gypsy Train Overture," Fischel; "There's Something about a Soldier," Gay-Sopkin.

Choral and Glee Club: "Roll de ol' Chariot Along," arranged by Howorth; "The Donkey Serenade," Friml; "Battle Hymn of the Republic," Steefe-Ringwald.

After the band's opening group of selections, Miss Kathryn Richards, soprano, sang "When Children Pray," by Fenner.

The accompanists for the vocal numbers were Doris Davis, Maxine Conrad, Jeanne Marquis, Donald Ort, Mrs. Winter and Mrs. Richards.

The quartet is made up of William Hartsock, Donald Ort, Ronald Clites and Robert Floyd.

James L. Weber Will Wed Miss Eleanor Lee Roach

Ceremony Will Be Performed in Salisbury, Saturday, March 30

Miss Eleanor Lee Roach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Winfield Roach, "The Poplars," Tony Tank road, Salisbury, will become the bride of James Louis Weber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Weber, 500 Oldtown road, Saturday morning, March 30, at 11 o'clock.

The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride's parents.

An uncle of Miss Roach, Mr. Paul Isbill, Pelham, N. Y., will be host at a dinner in honor of the bridal party and out-of-town guests which will be held Friday evening, March 29, at 7 o'clock at the Wicomico hotel, Salisbury.

The bride-elect is a graduate of the Norfolk, Va., high school and of Duke university, Durham, N. C., in the class of 1945.

She will be given in marriage by her father. Miss Marion Weber, R. N., sister of the bridegroom-elect and supervisor of nurses in the Allegany and Garrett county health departments, will be maid of honor.

Mr. Weber's brother, John Weber, pharmacist's mate second class, who is stationed at the school of hospital administration at Bethesda, will act as best man.

A graduate of Fort Hill high school, Mr. Weber was in his junior year at Duke university when he entered the army in March, 1943. He went overseas in May, 1945, and served at Hickam field, near Honolulu, with the 3,368th signal service battalion for nine and a half months.

He was honorably discharged February 24 at Fort George G. Meade with the rank of staff sergeant, and is now employed by the South Cumberland Planing Mill Company. Mr. Weber plans to resume his studies at Duke university in the fall.

TWUA Drops Petition For Election at Local Undergarment Factory

The Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, has withdrawn from the National Labor Relations Board its petition for an election to determine the bargaining agent of the Cumberland Undergarment Company, Gay street, James A. Dundon, regional TWUA director, reported.

The TWUA has also dropped a charge of unfair labor practice filed against the local garment factory, the union official said, declaring that both moves were taken in the interests of labor unity.

In his statement the local labor leader pointed out that the type of manufacturing being done indicates that the International Ladies Garment Workers, AFL, is the logical group to represent the workers.

Concordia Choir Presents Concert

A concert of sacred music was presented by the Concordia Seminary Chorus, of Springfield, Ill., last night in the Fort Hill high school auditorium. The chorus of forty male voices, come direct from a two-day engagement in New York City.

Under the direction of Prof. Fred L. Precht, who has led the group for six years, the chorus featured the Sixteenth Century classics of the polyphonic school. The program was sponsored by the Men's Club of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church.

Engagement Is Revealed

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mason Reynolds, Camden, Ark., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen Frances Reynolds, to Kenneth Lee Kisamore, Bowling Green, son of James Kisamore and the late Mrs. Kisamore.

The bride-elect was employed as an art instructor in the public schools of Camden, prior to her entrance in the WAC, from which she recently received an honorable discharge.

Mr. Kisamore was recently honorably discharged after three years of service in the medical corps. He is a graduate of Allegany high school. While in the army he saw service in the Pacific theater.

The marriage will take place Sunday, March 31, at the First Presbyterian church, Camden.

Dance Is Planned

The second in a series of Saturday night dances will be held this evening by Fort Cumberland Post, No. 13, American Legion, in the Queen City hotel. Russell Paupe is general chairman in charge of arrangements.

Music for the dance will be furnished by Ted Williams and his Aristocrats. Varied entertainment will be featured.

Mr. Paupe is being assisted by John R. Kelly, Jr., James P. Wilkinson, John R. Neff and Robert S. Byer.

Valley Road Club Will Hold Garden Meeting March 29

The Valley Road Homemakers Club will hold a garden meeting Friday, March 29, at the home of Mrs. John S. Cook, Bowling Green. The meeting will open at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and will continue until 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The feature of the affair will be a demonstration on floral arrangements. Mrs. C. G. Ford will be in charge of the program. Members have been requested to bring flower seeds and cuttings for exchange. Unusual flower arrangements will be discussed and exhibited by the members.

4-H Club Will Give Egg-Rolling Party

The younger members of the Nave's Crossroad 4-H club will be entertained at an egg-rolling party, Sunday afternoon, April 14, at the home of the Misses Agnes and Winifred Wotring, Christie road. Plans for the event were completed at a meeting of the group Thursday evening at the Wotring home.

Miss Dorothy Streett presided at the business session and a discussion was held on the 4-H Girl's Camp season. The recreational period was under the direction of Beverly Bennett, chairman, and refreshments were served.

Each member was requested to select a clothing unit in preparation for the style show, to be given early in the summer. The next meeting of the group will be held April 18 at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Lois Ann Wentling, 518 Baltimore avenue.

Events in Brief

The Ladies' Bible Class of St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed church met at the home of Mrs. Edith Dowlan, 514 Hill Top Drive, with Mrs. Harriet Roby and Mrs. Stella Neikel as hostesses.

The Rev. Wayne Shellenberger, pastor of the Calvary church, Cresaptown, was honored at a birthday party, which was the feature of the meeting of the Adult Fellowship Class of the church, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Warnick.

The Ladies Shrine Club will hold its regular meeting Tuesday evening at 7:45 at Masonic Temple. Mrs. Henry M. Earle will be hostess at the card party following. Refreshments will be served and prizes awarded.

The annual banquet of the Ebenezer Baptist church will be held Thursday, March 28, beginning at 5 p. m. Miss Annie Flower is chairman.

The regular Saturday evening "500" party at the Knights of Malta home, 67 Prospect square, has been cancelled for this evening. The party will be held next Saturday evening as usual, however.

The Ladies Aid and Men's Work Class of the Glendale Brethren church, Flintstone, will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Opal Tideman, Baltimore pike.

The above picture was taken Thursday night in Frostburg soon after Miss Violet E. O. Stevens, Manor Park, England, arrived in Cumberland where she was met by her fiance, Robert Spitznas, son of Mrs. Earl Spitznas, Frostburg. The couple met in 1942 when Mr. Spitznas was serving with the United States Army in England. The wedding will take place in the near future.

BEALL TO REPRESENT LOCAL AHEPA ORDER AT BANQUET MONDAY

Rep. J. Glenn Beall will be the honor guest of the Cumberland chapter of the Order of Ahepa at the Ahepa national banquet to be held in Washington, D. C., Monday, Richard Diamond, president of the chapter, announced yesterday.

Over 250 members of the Senate and House of Representatives have accepted invitations to the banquet, Diamond said.

The Order of Ahepa, Diamond added, has begun a drive to raise $2,000,000 for the building of hospitals in war-torn Greece. The Cumberland chapter has already started its campaign fund and the proceeds of the banquet will be used for the hospital fund.

In its final report to national headquarters, the local chapter listed the sale of $125,000 in Victory and War loan drives. Over $300,000,000 in bonds were sold by the national organization.

President Truman, Diamond added, will become a member of the Order of Ahepa in Washington Monday, and will be enrolled as a member of the Kansas City chapter.

Young Businessmen Plan Forum on Youth Programs

A forum on recreational programs for young people in Cumberland will be a feature of the next meeting of the Young Businessmen's club, to be held Monday, April 1, at 7:30 p. m. in the George Williams room at Central YMCA.

Marcus Whitmore, advisor to the club, will lead the discussion. Donald Hambleton is president.

Robert L. Sisson, general YMCA secretary, said yesterday that James D. Preaskorn has been named as one of the two members of the club who will act as instructors in the crafts program to be inaugurated for Rec club members Friday evening, April 5. The name of the other member will be announced later.

Permits Are Secured To Build Two Homes

Two building permits were granted yesterday in the city engineer's office.

Mr. and Mrs. Arliss E. Kesecker, 512 Sheridan place, secured a permit to construct a $5,000 five-room house on Lot 12, Louisiana avenue.

The one and a half story building will measure 24 by 30 feet, with a concrete block foundation, brick walls and a composition shingle roof. Work will be done by Dayton M. Lewis.

Mrs. Clayton L. Smith, Ridgeley, W. Va., secured a permit to build a one-story frame house at 605-607 Montreal avenue at an estimated cost of $2,500. The building, to measure 36 by 44 feet, will have a concrete foundation, frame walls covered with inselbrick, and a ruberoid shingle roof. Work will be done by the owners.

Meetings Are Planned

Stanley Sutton, recreation specialist and assistant agricultural agent of Kent county, will conduct training meetings at the Central YMCA on Monday, March 25, from 1:30 to 3 p. m. and on Wednesday, March 27, from 1:30 to 3 p. m.

Similar sessions will be held at the Flintstone school on Monday, March 25, at 7 p. m. and at the Cresaptown school, Wednesday, March 27, at 7 p. m.

The series of meetings are being conducted under the auspices of the Allegany County Extension Service.

Boy Is Released

An eleven-year-old Henry street boy was released Wednesday in the custody of his mother for juvenile court action in connection with the theft of a purse containing $150 in currency from the Liberty Cleaners and Dyers, Incorporated, North Liberty street, last Saturday. Police said the pocketbook was found in an alley behind the Lear and Oliver ice cream plant. It contained $80 which had been overlooked, they added. A ten-year-old Bedford street boy was paroled Monday in juvenile court on charges resulting from the same theft.

Spring Schedule Arranged By Good Fellowship Club

Seafood Feast Will Be Given in Club Rooms Friday Evening

The Good Fellowship Club will open its spring schedule with a seafood feast to be held Friday evening, March 29, at 8 o'clock in the club rooms. The feature of the affair will be the unveiling of the club emblem, with John Shannon acting as master of ceremonies.

Guests of honor at the feast will include George Henderson, Judge William A. Huster, Morgan C. Harris, Estel Kelly, Paul Fletcher, John McMullen, Oliver H. Bruce, Robert Kimble, Judge William C. Capper and the Rep. J. Glenn Beall.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the affair includes Gus Hebb, chef; Lloyd Scheurling, chairman; Elmer, Minnicks and Homer Bice.

Charles Riley Weds Miss Mary Elbin

Miss Mary E. Elbin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Elbin, 247 Bond street, and Charles L. Riley, son of Mrs. Lavina Riley, Fort Ashby, W. Va., were married Sunday, March 17, in the parsonage of the First Methodist church.

The Rev. George E. Baughman, pastor of the church, officiated at the ceremony. Miss Mildred Nafer was maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. Ray Wagner served as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany high school. The bridegroom is a graduate of Fort Ashby high school and recently returned from the Pacific theater. He is employed by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company.

After a brief wedding trip, the couple will reside at Fort Ashby.

Clarence Wright Weds Miss Nellie Bowser

Miss Nellie Marie Bowser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Bowser, Frostburg, and Clarence E. Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wright, Eckhart, were married January 1, in the Eckhart Methodist church.

The Rev. John R. Wilson officiated at the ceremony. Miss Helen Wright, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and Charles Lewis served as best man.

The bride attended school in Frostburg and has been employed in the pajama factory in that city. Mr. Wright attended Beall high school, Frostburg, and served in the army in the European theater for two years. He is employed by the Kelly Springfield Tire company.

The couple is residing in Frostburg.

Allegany High Musical Groups Present Concert

The musical organizations of Allegany high school presented a Victory Concert last night in the high school auditorium, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Willison and Mrs. Betty Winter. The school band, orchestra, choir, choral club and glee club participated in the program as follows:

The program of band, orchestra, choir, choral and glee club numbers included the following:

Choral and Glee Club: "Roll de ol' Chariot Along," arranged by Howorth; "The Donkey Serenade," Friml; "Battle Hymn of the Republic," Steefe-Ringwald.

After the band's opening group of selections, Miss Kathryn Richards, soprano, sang "When Children Pray," by Fenner.

The quartet is made up of William Hartsock, Donald Ort, Ronald Clites and Robert Floyd.

Two War Veterans Are Now Training At Jet Company

Announcement has been made by John A. Cupler, general manager of the National Jet Company, that two veterans of World War II have started "on the job" training with the firm as micro-tool makers. The setup is sponsored by the Veterans' Administration.

The veterans are Roy Dickinson, who was wounded during the battle of the Belgian Bulge, and Harry Ellis, also a veteran of the ETO. Two other veterans who were formerly employed at the Jet company plant are expected to be discharged soon and may take up the same type of training, Cupler said. They are Petty Officer John Galen Metzger and William C. Tressler.

Cupler pointed out that one unusual feature of the training program at the Jet company is that men are working on the only job classification of its kind in the country. The job was only recently listed in the Department of Labor's publication for "on the job" training programs.

The veterans will learn how to make tiny tools used in making jets and other microscopic articles. The Veterans' Administration pays the difference between the apprentice rate of pay for the job and fulltime rate.

During the war the Jet company manufactured many items for war plants and did other work of a highly secretive nature. The firm has the reputation of drilling smaller holes in jets and other items than is possible in other countries.

Newport, R. I., Mayor Congratulates Keegan

"Congratulations and heaven help the town now that you're a councilman" was the message Mayor Herbert E. Macauley, of Newport, R. I., wired to his good friend, William V. Keegan, when he learned of his friend's success in Tuesday councilmanic contest.

Macauley, regarded in Rhode Island political circles as "gubernatorial timber, attached himself to Cumberlanders when LaSalle high basketball players made their appearance in Newport's Eastern States Catholic Interscholastic basketball tournament in March 1943 and added more local friends during the 1944 and 1945 events.

Macauley is a close follower of the court game and sits alongside the coach of his favored teams at tournament sessions.

Candidates for Judge May Seek Election On Both Tickets

Under a new Maryland law, aspirants for judge of the circuit court may file as a candidate in either or both political parties, Edward J. Ryan, attorney to the board of election supervisors, said last night.

Ryan added that the law was passed so that circuit court judges could be elected on a non-partisan basis, and so that political party bias would not be a factor in a candidate's defeat.

Under the new law, a candidate for judge could thus seek the nomination on either the Republican or Democratic tickets or could be a candidate on both tickets in the primary election.

The general election for judge is conducted on a non-partisan basis, with the names of the winners of the Republican and Democratic primaries being listed on the general election ballot without political designation.

Davis Is Nominated For Another Term As Moose Governor

Frank J. Davis Thursday was nominated for re-election of Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose, by the members of the nominating committee.

Other nominees to be voted on by the membership April 4 are: Charles Pettie and Harry S. Lannon, for junior governor; Lonnie I. Jackson and Lewis Soethe, prelate; Charles F. Burke, Jr., treasurer; and Arthur Rowe, Gordon Green and Harry E. Wolfe, for trustees.

The members were given a report on the oyster roast in Baltimore and learned that $12,500 has been raised towards a goal of $15,000 to build a unit at Moosehaven, Florida. Officers predicted that the rest of the money will be raised by June.

It was also announced that the annual conclave of the Border States Moose Association will be held in Hagerstown, June 14, 15 and 16.

Two War Veterans Are Now Training At Jet Company

Announcement has been made by John A. Cupler, general manager of the National Jet Company, that two veterans of World War II have started "on the job" training with the firm as micro-tool makers. The setup is sponsored by the Veterans Administration.

The veterans are Roy Dickinson, who was wounded during the battle of the Belgian Bulge, and Harry Ellis, also a veteran of the ETO. Two other veterans who were formerly employed at the Jet company plant are expected to be discharged soon and may take up the same type of training, Cupler said. They are Petty Officer John Galen Metzger and William C. Tressler.

Cupler pointed out that one unusual feature of the training program at the Jet company is that men are working on the only job classification of its kind in the country. The job was only recently listed in the Department of Labor's publication for "on the job" training programs.

The veterans will learn how to make tiny tools used in making jets and other microscopic articles. The Veterans' Administration pays the difference between the apprentice rate of pay for the job and fulltime rate.

During the war the Jet company manufactured many items for war plants and did other work of a highly secretive nature. The firm has the reputation of drilling smaller holes in jets and other items than is possible in other countries.

Newport, R. I., Mayor Congratulates Keegan

"Congratulations and heaven help the town now that you're a councilman" was the message Mayor Herbert E. Macauley, of Newport, R. I., wired to his good friend, William V. Keegan, when he learned of his friend's success in Tuesday councilmanic contest.

Macauley, regarded in Rhode Island political circles as gubernatorial timber, attached himself to Cumberlanders when LaSalle high basketball players made their appearance in Newport's Eastern States Catholic Interscholastic basketball tournament in March 1943 and added more local friends during the 1944 and 1945 events.

Macauley is a close follower of the court game and sits alongside the coach of his favored teams at tournament sessions.

Candidates for Judge May Seek Election On Both Tickets

Under a new Maryland law, aspirants for judge of the circuit court may file as a candidate in either or both political parties, Edward J. Ryan, attorney to the board of election supervisors, said last night.

Ryan added that the law was passed so that circuit court judges could be elected on a non-partisan basis, and so that political party bias would not be a factor in a candidate's defeat.

Under the new law, a candidate for judge could thus seek the nomination on either the Republican or Democratic tickets or could be a candidate on both tickets in the primary election.

The general election for judge is conducted on a non-partisan basis, with the names of the winners of the Republican and Democratic primaries being listed on the general election ballot without political designation.

Davis Is Nominated For Another Term As Moose Governor

Frank J. Davis Thursday was nominated for re-election of Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose, by the members of the nominating committee.

Other nominees to be voted on by the membership April 4 are: Charles Pettie and Harry S. Lannon, for junior governor; Lonnie I. Jackson and Lewis Soethe, prelate; Charles F. Burke, Jr., treasurer; and Arthur Rowe, Gordon Green and Harry E. Wolfe, for trustees.

The members were given a report on the oyster roast in Baltimore and learned that $12,500 has been raised towards a goal of $15,000 to build a unit at Moosehaven, Florida. Officers predicted that the rest of the money will be raised by June.

It was also announced that the annual conclave of the Border States Moose Association will be held in Hagerstown, June 14, 15 and 16.

Delinquency Is Scored at Trial Of Assault Case

Former Soldier Is Ordered To Return Children to Ex-wife

A hearing in trial magistrates court Thursday on a charge against an ex-serviceman accused of assault with intent to kill his former wife wound up yesterday with a lecture on juvenile delinquency and its causes.

Wallace Shifflett, an honorably discharged veteran of 907 Glenwood street, was hailed into court on a warrant obtained by his former wife, Mrs. Dorothy Glass, 1016 Gay street, who said the ex-soldier came to her home with a pistol, demanded their two children whose custody she received in a divorce decree, and took them away with him.

Mrs. Glass's sister, Mrs. Mary Viola Rousch, 1016 Gay street, who was a witness, verified the story. In reply to questions from Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., and County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle, Mrs. Rousch said Mrs. Glass and her children were living with her and her six children.

She told the court she and her husband were separated, that they have five children and that she also has another child, almost a year old, by another man.

Lectured by boyle

Mrs. Rousch admitted to the court that the father of the sixth child has been visiting at her home, whereupon Boyle declared, "There's lots of talk of juvenile delinquency. This is where it starts. Do you know," he askec Mrs. Rousch, "that you could be taken to juvenile court for contributing to the delinquency of minors?"

Boyle told Mrs. Rousch, "That's got to stop. There's still law in this county."

Magistrate Bruce told her that her one child, now aged 12, "will soon be asking questions."

Shifflett, represented by John T. Fey, told the court he went for the children because he did not like the way they were being raised. He said he signed divorce papers while he was in a hospital in England undergoing treatment for battle fatigue and did not know he was divorced until he got out of a taxi in Cumberland last December and was told about it.

Did Not Intend Harm

Shifflett said he did not intend to do his ex-wife any physical harm but added that he took the pistol with him because he believed he would have less trouble getting the children.

The court advised Shifflett that if he wants the custody of the children he should bring suit in circuit court.

Magistrate Bruce ordered Shifflett to return the children to their mother immediately and to surrender the pistol to Boyle who asked that the word "kill" be stricken from the warrant against Shifflett.

The magistrate said he would find Shifflett guilty of assault. Final disposition of the case was held open pending the return of the children and the surrender of the pistol.

STORK DERBY ON

BEQUEST of the late Thomas Foster, above, former mayor of Toronto, provides the city with a second "Stork Derby," with a first prize of $1,250 for the Toronto mother bearing the largest number of children in the next ten years. Officers and Enlisted Men To Dress Alike

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Army officers and enlisted men will dress alike after June 30, 1948, the War department announced today.

New regulations prescribe for all ranks battlejackets and trousers of the same olive drab shade now used in enlisted men's clothing.

The War department said the new regulations also paves the way for eventual adoption of dress blue uniforms for officers and men which will be worn on special occasions after mid-1948.

He said if enlistees meet qualifications practically all of them are assigned to their choice of training.

Air force schools now operating are aircraft maintenance, located at Amarillo, Keesler field and Chanute field; radar, Boca Raton; communications, Scott field; weather Scott field; photography, Lowery field; armament, Lowery field; finance, Lowery field; clerk typist Lowery field, and cooks, Keesler, Lowery, Chanute and Scott fields.

No Change Reported In Wage Negotiations At Kelly Plant Here

Ralph C. Beard, president of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers, CIO, announced that Thursday wage negotiations with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company failed to bring any change in the situation.

H. R. Lloyd, Akron, union vice president, who assisted in yesterday's wage talks returned to Akron last evening, the union official said.

Beard said the company made no additional offer and that the union is insisting on its original request for an eighteen and one-half cents an hour increase.

Both sides are reported to have agreed to take several days out in order to review the situation and a union official said a company offer is expected Monday.

A company spokesman commented that the facts brought out in the week's negotiations are being analyzed by the company and added it was possible that some conclusion may be reached by Monday.

Complaint Is Dismissed

BALTIMORE, March 22 (AP)—The public service commission dismissed for lack of evidence today a complaint of Albert F. Kirwan, operator of the South Dorchester Rapid Transit Company, that Thomas Phitchett was infringing on his bus franchise. Kirwan claimed that Pritchett took passengers over his bus route in a passenger car. Pritchett said he did this for friends "as a convenience and without compensation."

No Holiday Here

BALTIMORE, March 22 (AP)—The department of motor vehicles will not observe Maryland day as a holiday Monday but will remain open for motorists who want to purchase new automobile tags. The present plates are invalid after March 31.

Walter, Third service command air liason officer The men are Sgt. Edgar R. Coghill, Baltimore, whose medal included an Oak Leaf Cluster, and Edwin W. Haugh, Woodbine, former technical sergeant with the Fifteenth air force.

"Thin" Stocks Climb in Market Although Many Leaders Stumble

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP) — Several notably "thin" stocks climbed one to five points in today's market although many leaders were thrown for losses.

A few merchandisers, motors, liquors and "clue chip" industrials ended in front but steels, rails, utilities and coppers stumbled. Closing trends were irregular. Transfers of 1,180,000 shares compared with 1,-910,000 Thursday.

American Airlines, up five in the morning, ended with a net gain of one-fourth at 91. Johns-Maville added five, Gimbel Brothers four and three-fourths, Schenley three and one-half, National Distillers three and one-eighth and Chrysler, up about four at one time, two and one-half.

Plus signs were retained by Eastern Air Lines, Pan American Airways, American Can, Westinghouse, Goodrich, United States Rubber, Youngstown Sheet, du Pont, Sante Fe and Standard Oil (NJ).

Allied Chemical dropped three points. Lesser casualties included United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Woolworth, American Telephone, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, Texas Company, R-K-O, United Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft, Philip Morris, Curtiss-Wright "A," General Electric, Western Union "A," Electric Power and Light, Anaconda, Kennecott and International Harvester.

In the Curb National Rubber Machinery tacked on three and one-half. Modest gainers were Breeze Corporation, United Gas, American Light and American Cyanamid. Turnover here was 520,000 shares versus 600,000 yesterday.

Demand for rail liens buoyed the bond market.

Selective buying lifted the market out of a morning trading rut and volume expanded to $4,670,000 from $4,204,000 Thursday.

Long-range United States governments tended a bit lower as intermediate maturities firmed in over-the-counter trade. Dealings in the stock market were at a standstill.

"Thin" Stocks Climb in Market Although Many Leaders Stumble

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP) — Several notably "thin" stocks climbed one to five points in today's market although many leaders were thrown for losses.

A few merchandisers, motors, liquors and "clue chip" industrials ended in front but steels, rails, utilities and coppers stumbled. Closing trends were irregular. Transfers of 1,180,000 shares compared with 1,-210,000 Thursday.

American Airlines, up five in the morning, ended with a net gain of one-fourth at 91. Johns-Maville added five, Gimbel Brothers four and three-fourths, Schenley three and one-half, National Distillers three and one-eighth and Chrysler, up about four at one time, two and one-half.

Plus signs were retained by Eastern Air Lines, Pan American Airways, American Can, Westinghouse, Goodrich, United States Rubber, Youngstown Sheet, du Pont, Sante Fe and Standard Oil (NJ).

Allied Chemical dropped three points. Lesser casualties included United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Woolworth, American Telephone, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, Texas Company, R-K-O, United Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft, Philip Morris, Curtiss-Wright "A," General Electric, Western Union "A," Electric Power and Light, Anaconda, Kennecott and International Harvester.

In the Curb National Rubber Machinery tacked on three and one-half. Modest gainers were Breeze Corporation, United Gas, American Light and American Cyanamid. Turnover here was 520,000 shares versus 600,000 yesterday.

Demand for rail liens buoyed the bond market.

Selective buying lifted the market out of a morning trading rut and volume expanded to $4,670,000 from $4,204,000 Thursday.

Long-range United States governments tended a bit lower as intermediate maturities firmed in over-the-counter trade. Dealings in the stock market were at a standstill.

Moorefield Legion Post Secures Service Officer

Woodrow Brill, Adjutant, Is Named to Position; Office Hours Set

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., March 22—John M. Golladay Post, No. 64, American Legion, has employed a fulltime service officer to represent veterans in all matters pertaining to claims and benefits under existing laws.

Woodrow Brill, post adjutant, has been named service officer and has offices in the Legion building, where he will be available to servicemen and veterans Tuesday and Friday afternoons. Those office hours are exclusively for veterans, but Brill will be available at all other times except Sundays.

Brill is also secretary to the board of trustees and secretary to the house committee of the Legion club.

All veterans and their dependents are invited to consult Brill, who will assist them in every way possible. This service is free and has been inaugurated by the local Legion post as a part of the national program of service to the veterans.

The Moorefield post is the smallest in the state to employ a fulltime service officer.

Demonstration Given

Miss Alice Goodell, Hardy county home demonstration agent, demonstrated the presto cooker at the Capon Farm Women's Club meeting in Wardensville this week.

Each member of the club brought a covered dish. The lesson leader was Mrs. D. C. Heltzel. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Conrad Michelson and Mrs. George Walters.

The members worked on articles for the carnival which they will hold in the near future.

To Present Play

Clothing Donated

Hardy county donated eighty-one cartons of used clothing and six burlap bags of used shoes in the victory clothing drive, according to R. S. Dispanet, chairman of the Lions club committee in the drive.

The used clothing and shoes were collected at three points in the county and were shipped last week to Cleveland for reshipment to the needy in wartorn countries.

Dispanet announced that the shipment weighed 1605 pounds. He expressed his thanks to the citizens of the county on behalf of the Moorefield Lions club.

Membership Stated

Capon Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, announced that it has more than fifty active members, with the addition of ten new members this month. This marks an alltime high for the Wardensville VFW organization.

The VFW will participate in the effort to erect a community center in Wardensville as a memorial to veterans of World Wars I and II, and will co-operate with the other Capon Valley organizations in the project. Present plans are to erect a building to house the fire company and to have a community hall for social gatherings.

The post has been advised by the War department that rifles can be secured to be used in ceremonies which require a firing squad and a color guard. An order will be placed for such rifles and also for a set of national and post colors.

Passes Pilot's Test

Dr. G. E. Hartle, Wardensville, passed his private pilot's test at the Moorefield Municipal airport this week and is now qualified to pilot a single-engined land plane anywhere within the United States.

Dr. Hartle took his flight test with C. R. Powers, certified flight inspector for the Civil Aeronautics Administration, at the local airport.

Brief Items

The marriage return was made by the Rev. Charles Kernan. A license was also issued to Darrel N. Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy N. Snyder, and Lena Evangeline Bean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Thomas. The marriage return was made by the Rev. Ruthayn W. Morrow, Petersburg.

Elvin D. Ours, Purgittsville, qualified as notary public in Hardy county on his commission as notary public in Hampshire county.

Kelly Worker Injured

David Miller, 21, 307 Baltimore street, was treated in Memorial hospital yesterday about noon after the Kelly worker reported the end of one of his fingers was cut off while at work.

Student Is Injured

Gifford Grindle, 15, 116 Independence street, was treated in Allegany hospital yesterday morning for a left shoulder injury. He said he was hurt while exercising at Allegany high school gymnasium.

Minke Says Foxes

in the state forest has counted seventy-eight turkeys in recent days, in addition to eighty-five hens just released for propagation purposes.

It is hoped the hens, or a fair percentage of them will survive, and will breed with gobblers, lay and hatch before hunting season, Minke added. It is the policy to release hens early in the year, at about a time when they can subsist and have a reasonable chance surviving. The eighty-five hens just released were fairly wild, and should know enough to stay away from predatory animals such as the fox, he continued. Tame birds, raised in hatcheries haven't a chance.

Just before hunting season, 150 gobblers will be released in the state forest, Minke concluded, and with this addition, together with what will survive, develop and is now there, turkey hunters should find good sport this fall, he added.

Three Persons

and make a thorough check to see if anyone might be trapped there. Witnesses on all sides remarked that this was a courageous thing to do, because there was danger that the concrete floor and heavy beams supporting it might collapse.

After Central Fire Company No. 1, had responded to the first alarm, calls kept coming into the station for ten minutes from residents throughout the neighborhood.

Nestor and workmen about the place praised the fire and police departments for their work at the scene, and said, 'they arrived here almost as soon as it happened."

The building occupied by Cement Products Company is actually two structures. One houses the store room and offices and is a two story affair. The other was a roofless structure, composed of four walls around the adjoining yard where concrete blocks are manufactured.

The force of the explosion seemed to be in the pit or basement under this roofless structure. Experts on explosives and explosions say that had there been a roof over the entire structure, the damage and injury to workmen would have been many times worse.

About Thirty-Five In Place

Lloyd Smith, manager of the cement company, said there were about thirty-five persons working in and about the building at the time of the blast. Some of these were employees of Cooks who had a contract to do constructin and remodeling at the place. Smith said the whole building was lifted from its foundation and then dropped back down.

There seemed to be two explosions he said, a loud one, followed in about ten seconds by another rumbling one. The explosion was accompanied by terrific heat and flashes of flame and fire.

Windows in the structure were shattered, heavy doors buckled and there was evidence that the concrete floor had been bulged, cracked and raised. Cracks appeared in walls inside and outside the building. The roof over the store room and offices was bowed up and outside walls were rent and split by the blast. Heavy concrete blocks fell inside and outside the structure. Dust marks on the floor where merchandise was stacked, showed these piles of insulation materials etc. had been lifted and dropped again.

Herbert Hetrick, of Harrisburg, Pa., an employee of the C. S. Stetler Steel Erecting company, of that place, and James Hedley, this city were working at the time of the blast, on the framework of a huge 400-ton steel hopper or bin, being constructed in the plant. They had a bird's eye view of the explosion as they were about sixty-feet above the ground. Both were able to hold on, but said they felt the force of the blast and the building seemed to be lifted up and then drop back down.

Saw Flames and Felt Heat

Numerous employes working about the place said they were knocked down or hurled about by the blast, and each had a similar description of the raising and falling of the building followed by a sheet of flame, and feeling of intense heat. There were none at the scene yesterday afternoon who had detected any odor of gas fumes prior to the explosion.

Miss Clara Repham and Miss Doris Repham, sisters, both of Eckhart, bookkeeper and secretary for the firm were working in the office at the time of the explosion. Neither was injured, but both said they were badly shaken and scared.

Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, was at the scene soon after the alarm, and went through the ruins with Cook and Nestor, checking damage and making an effort to determine the cause. Rizer said he could not state definitely what caused the explosion, but ventured an opinion that gas fumes from some source may have pocketed under the building. If someone struck a match or lighted a cigaret, he said, the whole thing would go off.

At the spot where Nestor tore the clothes off Cooper, a partial package of soiled, smashed cigarets was seen. Whether they fell from Cooper's clothes or he dropped them from his hand was not known, and Nestor said he didn't know if the man had smoked in the basement.

Notified To Remove Walls

Rizer sent a notice to the firm, that remains of the walls adjacent to the street would have to be removed at once, as they are weakened, bulging and show loose concrete blocks hanging at various angles along the top. He instructed city police to keep the area roped off to protect passers-by and motorists, in the event the walls fall.

At Rizer's office about half an hour before the explosion, Cook secured a permit in Nestor's name to "reconstruct, strengthen and rebuild the walls and roof" of the building. Work was estimated in the permit to cost $8,000.

Henry K. Duke, local insurance agent, said he had written fire insurance to cover contents of the building several weeks ago, and the insurance included an extended coverage clause which would include explosion damage of this nature. Duke was in his office on Pershing street at the time of the explosion, but practically had a grandstand seat. He had called Nestor a few seconds before to talk with him about additional insurance the two had previously discussed. One of the girls answered the phone and had just gone to find Nestor when the explosion occurred. Duke said he heard it, by telephone.

Duke said if Nestor had gotten to the phone before the blast and authorized him to write additional insurance, it would have been binding on the insurance company.

Making Insurance Survey

Nestor and Smith declined to fix any damage on the plant and property, and insurance adjustor Robert O. Neill, First National Bank building said last night that he has not completed a survey.

Richard Shireman, Law building, another adjustor was at the scene yesterday afternoon, but he too declined to make a preliminary estimate of damage.

Damage was placed variously by others from $10,000 to $20,000 to the plant and building.

An electric clock, just inside the structure, which stopped at the time of the explosion shows the hour to have been 11:41 a. m.

It was reported at the place that five workmen, engaged in repairing the structure, narrowly escaped injury about a week ago when the concrete roof of the drying room fell in.

No damage was reported to buildings or homes and business places in the neighborhood. The products company is joined on the one side at Hendersn avenue, by Firey's Battery and Spring Service, and on the other side at 415 Henderson, by Queen City Glass Company.

Frostburg Vets Return Home

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, March 22.—Two Frostburg soldiers who were recently honorably discharged arrived home this week.

Staff Sgt. Paul Shuck, son of Mrs. Nellie Shuck, Broadway, was discharged March 16 at Fort George G. Meade after three years of service.

While overseas, he served as cashier in the finance department in army headquarters at Bamberg, Germany. He was stationed in the European theater for eighteen months.

Cpl. Michael J. Byrnes, son of Postmaster and Mrs. Michael Byrnes, was honorably discharged from the army air forces March 7 at Fort Logan, Colo. In service for three years, he was stationed at Lowry field, Denver, Colo., as a crew chief on a C-47.

Unit Makes Donations

At a recent meeting of Farrady Unit No. 24, American Legion Auxiliary, a donation of $50 to Miners hospital for equipment was approved.

A motion was passed to contribute $10 to the state child welfare fund for overseas relief. In addition, $10 was contributed to the Red Cross and money was appropriated for the purchase of 1,500 poppies, to be sold here May 25 to aid disabled war veterans.

Frostburg Personals

Miss Mary Close, Orange, N. J., is a patient in Miners hospital.

Mrs. Pearl Eberly, North Grant street, is ill at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ritchie, RFD 1, Frostburg, announce the birth of a son this morning at Miners hospital.

Additional Groups

out the county, mostly located in the Big Survey on Dan's Mountain, you have acquired 630 lots. In all of this property the county has invested $32,551.22.

"These building lots, which under the resolution introduced by Commissioner Wilkinson, would be turned over free of charge to Veterans' organizations, are located as follows:

95 in District No. 4, formerly property of Humbird and Walsh Land Companies, and I am given to understand are located below the railroad and along the Canal.

401 lots in District No. 6, most of them were the property originally of the Cumberland Development Company.

14 lots in District No. 7, in and about Creasptown.

11 lots in District No. 22, on McNamee's Hill.

1⅛ lots in District No. 29, in and around Eckhart.

"The law contemplates that these properties shall be disposed of by the County Commissioners from time to time for the best price possible in order to reimburse the County. It has always been considered advisable in order to get the property on the tax books again, to sell the same whenever possible, even though in every case it was not possible to get the full amount that the county had in the various properties. The law does not require the commissioners to obtain any definite price. The amount for which each lot is sold being left to their discretion.

Action Justified

"In view of this general situation and the established policy of the State of Maryland to help in establishing, building and financing of homes for the benefit of those who served in the armed forces, the County Commissioners would be justified in trying to assist them to the extent of making any lots available to such a home builder at a very nominal sum. No one could properly object to this proper exercise of the discretion vested in you by law. Along this line I would suggest that all these organizations so interested in the Veterans be written to by your clerk calling attention to the attitude of the Commissioners with reference to any county lots a veteran may desire to acquire for home building purposes. When convinced that the purpose for which the lot is wanted is a worthy and proper one, then I am sure that the assistance to be given by turning over the lot at a nominal figure will meet with approval. There has always been certain expenses in transferring titles to these properties for obtaining proper descriptions and drawing deeds, etc., usually amounting to ten dollars. However, in the case of any such lots conveyed as herein recommended, I would be glad to waive any charge in this respect. It is my opinion that under the law you would not be exercising proper care and custody over County property if you would without consideration turn over in bulk all these lots to veteran's organizations as suggested by Mr. Wilkinson. As a matter of fact each lot can be of little value or the owner would not permit it to be sold for taxes. Only one out of many would be held to be desirable to build upon and to turn 630 lots over to loosely formed organizations with no machinery or force to handle the same would in my opinion be unwise and not that kind of disposition of the property as would be within the terms of a reasonable discretion.

"The Legislature of Maryland has made you the custodian of this property and the law contemplates a careful and businesslike administration of this trust. In the legislation helping veterans the Legislature has not seen fit to authorize the turning over of this property as contemplated and until it does, I do not think you should assume such responsibility."

and positive role in guaranteeing universal peace and security" if it succeeds in preserving the principle of "equality of states."

My letter to Stalin began:

"In view of the many questions being asked in various parts of the world and the anxiety being expressed over keeping the peace, may I respectfully address several questions to you?"

This introduction was followed by three questions which are quoted below together with Stalin's answers.

Question: "What importance do you attach to the United Nations Organization as a means of preserving world peace?"

Answer: "I attach great importance to the United Nations Organization as it is a serious instrument for the preservation of peace and international security. The strength of this organization consists in that it is based on the principle of equality of states and not on the principle of the domination of one state over others. If the United Nations Organization succeeds in preserving in the future this principle of equality it will unquestionably play a great and positive role in guaranteeing universal peace and security."

Nations "Desire Peace"

Question: "What in your opinion is responsible for the current fear of war felt by many peoples in many lands?"

Answer: "I am convinced that neither the nations nor their armies are seeking another war. They desire peace and are endeavoring to secure peace. This means that the 'current fear of war' is not being caused by this side. I think that the 'present fear of war' is being brought about by the actions of certain political groups engaged in the propaganda of a new war and by these means sowing seed of discord and uncertainty."

Question: "What should the governments of the freedom-loving countries do at the present time to preserve the peace and tranquility of the world?"

Answer: "It is necessary for public opinion and the ruling circles of all states to organize a wide counterpropaganda against these advocates of a new war and to secure the peace so that not a single action on the part of the advocates of new wars pass without due rebuff on the part of the public and press: To expose the warmongers without loss of time and give them no opportunity of abusing the freedom of speech against the interests of peace."

Final Report

Clubs and organizations contributed a total of $797 against a goal of $1,000, and several organizations who will meet late this month are to be heard from.

Leaders are gratified with the entire campaign, and it has been officially termed one of the most successful fund drives attempted here. The general chairman of the campaign was Col. Randolph Milholland, and work was done without the aid of the usually employed professional campaign director.

Ex-P.O.W. Gives $50

Money is still being contributed to Allegany county Red Cross chapter, despite the fact that the annual campaign closed March 11, with over $15,000 more contributed than called for in the budget.

Typical of some of the contributions, is the following letter received yesterday from a war veteran and prisoner of war, who is now a student at Bullis school, Silver Springs, Md.

Cumberland Chapter,
American Red Cross,
Cumberland, Md.
Gentlemen:

"Please accept this donation as a token of appreciation for the good work the International Red Cross has done toward the relieving of human suffering in this war.

"Neither dollars, nor words can fully reflect the amount of good done by the Red Cross organizations throughout the world."

Respectfully,
EUGENE T. FLEISCHHAUR,
(Ex-P.O.W.)

Accompanying the letter was a check for $50.

Gouzenko testified:

1. That Canadian-Soviet friendship organizations were used as a "screen" to cover the "real policy," which he said included preparations for events which "could be grounds for war."

2. That Russia was pursuing a "two-faced policy" in which the friendship organizations "had nothing to do with creating friendly relations with Canada." There were no such organizations in Russia he said.

3. That Col. Nicholai Zabotin, former military attache of the Ottawa embassy, his boss, was sent to Canada in July, 1943, "officially" as military attache but "unofficially" to do intelligence, or espionage, work.

4. That the Russian ambassador, George N. Zaroubin, "had nothing to do" with the military attache.

conflict with the earlier date, there is no assurance on that point here. A number of newsmen from Washington(assigned to cover the atom experiment, had planned to start for the Pacific next week.

Foreigners Not Yet Invited

Only a few hours before the White House announced the delay, it was disclosed that invitations for foreign observers and congressmen to witness the tests had not yet gone out.

The particular point was given little weight in unofficial discussions tonight, but some objections had been voiced on Capitol hill to the whole idea of letting foreigners get that close to the secret.

Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, issued the announcement for President Truman. A reporter asked him if all the reasons for the postponement appeared in the statement, and he answered that it covered the ground.

Asked specifically if the international situation had any bearing, Ross replied that he could not go beyond the statement but he added that he had no reason to believe there were any international implications.

"The president announced tonight that the atom bomb tests in the Pacific will be delayed about six weeks.

Two Bombs To Be Dropped

"The tests, calling for the detonation of two atomic bombs in Bikini atoll, had been scheduled May 15 for the first, an air drop, and July 1, a surface burst.

"The postponement is prompted by the fact that a large number of congressmen have expressed a desire to witness both these tests, but owing to the heavy legislative schedule would be prevented from doing so if the tests were held on the dates originally fixed."

A reporter pointed out that the original announcement of the tests had come from the navy and inquired if there were any significance in the fact that the postponement was announced from the White House.

Ross replied that everybody seemed to want something from the president. Smiling, he commented that White House telephones had been pretty busy since first reports of the delay came out early in the evening.

Nothing was said by Ross as to the source of the postponement idea.

It was apparent that the decision was somewhat abrupt, since "Operation Crossroads" officers had held a news conference only today to give reporters a few additional technical details on plans. At that time they were proceeding on the assumption that the experiment would proceed as scheduled.

Gonder Wants Park Developed in Garrett

OAKLAND, Md., March 22 (AP)—State Senator Bernard I. Gonder (D-Garrett), said today the state could save "several hundred thousand dollars" by developing a forest park near Oakland, because "the playground is already here."

Gonder declared opposition was not contemplated to the Bayside Park Development for which sites are now under consideration by a seven-man committee appointed by Governor O'Conor.

"But with all the fuss about a Bayside Park on the Chesapeake, which might cost up to half a million dollars—and still be 200 miles from Maryland's summer playground here in Garrett county—it's time we pointed out a few facts," Gonder said.

He claimed the Bayside Park would be useful principally in the summer, and in the summer "much of the population around the Chesapeake comes to Garrett county."

Gonder asked why the state forest already existing in Garrett county could not be developed "at a cost of about $10,000."

ing, March 16, at 11 o'clock. Rev. Reece Burns, pastor of the Bethel Methodist church, of the Park, officiated.

The bride is a yeoman first class of the WAVES, and is stationed at the research laboratory in Washington. She was attired in a beige suite with brown accessories and had an orchid corsage. Mrs. Robert H. Stevenson was her only attendant while Mr. Robert Stevenson was his brother's best man. The bride was maid of honor for Mrs. Robert Stevenson, at her wedding several months ago.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at Pickwick Inn, for members of the family.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Oakland High school, and Washington college, Chestertown, and at the time he entered service he was history intsructor in Oakland high school. He was given an honorable discharge from the army air corps about the middle of February. He was last stationed at Bolling Field, D. C., as a sergeant and served about three years at various air fields in the United States. He is now located in Washington with the Retail Credit Association.

Wed in Washington

Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Hauser, Oakland, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Josephine, to Mr. Frank H. Gelley, Jr., of Cleveland, Ohio. Mrs. Gelley, who at the time of her marriage, was a sergeant in the United States Marine Corps Women's reserve, was married at the Elbrook Methodist church in Washington, D. C., on Friday, March 1.

Both bride and groom were attired in the uniform of the Marine corps for the ceremony. The bride wore a corsage of white rosebuds. Her only attendant was her sister, Sgt. Maxine Frantz, and she had a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Gelley received her discharge from the marine reserve, on Thursday, March 14, and spent two days at the home of her parents before leaving for Cleveland to join her husband. Mr. Gelley was also recently discharged from the marine corps following forty months of service, twenty-eight of which were spent in the South Pacific attached to the Third Marine division. The couple will reside in Cleveland.

Eleven Are Inducted

Eleven registrants who were sent to the induction station in Baltimore on March 12, were accepted for service, according to H. L. Jones, chief clerk of the draft board.

One registrant, Lawrence Junior Cooper, Mt. Lake Park, was accepted for military service. The following were for general military service: Vincent Spicher, Friendsville; Edward W. Yencensky, Kitzmiller; Lester E. Teets, Terra Alta; Ellis L. Rounds, Swanton; Chester F. Gaither, Swanton; Bernard C. Barnard, Swanton; Paul S. Bittinger, Jennings; Howard F. Moorefield Legion Post Secures Service Officer

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., March 22—John M. Golladay Post, No. 64, American Legion, has employed a fulltime service officer to represent veterans in all matters pertaining to claims and benefits under existing laws.

Woodrow Brill, post adjutant, has been named service officer and has offices in the Legion building, where he will be available to servicemen and veterans Tuesday and Friday afternoons. Those office hours are exclusively for veterans, but Brill will be available at all other times except Sundays.

Brill is also secretary to the board of trustees and secretary to the house committee of the Legion club.

All veterans and their dependents are invited to consult Brill, who will assist them in every way possible. This service is free and has been inaugurated by the local Legion post as a part of the national program of service to the veterans.

The Moorefield post is the smallest in the state to employ a fulltime service officer.

Demonstration Given

Miss Alice Goodell, Hardy county home demonstration agent, demonstrated the presto cooker at the Capon Farm Women's Club meeting in Wardensville this week.

Each member of the club brought a covered dish. The lesson leader was Mrs. D. C. Heltzel. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Conrad Michelson and Mrs. George Walters.

The members worked on articles for the carnival which they will hold in the near future.

To Present Play

Clothing Donated

Hardy county donated eighty-one cartons of used clothing and six burlap bags of used shoes in the victory clothing drive, according to R. S. Dispanet, chairman of the Lions club committee in the drive.

The used clothing and shoes were collected at three points in the county and were shipped last week to Cleveland for reshipment to the needy in wartorn countries.

Dispanet announced that the shipment weighed 1605 pounds. He expressed his thanks to the citizens of the county on behalf of the Moorefield Lions club.

Membership Stated

Capon Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, announced that it has more than fifty active members, with the addition of ten new members this month. This marks an alltime high for the Wardensville VFW organization.

The VFW will participate in the effort to erect a community center in Wardensville as a memorial to veterans of World Wars I and II, and will co-operate with the other Capon Valley organizations in the project. Present plans are to erect a building to house the fire company and to have a community hall for social gatherings.

The post has been advised by the War department that rifles can be secured to be used in ceremonies which require a firing squad and a color guard. An order will be placed for such rifles and also for a set of national and post colors.

Passes Pilot's Test

Dr. G. E. Hartle, Wardensville, passed his private pilot's test at the Moorefield Municipal airport this week and is now qualified to pilot a single-engined land plane anywhere within the United States.

Dr. Hartle took his flight test with C. R. Powers, certified flight inspector for the Civil Aeronautics Administration, at the local airport.

in the state forest has counted seventy-eight turkeys in recent days, in addition to eighty-five hens just released for propagation purposes.

It is hoped the hens, or a fair percentage of them will survive, and will breed with gobblers, lay and hatch before hunting season, Minke added. It is the policy to release hens early in the year, at about a time when they can subsist and have a reasonable chance surviving. The eighty-five hens just released were fairly wild, and should know enough to stay away from predatory animals such as the fox, he continued. Tame birds, raised in hatcheries haven't a chance.

Just before hunting season, 150 gobblers will be released in the state forest, Minke concluded, and with this addition, together with what will survive, develop and is now there, turkey hunters should find good sport this fall, he added.

Three Persons

and make a thorough check to see if anyone might be trapped there. Witnesses on all sides remarked that this was a courageous thing to do, because there was danger that the concrete floor and heavy beams supporting it might collapse.

After Central Fire Company No. 1, had responded to the first alarm, calls kept coming into the station for ten minutes from residents throughout the neighborhood.

Nestor and workmen about the place praised the fire and police departments for their work at the scene, and said, 'they arrived here almost as soon as it happened."

The building occupied by Cement Products Company is actually two structures. One houses the store room and offices and is a two story affair. The other was a roofless structure, composed of four walls around the adjoining yard where concrete blocks are manufactured.

The force of the explosion seemed to be in the pit or basement under this roofless structure. Experts on explosives and explosions say that had there been a roof over the entire structure, the damage and injury to workmen would have been many times worse.

About Thirty-Five In Place

Lloyd Smith, manager of the cement company, said there were about thirty-five persons working in and about the building at the time of the blast. Some of these were employees of Cooks who had a contract to do constructin and remodeling at the place. Smith said the whole building was lifted from its foundation and then dropped back down.

There seemed to be two explosions he said, a loud one, followed in about ten seconds by another rumbling one. The explosion was accompanied by terrific heat and flashes of flame and fire.

Windows in the structure were shattered, heavy doors buckled and there was evidence that the concrete floor had been bulged, cracked and raised. Cracks appeared in walls inside and outside the building. The roof over the store room and offices was bowed up and outside walls were rent and split by the blast. Heavy concrete blocks fell inside and outside the structure. Dust marks on the floor where merchandise was stacked, showed these piles of insulation materials etc. had been lifted and dropped again.

Herbert Helrick, of Harrisburg, Pa., an employee of the C. S. Stetler Steel Erecting company, of that place, and James Hedley, this city were working at the time of the blast, on the framework of a huge 400-ton steel hopper or bin, being constructed in the plant. They had a bird's eye view of the explosion as they were about sixty-feet above the ground. Both were able to hold on, but said they felt the force of the blast and the building seemed to be lifted up and then drop back down.

Saw Flames and Felt Heat

Numerous employes working about the place said they were knocked down or hurled about by the blast, and each had a similar description of the raising and falling of the building followed by a sheet of flame, and feeling of intense heat. There were none at the scene yesterday afternoon who had detected any odor of gas fumes prior to the explosion.

Miss Clara Repham and Miss Doris Repham, sisters, both of Eckhart, bookkeeper and secretary for the firm were working in the office at the time of the explosion. Neither was injured, but both said they were badly shaken and scared.

Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, was at the scene soon after the alarm, and went through the ruins with Cook and Nestor, checking damage and making an effort to determine the cause. Rizer said he could not state definitely what caused the explosion, but ventured an opinion that gas fumes from some source may have pocketed under the building. If someone struck a match or lighted a cigaret, he said, the whole thing would go off.

At the spot where Nestor tore the clothes off Cooper, a partial package of soiled, smashed cigarets was seen. Whether they fell from Cooper's clothes or he dropped them from his hand was not known, and Nestor said he didn't know if the man had smoked in the basement.

Notified To Remove Walls

Rizer sent a notice to the firm, that remains of the walls adjacent to the street would have to be removed at once, as they are weakened, bulging and show loose concrete blocks hanging at various angles along the top. He instructed city police to keep the area roped off to protect passers-by and motorists, in the event the walls fall.

At Rizer's office about half an hour before the explosion, Cook secured a permit in Nestor's name to "reconstruct, strengthen and rebuild the walls and roof" of the building. Work was estimated in the permit to cost $8,000.

Henry K. Duke, local insurance agent, said he had written fire insurance to cover contents of the building several weeks ago, and the insurance included an extended coverage clause which would include explosion damage of this nature. Duke was in his office on Pershing street at the time of the explosion, but practically had a grandstand seat. He had called Nestor a few seconds before to talk with him about additional insurance the two had previously discussed. One of the girls answered the phone and had just gone to find Nestor when the explosion occurred. Duke said he heard it, by telephone.

Duke said if Nestor had gotten to the phone before the blast and authorized him to write additional insurance, it would have been binding on the insurance company.

Making Insurance Survey

Nestor and Smith declined to fix any damage on the plant and property, and insurance adjustor Robert O. Neill, First National Bank building said last night that he has not completed a survey.

Richard Shireman, Law building, another adjustor was at the scene yesterday afternoon, but he too declined to make a preliminary estimate of damage.

Damage was placed variously by others from $10,000 to $20,000 to the plant and building.

An electric clock, just inside the structure, which stopped at the time of the explosion shows the hour to have been 11:41 a. m.

It was reported at the place that five workmen, engaged in repairing the structure, narrowly escaped injury about a week ago when the concrete roof of the drying room fell in.

No damage was reported to buildings or homes and business places in the neighborhood. The products company is joined on the one side at Hendersn avenue, by Firey's Battery and Spring Service, and on the other side at 415 Henderson, by Queen City Glass Company.

Frostburg Vets Return Home

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, March 22.—Two Frostburg soldiers who were recently honorably discharged arrived home this week.

Staff Sgt. Paul Shuck, son of Mrs. Nellie Shuck, Broadway, was discharged March 16 at Fort George G. Meade after three years of service.

While overseas, he served as cashier in the finance department in army headquarters at Bamberg, Germany. He was stationed in the European theater for eighteen months.

Cpl. Michael J. Byrnes, son of Postmaster and Mrs. Michael Byrnes, was honorably discharged from the army air forces March 7 at Fort Logan, Colo. In service for three years, he was stationed at Lowry field, Denver, Colo., as a crew chief on a C-47.

Unit Makes Donations

At a recent meeting of Farrady Unit No. 24, American Legion Auxiliary, a donation of $50 to Miners hospital for equipment was approved.

A motion was passed to contribute $10 to the state child welfare fund for overseas relief. In addition, $10 was contributed to the Red Cross and money was appropriated for the purchase of 1,500 poppies, to be sold here May 25 to aid disabled war veterans.

Frostburg Personals

Miss Mary Close, Orange, N. J., is a patient in Miners hospital.

Mrs. Pearl Eberly, North Grant street, is ill at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ritchie, RFD 1, Frostburg, announce the birth of a son this morning at Miners hospital.

out the county, mostly located in the Big Survey on Dan's Mountain, you have acquired 630 lots. In all of this property the county has invested $32,551.22.

"These building lots, which under the resolution introduced by Commissioner Wilkinson, would be turned over free of charge to Veterans' organizations, are located as follows:

95 in District No. 4, formerly property of Humbird and Walsh Land Companies, and I am given to understand are located below the railroad and along the Canal.

401 lots in District No. 6, most of them were the property originally of the Cumberland Development Company.

14 lots in District No. 7, in and about Creasptown.

11 lots in District No. 22, on McNamee's Hilt.

18 lots in District No. 29, in and around Eckhart.

"The law contemplates that these properties shall be disposed of by the County Commissioners from time to time for the best price possible in order to reimburse the County. It has always been considered advisable in order to get the property on the tax books again, to sell the same whenever possible, even though in every case it was not possible to get the full amount that the county had in the various properties. The law does not require the commissioners to obtain any definite price. The amount for which each lot is sold being left to their discretion.

Action Justified

"In view of this general situation and the established policy of the State of Maryland to help in establishing, building and financing of homes for the benefit of those who served in the armed forces, the County Commissioners would be justified in trying to assist them to the extent of making any lots available to such a home builder at a very nominal sum. No one could properly object to this proper exercise of the discretion vested in you by law. Along this line I would suggest that all these organizations so interested in the Veterans be written to by your clerk calling attention to the attitude of the Commissioners with reference to any county lots a veteran may desire to acquire for home building purposes. When convinced that the purpose for which the lot is wanted is a worthy and proper one, then I am sure that the assistance to be given by turning over the lot at a nominal figure will meet with approval. There has always been certain expenses in transferring titles to these properties for obtaining proper descriptions and drawing deeds, etc., usually amounting to ten dollars. However, in the case of any such lots conveyed as herein recommended, I would be glad to waive any charge in this respect. It is my opinion that under the law you would not be exercising proper care and custody over County property if you would without consideration turn over in bulk all these lots to veteran's organizations as suggested by Mr. Wilkinson. As a matter of fact each lot can be of little value or the owner would not permit it to be sold for taxes. Only one out of many would be held to be desirable to build upon and to turn 630 lots over to loosely formed organizations with no machinery or force to handle the same would in my opinion be unwise and not that kind of disposition of the property as would be within the terms of a reasonable discretion.

"The Legislature of Maryland has made you the custodian of this property and the law contemplates a careful and businesslike administration of this trust. In the legislation helping veterans the Legislature has not seen fit to authorize the turning over of this property as contemplated and until it does, I do not think you should assume such responsibility."

and positive role in guaranteeing universal peace and security" if it succeeds in preserving the principle of "equality of states."

My letter to Stalin began:

"In view of the many questions being asked in various parts of the world and the anxiety being expressed over keeping the peace, may I respectfully address several questions to you?"

This introduction was followed by three questions which are quoted below together with Stalin's answers.

Question: "What importance do you attach to the United Nations Organization as a means of preserving world peace?"

Answer: "I attach great importance to the United Nations Organization as it is a serious instrument for the preservation of peace and international security. The strength of this organization consists in that it is based on the principle of equality of states and not on the principle of the domination of one state over others. If the United Nations Organization succeeds in preserving in the future this principle of equality it will unquestionably play a great and positive role in guaranteeing universal peace and security."

Nations "Desire Peace"

Question: "What in your opinion is responsible for the current fear of war felt by many peoples in many lands?"

Answer: "I am convinced that neither the nations nor their armies are seeking another war. They desire peace and are endeavoring to secure peace. This means that the 'current fear of war' is not being caused by this side. I think that the 'present fear of war' is being brought about by the actions of certain political groups engaged in the propaganda of a new war and by these means sowing seed of discord and uncertainty."

Question: "What should the governments of the freedom-loving countries do at the present time to preserve the peace and tranquility of the world?"

Answer: "It is necessary for public opinion and the ruling circles of all states to organize a wide counterpropaganda against these advocates of a new war and to secure the peace so that not a single action on the part of the advocates of new wars pass without due rebuff on the part of the public and press: To expose the warmongers without loss of time and give them no opportunity of abusing the freedom of speech against the interests of peace."

Final Report

Clubs and organizations contributed a total of $797 against a goal of $1,090, and several organizations who will meet late this month are to be heard from.

Leaders are gratified with the entire campaign, and it has been officially termed one of the most successful fund drives attempted here. The general chairman of the campaign was Col. Randolph Milholland, and work was done without the aid of the usually employed professional campaign director.

Ex-P.O.W. Gives $50

Money is still being contributed to Allegany county Red Cross chapter, despite the fact that the annual campaign closed March 11, with over $15,000 more contributed than called for in the budget.

Typical of some of the contributions, is the following letter received yesterday from a war veteran and prisoner of war, who is now a student at Bullis school, Silver Springs, Md.

Cumberland Chapter,
American Red Cross,
Cumberland, Md.
Gentlemen:

"Please accept this donation as a token of appreciation for the good work the International Red Cross has done toward the relieving of human suffering in this war.

"Neither dollars, nor words can fully reflect the amount of good done by the Red Cross organizations throughout the world."

Respectfully,
EUGENE T. FLEISCHHAUR,
(Ex-P.O.W.)

Accompanying the letter was a check for $50.

conflict with the earlier date, there is no assurance on that point here. A number of newsmen from Washington(assigned to cover the atom experiment, had planned to start for the Pacific next week.

Foreigners Not Yet Invited

Only a few hours before the White House announced the delay, it was disclosed that invitations for foreign observers and congressmen to witness the tests had not yet gone out.

The particular point was given little weight in unofficial discussions tonight, but some objections had been voiced on Capitol hill to the whole idea of letting foreigners get that close to the secret.

Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, issued the announcement for President Truman. A reporter asked him if all the reasons for the postponement appeared in the statement, and he answered that it covered the ground.

Asked specifically if the international situation had any bearing, Ross replied that he could not go beyond the statement but he added that he had no reason to believe there were any international implications.

"The president announced tonight that the atom bomb tests in the Pacific will be delayed about six weeks.

Two Bombs To Be Dropped

"The tests, calling for the detonation of two atomic bombs in Bikini atoll, had been scheduled May 15 for the first, an air drop, and July 1, a surface burst.

"The postponement is prompted by the fact that a large number of congressmen have expressed a desire to witness both these tests, but owing to the heavy legislative schedule would be prevented from doing so if the tests were held on the dates originally fixed."

A reporter pointed out that the original announcement of the tests had come from the navy and inquired if there were any significance in the fact that the postponement was announced from the White House.

Ross replied that everybody seemed to want something from the president. Smiling, he commented that White House telephones had been pretty busy since first reports of the delay came out early in the evening.

Nothing was said by Ross as to the source of the postponement idea.

It was apparent that the decision was somewhat abrupt, since "Operation Crossroads" officers had held a news conference only today to give reporters a few additional technical details on plans. At that time they were proceeding on the assumption that the experiment would proceed as scheduled.

Gonder Wants Park Developed in Garrett

OAKLAND, Md., March 22 (AP)—State Senator Bernard I. Gonder (D-Garrett), said today the state could save "several hundred thousand dollars" by developing a forest park near Oakland, because "the playground is already here."

Gonder declared opposition was not contemplated to the Bayside Park Development for which sites are now under consideration by a seven-man committee appointed by Governor O'Conor.

"But with all the fuss about a Bayside Park on the Chesapeake, which might cost up to half a million dollars—and still be 200 miles from Maryland's summer playground here in Garrett county—it's time we pointed out a few facts," Gonder said.

He claimed the Bayside Park would be useful principally in the summer, and in the summer "much of the population around the Chesapeake comes to Garrett county."

Gonder asked why the state forest already existing in Garrett county could not be developed "at a cost of about $10,000."

ing, March 16, at 11 o'clock. Rev. Reece Burns, pastor of the Bethel Methodist church, of the Park, officiated.

The bride is a yeoman first class of the WAVES, and is stationed at the research laboratory in Washington. She was attired in a beige suite with brown accessories and had an orchid corsage. Mrs. Robert H. Stevenson was her only attendant while Mr. Robert Stevenson was his brother's best man. The bride was maid of honor for Mrs. Robert Stevenson, at her wedding several months ago.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at Pickwick Inn, for members of the family.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Oakland High school, and Washington college, Chestertown, and at the time he entered service he was history intsructor in Oakland high school. He was given an honorable discharge from the army air corps about the middle of February. He was last stationed at Bolling Field, D. C., as a sergeant and served about three years at various air fields in the United States. He is now located in Washington with the Retail Credit Association.

Wed in Washington

Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Hauser, Oakland, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Josephine, to Mr. Frank H. Gelley, Jr., of Cleveland, Ohio. Mrs. Gelley, who at the time of her marriage, was a sergeant in the United States Marine Corps Women's reserve, was married at the Elbrook Methodist church in Washington, D. C., on Friday, March 1.

Both bride and groom were attired in the uniform of the Marine corps for the ceremony. The bride wore a corsage of white rosebuds. Her only attendant was her sister, Sgt. Maxine Frantz, and she had a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Gelley received her discharge from the marine reserve, on Thursday, March 14, and spent two days at the home of her parents before leaving for Cleveland to join her husband. Mr. Gelley was also recently discharged from the marine corps following forty months of service, twenty-eight of which were spent in the South Pacific attached to the Third Marine division. The couple will reside in Cleveland.

Eleven Are Inducted

Eleven registrants who were sent to the induction station in Baltimore on March 12, were accepted for service, according to H. L. Jones, chief clerk of the draft board.

One registrant, Lawrence Junior Cooper, Mt. Lake Park, was accepted for military service. The following were for general military service: Vincent Spicher, Friendsville; Edward W. Yencensky, Kitzmiller; Lester E. Teets, Terra Alta; Ellis L. Rounds, Swanton; Chester F. Gaither, Swanton; Bernard C. Barnard, Swanton; Paul S. Bittinger, Jennings; Howard F. Judge See Rules

Judge See Rules Susan M. Fleek Will Is Valid

Executor Order To Pay Residuary of Estate to Church Trustees

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., March 22—The case of Floyd Umstott and others vs A. A. Jordan, executor of the will of Susan M. Fleek, pending for several months before the Circuit Court of Mineral county, was completed at a special term of court Thursday, when Judge Ernest A. See signed an order directing Jordan to pay the residuary of the said Susan M. Fleek estate to the trustees of the Moorefield district of the Methodist church.

In her will Susan M. Fleek bequeathed the bulk of her estate amounting to several thousand dollars to the trustees of Moorefield District of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, for the use of the ministers of that church serving the several charges of the district.

Relatives Raised Question

The question was raised by Floyd Umstott and others, relatives of the deceased Susan M. Fleek, as to whether that portion of the will relating to the bequest to trustees of the Moorefield district of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, would stand; because at the time the will was made the Methodist Episcopal church, South, had ceased to exist because of the unification of the two branches of the Methodist Episcopal church and the Methodist Protestant church, the United church taking the name, The Methodist church.

In his ruling Judge See held that in the uniting of the three Methodist churches into one body, the entity of the Moorefield district of the Methodist church, South was not lost but continued and easily identified in its relations to the new body, the Methodist church. In his order the court pointed out that five of the seven trustees of the Moorefield district, serving before the church merger, are still living and serving on the body of trustees for the district under the new church organization; That two then living have since died and their successors appointed.

The board of trustees for Moorefield district of The Methodist church at the present time are E. W. Noland, J. W. Crawford, W. H. Barger, B. F. Mitchell, T. E. Schaeffer, Harlan M. Calhoun and J. H. Cheshire. The court order directs executor Jordan to pay the residuary of the estate, amounting to approximately $20,000, to these men or to their attorney, J. S. Zimmerman, for the use of the ministers serving the Methodist church at the following charges which represent Moorefield district of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, as it was known to Susan M. Fleek at the time her will was made:

Six Additional Candidates File In Garrett County

Lawrence M. Fraley Is Seeking GOP Nomination for State Senate

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, Md., March 22—Candidates began to be more numerous this week with six additional ones announcing, with a larger number expected next week. The deadline for filing is April 15, for the primary election on June 24.

Lawrence M. Fraley, who is retiring as mayor of Oakland after serving sixteen years, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the state senate. Fraley has served as postmaster of Oakland, as mayor and city councilmen for twenty-two years, was civilian defense director for the southern section of the county during the war and is one of the organizers and active members of the Oakland Fire Department.

He is a life long resident of this county and has been an active party worker for a number of years, having served as chairman of the Republican committee and having been a delegate from Mary.and at national Republican conventions.

Senator Bernard J Gonder, Democratic, is a candidate for re-election.

Two members of the board of county commissioners, John W. Herman and Jonas W. Sines, have announced for renomination and re-election on the Republican ticket. In the new division of the county for the purpose o electing commissioners, these men will be from different sections, Herman being from District 5, and Sines from District 14.

Herman served as commissioner 1934 to 1938, but was not a candidate in 1938, but was successful again in 1942. Sines first ran for public office four years ago and was high man among the candidates for that office. He has been a lifetime resident of the county. He manages a farm and is active in ministerial work in the Church of the Brethren.

Others out for county commissioner on the Republican ticket are Elmer Shawley, of District 12, Stewart Stahl, of District 3, near Grantsville. Earle Glotfelty, McHenry, has announced as a candidate for member of the Republican state central committee.

Arthur H. Green, Swanton, stated that his official anncuncement as a candidate for the office of county treasurer, on the Republican ticket definitely would be made next week. Green said that although he had intended to announce for the Maryland Senate, certain circumstances beyond his control had compelled him to change his plans. Therefore he said he would not be a candidate for the Senate or for the House of Delegates at this time.

Fish Distributed

The state game and fish commission distributed 486 large bass in Deep Creek Lake on Wednesday afternoon, it was announced by Bernard I. Gonder, who received the information from Frank Bentz, secretary to the commission.

Mr. Gonder said the bass weighed three, four and five pounds. It is hoped that more will be stocked in the near future. The season in the Lake opens on July 1.

Mr. Gonder also announced that it was planned to put 500,000 perch in the lake in the near future and that the commission has also promised the first carload of bass which were to be shipped to them from the midwest sometime this year.

Midlothian Assembly of God Church Organizes Orchestra

The Assembly of God Church at Midlothian recently organized an orchestra, which presents musical numbers at the Sunday evening services. The church choir is also being reorganized to furnish music for the morning service.

The Assembly of God church, the only house of worship in Midlothian, established in 1915 by the Rev. A. B. Cox, an evangelist, has grown steadily and in addition to a large congregation has a Sunday school with a weekly attendance of 150 pupils.

The pastors of the church since the Rev. Mr. Cox left in the order of their service, are the Reverends William Pope, William Cope, William Burkhart, Harry Glover, L. T. Stewart, Albert Ark, H. B. Kelchner and the present pastor, Edwin S. Stevenson.

In addition to Sunday morning and evening services and the Sunday school, services are held every Thursday evening. The midweek service is in charge of Mrs. Stevenson, wife of the pastor, who is a Bible student. The pastor also conducts services Wednesday and Saturday nights in the Junior Order hall, Frostburg, for the benefit of communicants from that city, and a special bus is run to Midlothian every Sunday from Frostburg for the accommodation of Frostburgers who attend the church.

The congregation recently had the church structure redecorated in cream and dark oak and the pews and other furnishing were also refinished. In addition to the church building the congregation owns a spacious parsonage in Midlothian.

Present members of the offical board are Leroy Robinson, Howard Skidmore, Everett Ark, Wilbert Richards, James Shimer and Gerald Hager.

According to residents of Midlothian, the church is giving constructive service in Midlothian and the surrounding district.

Bequest for Hospital Is Accepted By Garrett County Commissioners

Formal Resolution Approving $175,000 Building Being Prepared

Oakland, Md., March 22 — The Board of Garrett County Commissioners has agreed to accept a bequest of $175,000 by the late George W. Loar for a hospital in Oakland and a formal resolution is being prepared, according to John W. Herman, president of the board.

The action was announced following a meeting of the board with the hospital committee.

Whether or not the structure would be built this year was not determined, but members of the committee and the commissioners are anxious that it be started soon.

Report Presented

Lawrence M. Fraley, chairman of the committee, read the report to the commissioners and also read from a number of letters that had been received from heads of hospitals in reply to a questionnaire which the committee had sent out.

The formal acceptance was made necessary within a year following Mr. Loar's death which occurred on January 27. This was a provision in his will which stipulated that the building should be of size, design and type suitable and appropriate to the needs of this community and its ability to support and maintain the same. It also stated that before any steps were taken towards its erection the County Commissioners should agree by proper resolution to accept, maintain and support the hospital under a joint control of county commissioners and an advisory committee of five persons. He also provided that if the commissioners failed to adopt the resolution or to accept the bequest with the regulations mentioned within one year from the date of his death, that the money would go elsewhere.

The will originally provided $125,000, with $10,000 additional to include landscaping of the hospital grounds, and also $5,000 additional for support and maintenance of hospital during period immediately following completion and its opening. A codicil to the will added $35,000 making $160,000 for actual construction and equipping.

The town of Oakland has offered the hospital site, the former Helbig property, at the north edge of town, now used as a community park.

Committee Report

The complete report of the committee follows:

"Your committee, after very careful consideration of information that we have received from a number of hospitals, and after having two very enthusiastic meetings at the City Hall in Oakland, in the very first place, want to heartily endorse the hospital and respectfully urge that the bequest be accepted.

"In making a study of this responsibility, we prepared a questionnaire which was mailed to 12 hospitals. The majority of these questionnaires were answered in a cooperative spirit and have given us valuable information upon which to base our recommendations and which will also be valuable as permanent records to which you can refer from time to time.

"Members of this committee also personally contacted many citizens, while a number of others came to us voluntarily. The hospital seems to be a vital interest to these people and not once have we heard adverse criticism. Many made offers of cash and equipment if and when the hospital becomes a reality, and we also recommend that you as commissioners set up some special fund, get a written record of these offers, and to be prepared to accept all such contributions as might be offered, to be known as a hospital fund.

"The committee felt that if possible the plans in general as prepared by the late Mr. Loar, be followed as closely as is practical, and that the hospital should be 47 to 50 beds in capacity.

Cost Considered

"You asked for information about probable cost of operation, number of employees needed, and other technical information. This is all supplied in the letters we received from various hospitals and which are part of this report. You will find in these letters that the cost of construction runs from $3,000 to $8,000 per bed, with the average around $3,500 to $4,000. People of Meyersdale are expecting to construct a hospital at a cost of $2,700 per bed. Construction at Philippi was $3,000 per bed.

"We recommend that the hospital be maintained strictly as a business proposition, with a very competent director, and that the naming of the board of directors be carried through in accordance with Mr. Loar's will.

"We find that there are a few hospitals which actually operate at a profit. However the committee feels that operating at a profit is not the only matter involved. We have a responsibility to the citizens of this area to construct and maintain a hospital here, and feel that the taxpayers would be willing to help bear the cost of maintenance from year to year, should there ever be any deficit.

"Members of this committee have been happy to serve in this capacity and assure the Commissioners that if they desire any further information we stand ready at all times to cooperate with them to the fullest extent."

The report was signed by the following members of the committee: Lawrence M. Fraley, chairman; Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, Dr. A. E. Mance, Mrs. E. Z. Tower, Harvey Gortner, Quincy Murphy, B. I. Gonder, Milton Pritts, Lester Yutzy and George H. Hanst.

Before concluding the meeting the commissioners asked that the members of the committee be retained for the time being.

Miss McNamee has announced that there is plenty of material on hand for the workers and shes tressed the need of Red Cross sewing as much at the present time as during the war.

The Mt. Savage Vounteer Fire Department was called to extinguish two flue fires yesterday. The fires were at the homes of Isaac Hook and Wilbur Geary, Dutch Hollow, and no damage was done in either case.

Funeral services for Lawrence Malloy will be held at a requiem mass in St. Patrick's Catholic church, at 9 o'clock. The Rev. Michael Smyth will officiate.

Francis J. Williams, seaman first class, returned to Washington yesterday after spending a twenty-day furlough visiting his mother, Mrs. Birdget Williams. A brother, James B. Williams, was honorably discharged from the army recently, after two and one half years of service. He received his basic training at Camp Stewart, Ga., and Camp Haan, California, and served two years in the European theater. He received five battle stars and the presidential citation. The boys are also the sons of the late Brad Williams.

Richard Horning Crushed to Death In Coal Mine

By W. A. SHOEMAKER

MEYERSDALE, Pa., March 22—Richard Henry Horning, 76, was crushed to death Wednesday afternoon under a fall of rock in the mine of the Horning Fuel Company, which is operated by one of his sons.

The coroner, Dr. A. M. Uphouse reported that death resulted from a crushed skull and face and a fracture of the left leg. The coroner stated that Mr. Horning was probably killed instantly about 11:30 a. m., although it was nearly three hours later when his body was discovered. Workers in other parts of the mine said they did not hear the rock fall.

Mr. Horning was a coal miner most of his life. Relatives tried to persuade him to retire from work owing to his advanced age but he persisted in working as long as he felt able to do so, and there was work to do. He was a lifelong resident of Meyersdale and vicinity, having been born near here on October 25, 1870, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Horning, natives of Germany. He was a member of the Amity Evangelical and Reformed church.

Surviving are eight children—George L. Horning, Berlin, operator of the mine in which his father was killed; Edward R. Horning, John W. Horning, James R. Horning, Clarence W. Horning, Mrs. R. E. Tattarelli, and Mrs. H. A. Pfeiffferall of Meyersdale, and Harry L. Horning, Red Lion. Also surviving are three sisters and one brother—Mrs. Lena Latin, Indiana; Mrs. Edith Pritts, Salem, Ohio; Mrs. Emma Altman and Mrs. William Parks, both of Greensburg; Paul Horning, Wilkinsburg, and 23 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Horning home, 400 Beachly street, at 2:30 Saturday afternoon, with the Rev. Nelson C. Brown, pastor of Amity Evangelical and Reformed church, officiating. Interment in Union cemetery, Meyersdale.

Contributions Increase

Contributions to the Community hospital fund picked up considerably during the past week, according to the list compiled since the last report. However, there is still ample time to join the ranks of those whose gifts will make the hospital a reality.

The largest single benefit project sponsored for the hospital fund, and by it the Meyersdale Lions Club cleared the sum of $1,500, which will be turned over to the hospital authorities this week. The event was celebrated by the Lion with a well attended dance Monday night in the high school auditorium with music furnished by Buddy Wills orchestra, of Johnstown.

Will Buy Fire Truck

At the meeting of the borough council Tuesday evening it was decided to issue bonds in the sum of $8,500 for the purchase of a modern fire truck. The members of the fire department have already contracted for a fine fire truck to be used in rural service, and which will be paid for jointly by the rural folks of the Meyersdale district and the members of the fire company.

Mrs. Hilda Hostetler was appointed a member of the borough board of auditors in place of Robert G. Miller, resigned.

Names were suggested for the position of collector of the sewer taxes, and one will probably be named for appointment at the regular meeting of the council on Tuesday evening, April 2nd.

Mr. Parent, of Erie, in charge of the project for installation of the parking meters, was present and reported progress.

Judge See Rules Susan M. Fleek Will Is Valid

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., March 22—The case of Floyd Umstott and others vs A. A. Jordan, executor of the will of Susan M. Fleek, pending for several months before the Circuit Court of Mineral county, was completed at a special term of court Thursday, when Judge Ernest A. See signed an order directing Jordan to pay the residuary of the said Susan M. Fleek estate to the trustees of the Moorefield district of the Methodist church.

In her will Susan M. Fleek bequeathed the bulk of her estate amounting to several thousand dollars to the trustees of Moorefield District of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, for the use of the ministers of that church serving the several charges of the district.

Relatives Raised Question

The question was raised by Floyd Umstott and others, relatives of the deceased Susan M. Fleek, as to whether that portion of the will relating to the bequest to trustees of the Moorefield district of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, would stand; because at the time the will was made the Methodist Episcopal church, South, had ceased to exist because of the unification of the two branches of the Methodist Episcopal church and the Methodist Protestant church, the United church taking the name, The Methodist church.

In his ruling Judge See held that in the uniting of the three Methodist churches into one body, the entity of the Moorefield district of the Methodist church, South was not lost but continued and easily identified in its relations to the new body, the Methodist church. In his order the court pointed out that five of the seven trustees of the Moorefield district, serving before the church merger, are still living and serving on the body of trustees for the district under the new church organization; That two then living have since died and their successors appointed.

The board of trustees for Moorefield district of The Methodist church at the present time are E. W. Noland, J. W. Crawford, W. H. Barger, B. F. Mitchell, T. E. Schaeffer, Harlan M. Calhoun and J. H. Cheshire. The court order directs executor Jordan to pay the residuary of the estate, amounting to approximately $20,000, to these men or to their attorney, J. S. Zimmerman, for the use of the ministers serving the Methodist church at the following charges which represent Moorefield district of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, as it was known to Susan M. Fleek at the time her will was made:

Six Additional Candidates File In Garrett County

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, Md., March 22—Candidates began to be more numerous this week with six additional ones announcing, with a larger number expected next week. The deadline for filing is April 15, for the primary election on June 24.

Lawrence M. Fraley, who is retiring as mayor of Oakland after serving sixteen years, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the state senate. Fraley has served as postmaster of Oakland, as mayor and city councilmen for twenty-two years, was civilian defense director for the southern section of the county during the war and is one of the organizers and active members of the Oakland Fire Department.

He is a life long resident of this county and has been an active party worker for a number of years, having served as chairman of the Republican committee and having been a delegate from Mary.and at national Republican conventions.

Senator Bernard J Gonder, Democratic, is a candidate for re-election.

Two members of the board of county commissioners, John W. Herman and Jonas W. Sines, have announced for renomination and reelection on the Republican ticket. In the new division of the county for the purpose o electing commissioners, these men will be from different sections, Herman being from District 5, and Sines from District 14.

Herman served as commissioner 1934 to 1938, but was not a candidate in 1938, but was successful again in 1942. Sines first ran for public office four years ago and was high man among the candidates for that office. He has been a lifetime resident of the county. He manages a farm and is active in ministerial work in the Church of the Brethren.

Others out for county commissioner on the Republican ticket are Elmer Shawley, of District 12, Stewart Stahl, of District 3, near Grantsville, Earle Glotfelty, McHenry, has announced as a candidate for member of the Republican state central committee.

Arthur H. Green, Swanton, stated that his official anncuncement as a candidate for the office of county treasurer, on the Republican ticket definitely would be made next week. Green said that although he had intended to announce for the Maryland Senate, certain circumstances beyond his control had compelled him to change his plans. Therefore he said he would not be a candidate for the Senate or for the House of Delegates at this time.

Fish Distributed

The state game and fish commission distributed 486 large bass in Deep Creek Lake on Wednesday afternoon, it was announced by Bernard I. Gonder, who received the information from Frank Bentz, secretary to the commission.

Mr. Gonder said the bass weighed three, four and five pounds. It is hoped that more will be stocked in the near future. The season in the Lake opens on July 1.

Mr. Gonder also announced that it was planned to put 500,000 perch in the lake in the near future and that the commission has also promised the first carload of bass which were to be shipped to them from the midwest sometime this year.

Midlothian Assembly of God Church Organizes Orchestra

The Assembly of God Church at Midlothian recently organized an orchestra, which presents musical numbers at the Sunday evening services. The church choir is also being reorganized to furnish music for the morning service.

The Assembly of God church, the only house of worship in Midlothian, established in 1915 by the Rev. A. B. Cox, an evangelist, has grown steadily and in addition to a large congregation has a Sunday school with a weekly attendance of 150 pupils.

The pastors of the church since the Rev. Mr. Cox left in the order of their service, are the Reverends William Pope, William Cope, William Burkhart, Harry Glover, L. T. Stewart, Albert Ark, H. B. Kelchner and the present pastor, Edwin S. Stevenson.

In addition to Sunday morning and evening services and the Sunday school, services are held every Thursday evening. The midweek service is in charge of Mrs. Stevenson, wife of the pastor, who is a Bible student. The pastor also conducts services Wednesday and Saturday nights in the Junior Order hall, Frostburg, for the benefit of communicants from that city, and a special bus is run to Midlothian every Sunday from Frostburg for the accommodation of Frostburgers who attend the church.

The congregation recently had the church structure redecorated in cream and dark oak and the pews and other furnishing were also refinished. In addition to the church building the congregation owns a spacious parsonage in Midlothian.

Present members of the offical board are Leroy Robinson, Howard Skidmore, Everett Ark, Wilbert Richards, James Shimer and Gerald Hager.

According to residents of Midlothian, the church is giving constructive service in Midlothian and the surrounding district.

Formal Resolution Approving $175,000 Building Being Prepared

Oakland, Md., March 22 — The Board of Garrett County Commissioners has agreed to accept a bequest of $175,000 by the late George W. Loar for a hospital in Oakland and a formal resolution is being prepared, according to John W. Herman, president of the board.

The action was announced following a meeting of the board with the hospital committee.

Whether or not the structure would be built this year was not determined, but members of the committee and the commissioners are anxious that it be started soon.

Report Presented

Lawrence M. Fraley, chairman of the committee, read the report to the commissioners and also read from a number of letters that had been received from heads of hospitals in reply to a questionnaire which the committee had sent out.

The formal acceptance was made necessary within a year following Mr. Loar's death which occurred on January 27. This was a provision in his will which stipulated that the building should be of size, design and type suitable and appropriate to the needs of this community and its ability to support and maintain the same. It also stated that before any steps were taken towards its erection the County Commissioners should agree by proper resolution to accept, maintain and support the hospital under a joint control of county commissioners and an advisory committee of five persons. He also provided that if the commissioners failed to adopt the resolution or to accept the bequest with the regulations mentioned within one year from the date of his death, that the money would go elsewhere.

The will originally provided $125,000, with $10,000 additional to include landscaping of the hospital grounds, and also $5,000 additional for support and maintenance of hospital during period immediately following completion and its opening. A codicil to the will added $35,000 making $160,000 for actual construction and equipping.

The town of Oakland has offered the hospital site, the former Helbig property, at the north edge of town, now used as a community park.

Committee Report

The complete report of the committee follows:

"Your committee, after very careful consideration of information that we have received from a number of hospitals, and after having two very enthusiastic meetings at the City Hall in Oakland, in the very first place, want to heartily endorse the hospital and respectfully urge that the bequest be accepted.

"In making a study of this responsibility, we prepared a questionnaire which was mailed to 12 hospitals. The majority of these questionnaires were answered in a cooperative spirit and have given us valuable information upon which to base our recommendations and which will also be valuable as permanent records to which you can refer from time to time.

"Members of this committee also personally contacted many citizens, while a number of others came to us voluntarily. The hospital seems to be a vital interest to these people and not once have we heard adverse criticism. Many made offers of cash and equipment if and when the hospital becomes a reality, and we also recommend that you as commissioners set up some special fund, get a written record of these offers, and to be prepared to accept all such contributions as might be offered, to be known as a hospital fund.

"The committee felt that if possible the plans in general as prepared by the late Mr. Loar, be followed as closely as is practical, and that the hospital should be 47 to 50 beds in capacity.

Cost Considered

"You asked for information about probable cost of operation, number of employees needed, and other technical information. This is all supplied in the letters we received from various hospitals and which are part of this report. You will find in these letters that the cost of construction runs from $3,000 to $8,000 per bed, with the average around $3,500 to $4,000. People of Meyersdale are expecting to construct a hospital at a cost of $2,700 per bed. Construction at Philippi was $3,000 per bed.

"We recommend that the hospital be maintained strictly as a business proposition, with a very competent director, and that the naming of the board of directors be carried through in accordance with Mr. Loar's will.

"We find that there are a few hospitals which actually operate at a profit. However the committee feels that operating at a profit is not the only matter involved. We have a responsibility to the citizens of this area to construct and maintain a hospital here, and feel that the taxpayers would be willing to help bear the cost of maintenance from year to year, should there ever be any deficit.

"Members of this committee have been happy to serve in this capacity and assure the Commissioners that if they desire any further information we stand ready at all times to cooperate with them to the fullest extent."

The report was signed by the following members of the committee: Lawrence M. Fraley, chairman; Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, Dr. A. E. Mance, Mrs. E. Z. Tower, Harvey Gortner, Quincy Murphy, B. I. Gonder, Milton Pritts, Lester Yutzy and George H. Hanst.

Before concluding the meeting the commissioners asked that the members of the committee be retained for the time being.

By W. A. SHOEMAKER

MEYERSDALE, Pa., March 22—Richard Henry Horning, 76, was crushed to death Wednesday afternoon under a fall of rock in the mine of the Horning Fuel Company, which is operated by one of his sons.

The coroner, Dr. A. M. Uphouse reported that death resulted from a crushed skull and face and a fracture of the left leg. The coroner stated that Mr. Horning was probably killed instantly about 11:30 a. m., although it was nearly three hours later when his body was discovered. Workers in other parts of the mine said they did not hear the rock fall.

Mr. Horning was a coal miner most of his life. Relatives tried to persuade him to retire from work owing to his advanced age, but he persisted in working as long as he felt able to do so, and there was work to do. He was a lifelong resident of Meyersdale and vicinity, having been born near here on October 25, 1870, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Horning, natives of Germany. He was a member of the Amity Evangelical and Reformed church.

Surviving are eight children—George L. Horning, Berlin, operator of the mine in which his father was killed; Edward R. Horning, John W. Horning, James R. Horning, Clarence W. Horning, Mrs. R. E. Tattarelli, and Mrs. H. A. Pfeifferall of Meyersdale, and Harry L. Horning, Red Lion. Also surviving are three sisters and one brother—Mrs. Lena Latin, Indiana; Mrs. Edith Pritts, Salem, Ohio; Mrs. Emma Altman and Mrs. William Parks, both of Greensburg; Paul Horning, Wilkinsburg, and 23 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Horning home, 400 Beachly street, at 2:30 Saturday afternoon, with the Rev. Nelson C. Brown, pastor of Amity Evangelical and Reformed church, officiating. Interment in Union cemetery, Meyersdale.

Contributions Increase

Contributions to the Community hospital fund picked up considerably during the past week, according to the list compiled since the last report. However, there is still ample time to join the ranks of those whose gifts will make the hospital a reality.

The largest single benefit project sponsored for the hospital fund, and by it the Meyersdale Lions Club cleared the sum of $1,500, which will be turned over to the hospital authorities this week. The event was celebrated by the Lions with a well attended dance Monday night in the high school auditorium with music furnished by Buddy Wills orchestra, of Johnstown.

Will Buy Fire Truck

At the meeting of the borough council Tuesday evening it was decided to issue bonds in the sum of $8,500 for the purchase of a modern fire truck. The members of the fire department have already contracted for a fine fire truck to be used in rural service, and which will be paid for jointly by the rural folks of the Meyersdale district and the members of the fire company.

Mrs. Hilda Hostetler was appointed a member of the borough board of auditors in place of Robert O. Miller, resigned.

Names were suggested for the position of collector of the sewer taxes, and one will probably be named for appointment at the regular meeting of the council on Tuesday evening, April 2nd.

Mr. Parent, of Erie, in charge of the project for installation of the parking meters, was present and reported progress.

COMPASSION: "When he saw him he had compassion on him." Luke 10.33. Read Zechariah 7:8-10; Psalm 86:13-17.

There are words like the sound of rain on dry fields, or quiet music with a pulse of power; words of benediction. Compassion is one of these elect words, because compassion is one of the elect qualities of the spirit. It is, says the dictionary, "sorrow or pity, excited by the distress or misfortune of others." But it is no detached pity, it is the sharing of the heart.

Compassion is always tender, mercifully ministrant, and must be very understanding. Compassion take account of weakness and limitations. It is never hasty in judgment and gently patient. It may hurt, but its hurting, like a surgeon's touch, is for healing and it is the beginning of reconciliation. The need of it is now everywhere in a world whose enmities forbade compassion. How else can we live together?

PRAYER: O Lord, because we ourselves have such need of compassion, give us a more abundant measure of the grace of compassion for others and mercifully extend its healing ministries for thy self-stricken world. In the name of the divinely compassionate. Amen.

Local Man Is Charged With Firing Rifle

A man booked as Joseph Luckiewicz, 425 Arch street, posted $25 bond Thursday for a hearing in police court today at 9 o'clock on a charge of discharging firearms within the city limits.

The local man was arrested Wednesday evening by Detective Edwin R. Lilya. Police said the arrest followed the report by a G. W. McDonald, 304 Virginia avenue, that a water tank at his home was pierced by a .22 caliber bullet.

According to police, Luckiewicz said he had been target practicing along the canal Sunday and that a bullet became jammed in the gun. The man was enroute home when he decided to take the weapon apart to remove the faulty charge when it went off, police said.

LISTEN WORLD

By ELSIE ROBINSON
(Registered U.S. Patent Office)

HOLD ON TO YOURSELF

Hold on to yourself these days!
Have faith in yourself!
Keep believing that you have what it takes—and if you need more, it's yours for the asking!
I know—things don't look very promising. This postwar world is a tough place. It's tough for you who were at the battle line and tough for us who fought it out here at home. It's tough, everywhere for everyone. And there's just one way to find the courage and strength to see us through. Meaning what?
Meaning—Hold on to yourself!
Have faith in yourself!

Keeping believing that you have what it takes, and if you need more it's yours for the asking!

For you have, and it's true.

You listen—but you doubt. You think of the tremendous changes which have taken place in the world. Perhaps you're out of a job, out of a home. You feel lost. When will you ever feel safe and secure again? When will you find your niche in life? How can you—

Stop it! Don't feed yourself such doubt and gloom. Stop and face the real facts of your life.

Sure, the world has changed—but it isn't any more strange or difficult or dangerous than it was when you entered it as a baby.

You don't know your way around now? But neither did you then!

You feel lost and out of place today? But so did you in childhood!

You have to break a fresh trail for yourself in this unknown post war world? But you had to do the same when you started before.

So why the griping? Bad as things are you're not tackling any tougher problem now than when you first started. You succeeded then and you made a place for yourself. And where did you find your real strength? Not from a government pension. Not from some boss or friend.

You found your real and lasting strength in yourself and in that mysterious source which created you and gave you power as you went along. And that's where you'll find the strength you need today. It's still there, in yourself. So stop griping and start looking.

Hold on to yourself!
Have faith in yourself!
Keep believing that you have what it takes and if you need more, it's yours for the asking!

Rites for Veteran

SALISBURY, Md., March 22 (AP)—Sgt. James R. McAllister, killed in an automobile accident at Memphis, Tenn., was given a military funeral here today. The Twenty-ninth division veteran who reenlisted a month ago, is survived by his widow, a young son, his mother and several brothers and sisters.

McCormick Says Mails Save Time on Sugar Ration Applications

Leo H. McCormick, Maryland OPA state director, said yesterday that veterans and the public generally can save time and avoid inconvenience by using the mails, instead of making personal calls at their OPA offices for sugar ration applications and other rationing matters.

Applications for sugar rations may be obtained at any of the price control boards and at the state office but it is not necessary to make personal calls; they may be had by mail and without the loss of time required for a special trip to one of the offices, the OPA director stated.

Commission Receives Airport Tractor Bid

A recommendation that a tractor and mower be purchased for use at the airport has been made to the mayor and city council by the Municipal Airport Commission, according to T. Donald Shires, commission secretary.

The commission advertised for bids and received only one offering, The Rish Equipment Company, Clarksburg, W. Va., with Arnold Childers, Keyser, as agent, bid $756.28 for an International tractor and $193 for a five-foot mower. Rish, according to Childers, is International industrial agent for this area. No bids were received for a roller or a trailer.

Under the ordinance establishing the commission the mayor and council must approve capital expenditures. In asking the council for approval the commission points out the equipment will be available for use by the street department in cutting weeds.

BUSY mothers are grateful for the way Clorox helps them in performing everyday household tasks. For instance, Clorox removes stubborn stains—such as fruit, beverage, grass, blood, many ink, dye and medicine stains—even scorch and mildew—from white and color-fast cottons and linens. Clorox also bleaches white cottons and linens snowy-white (brightens fast colors), makes laundry fresh, sanitary. Clorox lessens rubbing, conserving fabrics and time.
In household cleaning, too, Clorox helps mothers by disinfecting and deodorizing to make home a more healthful place. Simply follow directions on label.

SATURDAY, MARCH 23

COMPASSION: "When he saw him he had compassion on him." Luke 10.33. Read Zechariah 7:8-10; Psalm 86:13-17.

There are words like the sound of rain on dry fields, or quiet music with a pulse of power; words of benediction. Compassion is one of these elect words, because compassion is one of the elect qualities of the spirit. It is, says the dictionary, "sorrow or pity, excited by the distress or misfortune of others." But it is no detached pity, it is the sharing of the heart.

Compassion is always tender, mercifully ministrant, and must be very understanding. Compassion take account of weakness and limitations. It is never hasty in judgment and gently patient. It may hurt, but its hurting, like a surgeon's touch, is for healing and it is the beginning of reconciliation. The need of it is now everywhere in a world whose enmities forbade compassion. How else can we live together?

PRAYER: O Lord, because we ourselves have such need of compassion, give us a more abundant measure of the grace of compassion for others and mercifully extend its healing ministries for thy self-stricken world. In the name of the divinely compassionate. Amen.

Local Man Is Charged With Firing Rifle

A man booked as Joseph Luckiewicz, 425 Arch street, posted $25 bond Thursday for a hearing in police court today at 9 o'clock on a charge of discharging firearms within the city limits.

The local man was arrested Wednesday evening by Detective Edwin R. Lilya. Police said the arrest followed the report by a G. W. McDonald, 304 Virginia avenue, that a water tank at his home was pierced by a .22 caliber bullet.

According to police, Luckiewicz said he had been target practicing along the canal Sunday and that a bullet became jammed in the gun. The man was enroute home when he decided to take the weapon apart to remove the faulty charge when it went off, police said.

LISTEN WORLD

By ELSIE ROBINSON
(Registered U.S. Patent Office)

HOLD ON TO YOURSELF

Hold on to yourself these days!
Have faith in yourself!
Keep believing that you have what it takes—and if you need more, it's yours for the asking!

I know—things don't look very promising. This postwar world is a tough place. It's tough for you who were at the battle line and tough for us who fought it out here at home. It's tough everywhere for everyone. And there's just one way to find the courage and strength to see us through. Meaning what?

Meaning—Hold on to yourself!
Have faith in yourself!

Keeping believing that you have what it takes, and if you need more it's yours for the asking!
For you have, and it's true.

You listen—but you doubt. You think of the tremendous changes which have taken place in the world. Perhaps you're out of a job, out of a home. You feel lost. When will you ever feel safe and secure again? When will you find your niche in life? How can you—

Stop it! Don't feed yourself such doubt and gloom. Stop and face the real facts of your life.

Sure, the world has changed—but it isn't any more strange or difficult or dangerous than it was when you entered it as a baby.

You don't know your way around now? But neither did you then!

You feel lost and out of place today? But so did you in childhood!

You have to break a fresh trail for yourself in this unknown post war world? But you had to do the same when you started before.

So why the griping? Bad as things are you're not tackling any tougher problem now than when you first started. You succeeded then and you made a place for yourself. And where did you find your real strength? Not from a government pension. Not from some boss or friend.

You found your real and lasting strength in yourself and in that mysterious source which created you and gave you power as you went along. And that's where you'll find the strength you need today. It's still there, in yourself. So stop griping and start looking.

Hold on to yourself!
Have faith in yourself!
Keep believing that you have what it takes and if you need more, it's yours for the asking!

McCormick Says Mails Save Time on Sugar Ration Applications

Leo H. McCormick, Maryland OPA state director, said yesterday that veterans and the public generally can save time and avoid inconvenience by using the mails, instead of making personal calls at their OPA offices for sugar ration applications and other rationing matters.

Applications for sugar rations may be obtained at any of the price control boards and at the state office but it is not necessary to make personal calls; they may be had by mail and without the loss of time required for a special trip to one of the offices, the OPA director stated.

Commission Receives Airport Tractor Bid

A recommendation that a tractor and mower be purchased for use at the airport has been made to the mayor and city council by the Municipal Airport Commission, according to T. Donald Shires, commission secretary.

The commission advertised for bids and received only one offering. The Rish Equipment Company, Clarksburg, W. Va., with Arnold Childers, Keyser, as agent, bid $756.28 for an International tractor and $193 for a five-foot mower. Rish, according to Childers, is International industrial agent for this area. No bids were received for a roller or a trailer.

Under the ordinance establishing the commission the mayor and council must approve capital expenditures. In asking the council for approval the commission points out the equipment will be available for use by the street department in cutting weeds.

Go to Church Sunday - Your Church - Any Church - But Go

WHERE DID THIS STORY BEGIN?

We call it "juvenile delinquency" and we discuss it as a social problem. But we can't ignore the fact that it's a true story of the wrecked lives of boys and girls. Its tragedy is written in the headlines of every newspaper. And behind those headlines are shattered hopes, broken hearts, prison bars and doomed lives.

Where did this story begin? In the streets and loitering places? No! It began in American homes . . . homes like our own. It began when millions of American parents overlooked the need of their children for religious training.

In the home must be made the decision to provide children with the spiritual and moral education that is required. The Church stands ready with a careful program of religious training for youth and spiritual guidance for adults. But parents, themselves, must decide to take advantage of that program.

Safeguard the future of your children. Enroll them in Sunday School and encourage their attendance. Foster their spiritual growth by worshipping regularly with them in the church of your choice.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the Church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church on Sunday.

School Baseball Teams Adopt 30-game Schedule

Paw Paw and LaSalle Will Open Tri-State Conference Season Here on April 23

Paw Paw (W. Va.) high school and LaSalle will launch the 1946 baseball campaign in the Tri-State Interscholastic Conference when they cross bats here Tuesday, April 23, it was announced following a meeting of representatives of the six clubs in the schoolboy circuit last night at the Cumberland Knights of Columbus home.

For the past several years the loop has functioned with five teams and was known as the Bi-State Interscholastic Conference because only Maryland and Pennsylvania schools were represented. This year, however, the conference becomes a tri-state affair due to the return of Paw Paw high, West Virginia entry.

A thirty-game schedule was adopted at last night's session over which Walter L. Bowers, of Allegany high school, presided. Representatives from other schools in attendance were Brothers Gregory and Thomas, of LaSalle; James McVicker, Hyndman; Bob Robertson, Pay Paw; Edward Finzel, Beall, and John J. Cavanaugh, Fort Hill.

The complete schedule is as follows:

Tuesday, April 23—Paw Paw at LaSalle.

Friday, April 26—LaSalle at Beall, Hyndman at Allegany, Paw Paw at Fort Hill.

Monday, April 29—Beall at Fort Hill.

Tuesday, April 30—Allegany at Paw Paw, Hyndman at LaSalle.

Friday, May 3—Beall at Allegany, Fort Hill at LaSalle, Paw Paw at Hyndman.

Tuesday, May 7—Fort Hill at Hyndman, Allegany at LaSalle, Paw Paw at Beall.

Friday, May 10—Hyndman at Beall, Allegany at Fort Hill, LaSalle at Paw Paw.

Tuesday, May 14—Beall at LaSalle, Allegany at Hyndman, Fort Hill at Paw Paw.

Friday, May 17—Fort Hill at Beall, Paw Paw at Allegany, LaSalle at Hyndman.

Tuesday, May 21 — Allegany at Beall, LaSalle at Fort Hill, Hyndman at Paw Paw.

Friday, May 24—Hyndman at Fort Hill, LaSalle at Allegany, Beall at Paw Paw.

Tuesday, May 28—Beall at Hyndman, Fort Hill at Allegany.

Gil Torres, Nats' Infielder, Jumps To Mexican League

WASHINGTON, March 22. (AP)—Gil Torres, Washington infielder, has jumped to the Mexican league, the Times-Herald said today.

In a dispatch from Washington's training camp at Orlando, Fla., the Times-Herald added:

"The information (about Torres jumping) came right off the boat (from Cuba) with Oliverio Ortiz, who reported to the Nats last night.

"Ortiz said that before he sailed from Havana he learned that Torres, who has been playing a contract-juggling game with Clark Griffith (Washington owner) since the opening of the training season, has definitely succumbed to the offer of moneyed Bernardo Pasquel, Mexican promoter, and plans to depart in the very near future for Mexico.

"Torres, Ortiz revealed, has been given a contract for three years at $12,500 per season and will manage one of the teams. Half of the salary already has been placed in a Cuban bank as guarantee of good faith."

Sunday School Teams Will Play for Title

Grace Methodist and First Presbyterian will battle it out today at 2:30 o'clock on the "Y" court for the championship of the YMCA Sunday School Basketball League.

"Bobby" Cavanaugh will officiate.

The league will hold its annual dinner Monday at 6:15 p. m. in the Central YMCA. The Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, chairman of the guest committee, reports that approximately 250 persons will attend.

Beckley Upsets Favored Weirton At Morgantown

Kingwood Is Eliminated by Charleston; Iaeger, Logan Bag Wins

By CHARLES ARMENTROUT

MOUNTAINEER FIELD HOUSE, Morgantown, W. Va., March 22. (AP)—Beckley upset favored Weirton 50 to 38 tonight in the first round of the thirty-third West Virginia scholastic basketball tournament before a record crowd of 6,280, largest ever to witness an indoor sports even in mountain state history.

The upset was the second of the night session, following lowest-rated Iaeger's 56 to 49 surprise beating of Weston.

The victories made Beckley and Iaeger foes in tomorrow afternoon's semi-finals, scheduled to start at 1:30 p. m. Logan and Stonewall Jackson of Charleston, winners of the afternoon's opening session games, will start off the second round. The finals will be played tomorrow night.

Logan turned back Victory of Clarksburg 51 to 48, and Stonewall subdued Kingwood, 64 to 50.

Coach Bill Callaghan's Iaeger five came back after trailing 28-26 at the intermission and grabbed the lead midway of the third to stay ahead from there on out.

Bill McKinley goaled to bring Iaeger back into a tie count of 35-all, fifth time the score had been knotted by the McDowell team up to that point. Ira Blankenship sank two free throws and the Callaghan team was victory bound.

The huge crowd saw Coach Claybourn Wilfong's quintet trying throughout, but despite the fine shooting of Big Bill Kiddy who got 24 points, Iaeger's aggressiveness was not to be denied.

Blankenship led Iaeger with 13 points.

JACKSONVILLE BANS MIXED CONTESTANTS, EXHIBITION IS OFF

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 22 (AP)—A controversy over participation of Jackie Robinson and John Wright, Negro players for Montreal in the International league, in an exhibition game Sunday resulted in cancellation of the contest today.

Montreal was scheduled to play Jersey City at Durkee field here.

George Robinson, executive secretary of the Jacksonville Playground and Recreation Board, said "rules, regulations and policies of the Jacksonville Playground and Recreation Board prohibit mixed contestants in athletic events on their facilities. That means white and negro athletes can not play together and would serve to bar any negro from the game here Sunday."

"There will be no game," he added.

Mel Jones, traveling secretary for the Montreal club, said in a statement at Daytona Beach that the Montreal baseball club had been notified by the Jersey City club that the City of Jacksonville recreation commission had denied use of Durkee field for the game.

In a joint statement, Edgar P. Feeley, treasurer and attorney of the New York Giants and the Jersey City ball club, and Charlie Stoneham, secretary of the Jersey City team, said "we had nothing to do with the cancellation."

Bill McGuire Hands First Defeat of Year To Fred Sickinger

CLEVELAND, March 22 (AP)—Bill McGuire of New York Sixty-ninth Regiment Athletic Association handed Fred Sickinger, of Manhattan college, his first defeat of the year tonight in the 1,000-yard run in the sixth annual Knights of Columbus indoor track meet at the Cleveland arena.

Sickinger, holder of the National A. A. U. 1,000-yard run championship and winner of seven straight starts this year, staged a driving finish but McGuire fought off his challange for a two-foot victory. McGuire who paced a field of eight throughout the race, had a winning time of 2:14.7.

Sam Richardson of the New York Pioneer Club, British and Canadian champion, soared 23 feet, 11 inches to win the running broad jump, with Russ Thomas of the Jeanette Harriers A. A., New York, second.

Carver High Quintet Loses to Hagerstown In Tri-State Tourney

FREDERICK, Md., March 22. (AP)—A long field goal by Bernard Brown in the dying seconds of the game gave Lincoln high school, Frederick, a 22-20 victory over Sumner high school of Martinsburg, W. Va., tonight in the Negro Tri-State Association basketball tournament.

Other winners in the boys' division tonight were Douglas high school of Leesburg, Va., which defeated Lincoln high of Rockville, Md., 19-17, and North Street high of Hagerstown, Md., which defeated Carver High of Cumberland, 29-9.

In the girls' division Howard high of Piedmont, W .Va., turned back Douglas of Leesburg, 25-12, and Sumner, Martinsburg, triumphed over Lincoln, Frederick, 20-17.

Semi-finals are scheduled tomorrow afternoon and the finals tomorrow night.

Mauriello Wins

DETROIT, March 22. (AP)—Tami Mauriello, 194, of New York, scored a technical knockout over John Thomas, 185, of New York in the third round of an action packed bout before 7,804 fans at Olympia tonight.

Mauriello, rated No. 4 among the nation's heavyweights, had to win the hard way as he took a two-count trip to the canvas in the first round of the scheduled 10-rounder.

THEY'LL LEAVE TUESDAY FOR RHODE ISLAND TOURNEY

LA SALLE HIGH SCHOOL'S basketball team will leave Tuesday by train for Newport, R. I., to compete in the annual Eastern States Catholic Invitational basketball tournament for the fourth successive year. Coach Bill Keegan's passers, victorious in 24 out of 36 games, played, have drawn LaSalle high school, champions of Philadelphia, as their opening round foe next Thursday at 3 p. m. LaSalle won the ESCIT championship in 1944. Officials and players of the LaSalle tournament team shown above are, left to right: First Row—Harry Hart, Jimmie Collins, Robert Mattingly. Second Row—Coach William V. Keegan, Tommy Cloonan, Tommy Carroll and Brother Gregory, director of athletics. Third Row—George Geatz, Jack Steiner and Clem Snyder.

Mack Is Willing To Swap Twirler For Outfielder

Seeks Hard-hitting Fly Chaser; Changes His Mind about Yanks

By JACK HAND

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 22—(AP)—Connie Mack is desperate for a power-hitting right fielder and is willing to part with one of his brigade of starting pitchers to make the deal.

"We should be better than last year," said the 83-year-old baseball patriarch. "But the other clubs are better, too, we just do not have enough power and our outfield needs strengthening badly.

"First off I thought the Yankees would win this year without much trouble but I have completely changed my mind. Any of the seven of them could do it, any team except us."

The old gentleman admitted he had tried to pry Johnny Lindell away from the Yankees but without success. He said he had nothing "on the fire" but was sure he would be able to make a swap before the season opens.

Says Yanks Need Pitcher

"As I see it the Yankees have got to have a pitcher," Mack summed it up. "Any rightfielder with a punch will suit me."

The A's actually are deep in starting pitchers although some of them might not be regulars with any other club.

Russ Christopher would be snapped up in a hurry if he were placed on the block but many others would not draw a nibble. Jesse Flores had a disappointing year in 1945 and Bobo Newsom, lighter than ever and reportedly in a mood for pitching, has made the rounds.

Lum Harris, Dick (No-Hit) Fowler, Luther Knerr, Jack Knott, Phil Marchildon and Porter Vaughan are other hurlers Mack names on his list of starters.

The outfield is strong enough as far as it goes but it only goes as far as two. Left fielders Ford Garrison and Center Fielder Sam Chapman will do. Mack has been trying a young man named Ray Poole and two converted infielders called Vern Benson and Don Richmond in th other garden. The right field situation truly is desperate.

George McQuinn, who reconsidered an earlier decision to retire after he was traded to the A's by St. Louis for Dick Siebert, is playing first base with Benny ($45,000) McCoy on second. Rookie Jack Wallasea is at short and George Kell at Third. Jack Caulfield is a shortstop candidate, Pete Suder is trying for third and there are four men after McCoy's job at second.

Buddy Rosar is the top catcher backed up by Jim Pruett, back from Toronto where he hit .303, and Gene Desautels, acquired from Boston late last season.

This Isn't A's Year

Mack may be pessimistic about his 1946 club but, at least, he calls a spade a spade and refuses to participate in the annual spring wishing game of "this looks like the year."

This doesn't look like the year for Mr. Mack.

Coaches Ask Legislation To Curb Taller Players

Holman Leads in Fight against Cage Giants; Changes at Foul Line Are Proposed

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NEW YORK, March 22. (AP)—Basketball's giants, object of most of the game's major rule changes in recent years, took another verbal beating at the annual convention of the National Basketball Coaches' Association today, although nobody was quite sure what could be done about them.

An informal vote taken after a heated two-hour discussion, indicated that some form of legislation to place a further check on the effectiveness of extra tall players would be recommended to the rules-makers at the concluding session of the convention tomorrow.

Blair Guillion of Connecticut was elected president of the association, succeeding Edward J. Hickox of Springfield (Mass.) College, who was named to the board of directors, and W. H. Browne of Nebraska was re-elected first vice president.

Other officers named were Howard Hobson, Oregon, second vice president; Forrest Cox, Colorado, third vice president, and Herbert Read, Western Michigan, secretary-treasurer. New directors, in addition to Hickox, are Jack Gray, Texas; John Lowther, Penn State; Vadal Peterson, Utah, and Adolph Rupp, Kentucky.

Nat Holman Leads Fight

Leading the fight for additional rules to curb the taller players were the veteran Nat Holman of CCNY, who said he was "strongly opposed to the game as it's played today," and Bruce Drake of Oklahoma, who declared he wanted to see the big boys "earn their baskets."

Wilbur Johns, UCLA coach, headed the minority opposition. "I'm wondering if we're on the right track," he said. "If we're looking for some way to make it easier for us to coach, why wouldn't it be just as smart to legislate against a trick dribbler or a man who shoots with either hand?"

Most of the proposals for tightening the handcuffs on the big boys advocated a change in the dimensions of the free throw lane, thus enlarging the so-called "three-second area" and forcing the tall players farther back from the goal.

Holman recommended widening the free throw lanes to twelve feet instead of the present six and making it illegal for a player within 21 feet of the end of the forecourt to hold the ball more than three seconds.

People Dissatisfied

"I'm upset about this whole business," Holman said. "The people who pay the admission are not satisfied with the game. I am strongly opposed to the game as it's played today, with the big man underneath the basket."

Drake suggested making the free throw lane eighteen feet wide at the end of the court, but six feet wide where it joins the free throw circle.

Other suggestions ranged from the adoption of various sized arcs that would put all players equidistant from the goal on free throws to complete reversal of the present free throw lane and circle, putting the circle under the goal.

Buckeyes Battle Tar Heels Today

Winner To Face Western Victor Next Tuesday in New York

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—New York's fickle basketball fans, who had Ernie Calverley of Rhode Island State as their idol last weekend and early this week, had a new one today in John Dillon of North Carolina.

Dillon sank seven baskets in ten tries last night as the southerners repeated their previous win over New York University in the opening round of the Eastern NCAA playoffs. Tomorrow night Dillon and his teammates tangle with Ohio State, Big Ten champ, in the second series of the NCAA playoffs.

North Carolina, sinking twenty-four baskets in fifty-two tries, won from the Violets 57 to 49. Ohio State conquered Harvard, 46 to 38, in the first game with the Buckeyes registering on only twenty-one percent of their tosses.

Saturday night's NCAA winner here will meet the champion of the Western NCAA playoffs at Kansas City in a game for the national crown, now held by Oklahoma A&M, in Madison Square Garden, Tuesday night.

Morgantown Negro Team Loses at Nashville

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 22 (AP)—A fast-breaking high school five from Kansas City, Kas., emerged as a probable contender for top place in the National Negro high school bashketball tournament by downing Gilbert Academy of New Orleans tonight, 46-30.

The Kansans had the lead all the way through and at the half were ahead, 24-15. Gardner, a forward for the midwesterners, led the scoring with 17 points.

Cushing, Okla., in another game downed Monongalia high of Morgantown, W. Va., 36 to 23.

Larkin Is Victor Over Nick Moran For Second Time

Tippy Boxes Irishman from Mexico Dizzy in Garden Bout

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Tippy Larkin boxed Nick Moran Dizzy tonight and outgalloped the Irishman from Mexico all the way for an easy ten-round decision in Madison Square Garden. Larkin weighed 140¾; Moran 140¼.

The dazzling Garfield, N. J., boxing specialist had only two rough moments—in the third, when Moran found the range with his jabs, and the ninth, when he landed a rocking right to the chin. Otherwise, Tippy came "home free" all the way as he made it two straight over the curly-haired clouter in their return go.

The decision was unanimous on the part of Referee Benny Leonard and both judges. The Associated Press score card gave Larkin seven rounds, Moran one and called two even.

A crowd of 12,076 customers chipped in to a gross gate of $56,914 to see Tippy trip the light fantastic around Moran from start to finish, beat him to the punch at time, counter him with sharp one-twos at others.

Unbeaten in three years since the great Henry Armstrong stopped him, the Jersey specialist won like a 1 to 100 shot in a bout that was as stylish as you please for skill on both sides, but exploded little dynamite. Nick slipped to the floor missing a right hand in the six, one of the fastest rounds of a swift struggle, but was up in half a second.

The Jersey stylist got off winging in the first two heats, landing an uppercut in the first that shook Nick to his shoe laces and landing his one-two inside in the second.

Through the third and fourth, Moran crowded him and turned loose his left to some advantage, but after that, with the exception of the eighth, which was fairly close, and the ninth, when Nick bounced his right off Tippy's teeth, it was all Larkin.

Beagle Club Will Hold Title Event on Sunday

First Sanctioned Derby Trial Set for Mexico Farms; Winners Will Vie at Uniontown

The Allegany Beagle Club will hold its first sanctioned championship derby trial tomorrow at Mexico Farms.

This is to be an annual spring event for beagles whelped during the previous year and entries are expected from Frostburg, Cumberland and West Virginia and Pennsylvania cities.

Hounds will be measured at the Mexico Farms airport office and all entries must be present for measuring at 8 a. m.

Sterling Honsaker, of Masontown, Pa., will be the A. K. C. approved judge, assisted by Hugh Stevenson, Ellerslie, and Robert Shockey, Meyersdale, Pa.

A lunch will be served at the club grounds with Mrs. Gertrude Stevenson in charge, assisted by women of the organization.

Hounds placing first, second, third and fourth in the thirteen and fifteen inch classes will compete at the Keystone Club Uniontown, Pa., with other Tri-State Association club winners for the association championship March 30 and 31. These winners will compete for the international championship with other association winners at the Buckeye club grounds in Ohio in April.

The Allegany Beagle Club was organized October 3, 1945 and has a quota of seventy-five charter members. Officers are: R. L. Spiker, Cumberland, president; Dr. H. C. Diehl, Frostburg, vice president, and T. James Stevenson, Cumberland, secretary- treasurer. After holding three club trials in the fall the organization joined the Tri-State Association of Beagle Clubs; composed of ten clubs in the Pittsburgh area.

Six hundred acres of land in the Potomac Valley has been leased and will be heavily stocked and set aside as a game reserve and training area and used for future club field trials.

An A. K. C. licensed all-age trial will be held, following a series of club trials, in the fall.

Hurlers Are Plentiful

ORLANDO, Fla., March 22 (AP) — The Washington Senators don't know what to do about their pitchers — they've got too many good ones.

Fifteen flingers have looked like winners in games this spring but Manager Ossie Bluege figures on carrying only ten or eleven during the regular season.

School Baseball Teams Adopt 30-game Schedule

Paw Paw and LaSalle Will Open Tri-State Conference Season Here on April 23

Paw Paw (W. Va.) high school and LaSalle will launch the 1946 baseball campaign in the Tri-State Interscholastic Conference when they cross bats here Tuesday, April 23, it was announced following a meeting of representatives of the six clubs in the schoolboy circuit last night at the Cumberland Knights of Columbus home.

For the past several years the loop has functioned with five teams and was known as the Bi-State Interscholastic Conference because only Maryland and Pennsylvania schools were represented. This year, however, the conference becomes a tri-state affair due to the return of Paw Paw high, West Virginia entry.

A thirty-game schedule was adopted at last night's session over which Walter L. Bowers, of Allegany high school, presided. Representatives from other schools in attendance were Brothers Gregory and Thomas, of LaSalle; James McVicker, Hyndman; Bob Robertson, Pay Paw; Edward Finzel, Beall, and John J. Cavanaugh, Fort Hill.

The complete schedule is as follows:

Tuesday, April 23—Paw Paw at LaSalle.

Friday, April 26—LaSalle at Beall, Hyndman at Allegany, Paw Paw at Fort Hill.

Monday, April 29—Beall at Fort Hill.

Tuesday, April 30—Allegany at Paw Paw, Hyndman at LaSalle.

Friday, May 3—Beall at Allegany, Fort Hill at LaSalle, Paw Paw at Hyndman.

Tuesday, May 7—Fort Hill at Hyndman, Allegany at LaSalle, Paw Paw at Beall.

Friday, May 10—Hyndman at Beall, Allegany at Fort Hill, LaSalle at Paw Paw.

Tuesday, May 14—Beall at LaSalle, Allegany at Hyndman, Fort Hill at Paw Paw.

Friday, May 17—Fort Hill at Beall, Paw Paw at Allegany, LaSalle at Hyndman.

Tuesday, May 21 — Allegany at Beall, LaSalle at Fort Hill, Hyndman at Paw Paw.

Friday, May 24—Hyndman at Fort Hill, LaSalle at Allegany, Beall at Paw Paw.

Tuesday, May 28—Beall at Hyndman, Fort Hill at Allegany.

Gil Torres, Nats' Infielder, Jumps To Mexican League

WASHINGTON, March 22. (AP)—Gil Torres, Washington infielder, has jumped to the Mexican league, the Times-Herald said today.

In a dispatch from Washington's training camp at Orlando, Fla., the Times-Herald added:

"The information (about Torres jumping) came right off the boat (from Cuba) with Oliverio Ortiz, who reported to the Nats last night.

"Ortiz said that before he sailed from Havana he learned that Torres, who has been playing a contract-juggling game with Clark Griffith (Washington owner) since the opening of the training season, has definitely succumbed to the offer of moneyed Bernardo Pasquel, Mexican promoter, and plans to depart in the very near future for Mexico.

"Torres, Ortiz revealed, has been given a contract for three years at $12,500 per season and will manage one of the teams. Half of the salary already has been placed in a Cuban bank as guarantee of good faith."

Sunday School Teams Will Play for Title

Grace Methodist and First Presbyterian will battle it out today at 2:30 o'clock on the "Y" court for the championship of the YMCA Sunday School Basketball League.

"Bobby" Cavanaugh will officiate.

The league will hold its annual dinner Monday at 6:15 p. m. in the Central YMCA. The Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, chairman of the guest committee, reports that approximately 250 persons will attend.

Beckley Upsets Favored Weirton At Morgantown

By CHARLES ARMENTROUT

MOUNTAINEER FIELD HOUSE, Morgantown, W. Va., March 22. (AP)—Beckley upset favored Weirton 50 to 38 tonight in the first round of the thirty-third West Virginia scholastic basketball tournament before a record crowd of 6,280, largest ever to witness an indoor sports even in mountain state history.

The upset was the second of the night session, following lowest-rated Iaeger's 56 to 49 surprise beating of Weston.

The victories made Beckley and Iaeger foes in tomorrow afternoon's semi-finals, scheduled to start at 1:30 p. m. Logan and Stonewall Jackson of Charleston, winners of the afternoon's opening session games, will start off the second round. The finals will be played tomorrow night.

Logan turned back Victory of Clarksburg 51 to 48, and Stonewall subdued Kingwood, 64 to 50.

Coach Bill Callaghan's Iaeger five came back after trailing 28-26 at the intermission and grabbed the lead midway of the third to stay ahead from there on out.

Bill McKinley goaled to bring Iaeger back into a tie count of 35-all, fifth time the score had been knotted by the McDowell team up to that point. Ira Blankenship sank two free throws and the Callaghan team was victory bound.

The huge crowd saw Coach Claybourn Wilfong's quintet trying throughout, but despite the fine shooting of Big Bill Kiddy who got 24 points, Iaeger's aggressiveness was not to be denied.

Blankenship led Iaeger with 13 points.

JACKSONVILLE BANS MIXED CONTESTANTS, EXHIBITION IS OFF

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 22 (AP)—A controversy over participation of Jackie Robinson and John Wright, Negro players for Montreal in the International league, in an exhibition game Sunday resulted in cancellation of the contest today.

Montreal was scheduled to play Jersey City at Durkee field here.

George Robinson, executive secretary of the Jacksonville Playground and Recreation Board, said "rules, regulations and policies of the Jacksonville Playground and Recreation Board prohibit mixed contestants in athletic events on their facilities. That means white and negro athletes can not play together and would serve to bar any negro from the game here Sunday."

"There will be no game," he added.

Mel Jones, traveling secretary for the Montreal club, said in a statement at Daytona Beach that the Montreal baseball club had been notified by the Jersey City club that the City of Jacksonville recreation commission had denied use of Durkee field for the game.

In a joint statement, Edgar P. Feeley, treasurer and attorney of the New York Giants and the Jersey City ball club, and Charlie Stoneham, secretary of the Jersey City team, said "we had nothing to do with the cancellation."

Bill McGuire Hands First Defeat of Year To Fred Sickinger

CLEVELAND, March 22 (AP)—Bill McGuire of New York Sixty-ninth Regiment Athletic Association handed Fred Sickinger, of Manhattan college, his first defeat of the year tonight in the 1,000-yard run in the sixth annual Knights of Columbus indoor track meet at the Cleveland arena.

Sickinger, holder of the National A. A. U. 1,000-yard run championship and winner of seven straight starts this year, staged a driving finish but McGuire fought off his challange for a two-foot victory. McGuire who paced a field of eight throughout the race, had a winning time of 2:14.7.

Sam Richardson of the New York Pioneer Club, British and Canadian champion, soared 23 feet, 11 inches to win the running broad jump, with Russ Thomas of the Jeanette Harriers A. A., New York, second.

Carver High Quintet Loses to Hagerstown In Tri-State Tourney

FREDERICK, Md., March 22. (AP)—A long field goal by Bernard Brown in the dying seconds of the game gave Lincoln high school, Frederick, a 22-20 victory over Sumner high school of Martinsburg, W. Va., tonight in the Negro Tri-State Association basketball tournament.

Other winners in the boys' division tonight were Douglas high school of Leesburg, Va., which defeated Lincoln high of Rockville, Md., 19-17, and North Street high of Hagerstown, Md., which defeated Carver High of Cumberland, 29-9.

In the girls' division Howard high of Piedmont, W .Va., turned back Douglas of Leesburg, 25-12, and Sumner, Martinsburg, triumphed over Lincoln, Frederick, 20-17.

Semi-finals are scheduled tomorrow afternoon and the finals tomorrow night.

Mauriello Wins

DETROIT, March 22. (AP)—Tami Mauriello, 194, of New York, scored a technical knockout over John Thomas, 185, of New York in the third round of an action packed bout before 7,804 fans at Olympia tonight.

Mauriello, rated No. 4 among the nation's heavyweights, had to win the hard way as he took a two-count trip to the canvas in the first round of the scheduled 10-rounder.

THEY'LL LEAVE TUESDAY FOR RHODE ISLAND TOURNEY

LA SALLE HIGH SCHOOL'S basketball team will leave Tuesday by train for Newport, R. I., to compete in the annual Eastern States Catholic Invitational basketball tournament for the fourth successive year. Coach Bill Keegan's passers, victorious in 24 out of 36 games, played, have drawn LaSalle high school, champions of Philadelphia, as their opening round foe next Thursday at 3 p. m. LaSalle won the ESCIT championship in 1944. Officials and players of the LaSalle tournament team shown above are, left to right: First Row—Harry Hart, Jimmie Collins, Robert Mattingly. Second Row—Coach William V. Keegan, Tommy Cloonan, Tommy Carroll and Brother Gregory, director of athletics. Third Row—George Geatz, Jack Steiner and Clem Snyder.

Mack Is Willing To Swap Twirler For Outfielder

By JACK HAND

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 22—(AP)—Connie Mack is desperate for a power-hitting right fielder and is willing to part with one of his brigade of starting pitchers to make the deal.

"We should be better than last year," said the 83-year-old baseball patriarch. "But the other clubs are better, too, we just do not have enough power and our outfield needs strengthening badly.

"First off I thought the Yankees would win this year without much trouble but I have completely changed my mind. Any of the seven of them could do it, any team except us."

The old gentleman admitted he had tried to pry Johnny Lindell away from the Yankees but without success. He said he had nothing "on the fire" but was sure he would be able to make a swap before the season opens.

Says Yanks Need Pitcher

"As I see it the Yankees have got to have a pitcher," Mack summed it up. "Any rightfielder with a punch will suit me."

The A's actually are deep in starting pitchers although some of them might not be regulars with any other club.

Russ Christopher would be snapped up in a hurry if he were placed on the block but many others would not draw a nibble. Jesse Flores had a disappointing year in 1945 and Bobo Newsom, lighter than ever and reportedly in a mood for pitching, has made the rounds.

Lum Harris, Dick (No-Hit) Fowler, Luther Knerr, Jack Knott, Phil Marchildon and Porter Vaughan are other hurlers Mack names on his list of starters.

The outfield is strong enough as far as it goes but it only goes as far as two. Left fielders Ford Garrison and Center Fielder Sam Chapman will do. Mack has been trying a young man named Ray Poole and two converted infielders called Vern Benson and Don Richmond in th other garden. The right field situation truly is desperate.

George McQuinn, who reconsidered an earlier decision to retire after he was traded to the A's by St. Louis for Dick Siebert, is playing first base with Benny ($45,000) McCoy on second. Rookie Jack Wallasea is at short and George Kell at Third. Jack Caulfield is a shortstop candidate, Pete Suder is trying for third and there are four men after McCoy's job at second.

Buddy Rosar is the top catcher backed up by Jim Pruett, back from Toronto where he hit .303, and Gene Desautels, acquired from Boston late last season.

This Isn't A's Year

Mack may be pessimistic about his 1946 club but, at least, he calls a spade a spade and refuses to participate in the annual spring wishing game of "this looks like the year."

This doesn't look like the year for Mr. Mack.

Coaches Ask Legislation To Curb Taller Players

Holman Leads in Fight against Cage Giants; Changes at Foul Line Are Proposed

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NEW YORK, March 22. (AP)—Basketball's giants, object of most of the game's major rule changes in recent years, took another verbal beating at the annual convention of the National Basketball Coaches' Association today, although nobody was quite sure what could be done about them.

An informal vote taken after a heated two-hour discussion, indicated that some form of legislation to place a further check on the effectiveness of extra tall players would be recommended to the rules-makers at the concluding session of the convention tomorrow.

Blair Guillion of Connecticut was elected president of the association, succeeding Edward J. Hickox of Springfield (Mass.) College, who was named to the board of directors, and W. H. Browne of Nebraska was re-elected first vice president.

Other officers named were Howard Hobson, Oregon, second vice president; Forrest Cox, Colorado, third vice president, and Herbert Read, Western Michigan, secretary-treasurer. New directors, in addition to Hickox, are Jack Gray, Texas; John Lowther, Penn State; Vadal Peterson, Utah, and Adolph Rupp, Kentucky.

Nat Holman Leads Fight

Leading the fight for additional rules to curb the taller players were the veteran Nat Holman of CCNY, who said he was "strongly opposed to the game as it's played today," and Bruce Drake of Oklahoma, who declared he wanted to see the big boys "earn their baskets."

Wilbur Johns, UCLA coach, headed the minority opposition. "I'm wondering if we're on the right track," he said. "If we're looking for some way to make it easier for us to coach, why wouldn't it be just as smart to legislate against a trick dribbler or a man who shoots with either hand?"

Most of the proposals for tightening the handcuffs on the big boys advocated a change in the dimensions of the free throw lane, thus enlarging the so-called "three-second area" and forcing the tall players farther back from the goal.

Holman recommended widening the free throw lanes to twelve feet instead of the present six and making it illegal for a player within 21 feet of the end of the forecourt to hold the ball more than three seconds.

People Dissatisfied

"I'm upset about this whole business," Holman said. "The people who pay the admission are not satisfied with the game. I am strongly opposed to the game as it's played today, with the big man underneath the basket."

Drake suggested making the free throw lane eighteen feet wide at the end of the court, but six feet wide where it joins the free throw circle.

Other suggestions ranged from the adoption of various sized arcs that would put all players equidistant from the goal on free throws to complete reversal of the present free throw lane and circle, putting the circle under the goal.

Buckeyes Battle Tar Heels Today

Winner To Face Western Victor Next Tuesday in New York

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—New York's fickle basketball fans, who had Ernie Calverley of Rhode Island State as their idol last weekend and early this week, had a new one today in John Dillon of North Carolina.

Dillon sank seven baskets in ten tries last night as the southerners repeated their previous win over New York University in the opening round of the Eastern NCAA playoffs. Tomorrow night Dillon and his teammates tangle with Ohio State, Big Ten champ, in the second series of the NCAA playoffs.

North Carolina, sinking twenty-four baskets in fifty-two tries, won from the Violets 57 to 49. Ohio State conquered Harvard, 46 to 38, in the first game with the Buckeyes registering on only twenty-one percent of their tosses.

Saturday night's NCAA winner here will meet the champion of the Western NCAA playoffs at Kansas City in a game for the national crown, now held by Oklahoma A&M, in Madison Square Garden, Tuesday night.

Morgantown Negro Team Loses at Nashville

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 22 (AP)—A fast-breaking high school five from Kansas City, Kas., emerged as a probable contender for top place in the National Negro high school bashketball tournament by downing Gilbert Academy of New Orleans tonight, 46-30.

The Kansans had the lead all the way through and at the half were ahead, 24-15. Gardner, a forward for the midwesterners, led the scoring with 17 points.

Cushing, Okla., in another game downed Monongalia high of Morgantown, W. Va., 36 to 23.

Larkin Is Victor Over Nick Moran For Second Time

Tippy Boxes Irishman from Mexico Dizzy in Garden Bout

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Tippy Larkin boxed Nick Moran Dizzy tonight and outgalloped the Irishman from Mexico all the way for an easy ten-round decision in Madison Square Garden. Larkin weighed 140¾; Moran 140¼.

The dazzling Garfield, N. J., boxing specialist had only two rough moments—in the third, when Moran found the range with his jabs, and the ninth, when he landed a rocking right to the chin. Otherwise, Tippy came "home free" all the way as he made it two straight over the curly-haired clouter in their return go.

The decision was unanimous on the part of Referee Benny Leonard and both judges. The Associated Press score card gave Larkin seven rounds, Moran one and called two even.

A crowd of 12,076 customers chipped in to a gross gate of $56,914 to see Tippy trip the light fantastic around Moran from start to finish, beat him to the punch at time, counter him with sharp one-twos at others.

Unbeaten in three years since the great Henry Armstrong stopped him, the Jersey specialist won like a 1 to 100 shot in a bout that was as stylish as you please for skill on both sides, but exploded little dynamite. Nick slipped to the floor missing a right hand in the six, one of the fastest rounds of a swift struggle, but was up in half a second.

The Jersey stylist got off winging in the first two heats, landing an uppercut in the first that shook Nick to his shoe laces and landing his one-two inside in the second.

Through the third and fourth, Moran crowded him and turned loose his left to some advantage, but after that, with the exception of the eighth, which was fairly close, and the ninth, when Nick bounced his right off Tippy's teeth, it was all Larkin.

Beagle Club Will Hold Title Event on Sunday

First Sanctioned Derby Trial Set for Mexico Farms; Winners Will Vie at Uniontown

The Allegany Beagle Club will hold its first sanctioned championship derby trial tomorrow at Mexico Farms.

This is to be an annual spring event for beagles whelped during the previous year and entries are expected from Frostburg, Cumberland and West Virginia and Pennsylvania cities.

Hounds will be measured at the Mexico Farms airport office and all entries must be present for measuring at 8 a. m.

Sterling Honsaker, of Masontown, Pa., will be the A. K. C. approved judge, assisted by Hugh Stevenson, Ellerslie, and Robert Shockey, Meyersdale, Pa.

A lunch will be served at the club grounds with Mrs. Gertrude Stevenson in charge, assisted by women of the organization.

Hounds placing first, second, third and fourth in the thirteen and fifteen inch classes will compete at the Keystone Club Uniontown, Pa., with other Tri-State Association club winners for the association championship March 30 and 31. These winners will compete for the international championship with other association winners at the Buckeye club grounds in Ohio in April.

The Allegany Beagle Club was organized October 3, 1945 and has a quota of seventy-five charter members. Officers are: R. L. Spiker, Cumberland, president; Dr. H. C. Diehl, Frostburg, vice president, and T. James Stevenson, Cumberland, secretary-treasurer. After holding three club trials in the fall the organization joined the Tri-State Association of Beagle Clubs; composed of ten clubs in the Pittsburgh area.

Six hundred acres of land in the Potomac Valley has been leased and will be heavily stocked and set aside as a game reserve and training area and used for future club field trials.

An A. K. C. licensed all-age trial will be held, following a series of club trials, in the fall.

EXHIBITION GAMES

A's DEFEAT PHILS

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 22 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics had no trouble defeating their National League neighbors, the Philadelphia Phils today, taking a 9 to 2 victory for a two-to-one lead in the exhibition baseball series between the two teams.

The Phils dropped two games today, a squad losing 3 to 2 to the New York Giants at Miami. A third squad took a 6 to 4 victory over Baltimore of the International league at Hollywood, Fla. Score:

Hurlers Are Plentiful

ORLANDO, Fla., March 22 (AP)—The Washington Senators don't know what to do about their pitchers — they've got too many good ones.

Fifteen flingers have looked like winners in games this spring but Manager Ossie Bluege figures on carrying only ten or eleven during the regular season.

California Races Halted by Strike

Employment of Women Is Cause of Trouble at Bay Meadows

SAN MATEO, Calif., March 22. (AP)—The 45-day spring racing meet at Bay Meadows has been tentatively cancelled, pending approval of the closing by the state racing board, William P. Kyne, manager of the race track, said today. Kyne said the board probably would take action by Monday.

SAN MATEO, Calif., March 22. (AP)—Bay Meadows' 45-day spring meet will not open tomorrow as scheduled, Track Manager William P. Kyne announced today, because of a strike called by the Mutuels Clerk Guild over employment of ten women by the track.

Officials said they considered it obligatory to hire the women since the California horse racing board had issued a ruling that there will be no discrimination.

Kyne said women had worked at these same posts for the past five race meets.

Guild officials contended that the women had been hired only as a temporary wartime measure and refused to allow their employment.

The quarrel grew so bitter at the track today that a call for police was issued, and twenty officers from the San Mateo Police Department and the sheriff's office were dispatched in case of disorder.

Ortiz Will Retire

EL CENTRO, Calif., March 22 (AP) — Manuel Ortiz, bantamweight champion of the world, announced today that he will retire from boxing in the near future.

Resting at his ranch here after the torrid 15-round draw he fought in Los Angeles Tuesday night with California Featherweight Champion Carlos Chavez, Ortiz said he might fight a few times in England before he hangs up his gloves.

Spy Song Arrives

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 22 (AP) —Dixiana Farm's speedy Spy Song, among the early favorites for the seventy-second running of the Kentucky Derby, arrived from New Orleans at Churchill Downs today, ready to begin preparation for the "run for the roses."

The Balladier colt, along with nineteen stablemates, stood the long jaunt like a champion, Trainer Jack Hodgins said.

LIFE SAVING CLASS GETS PRACTICAL TRAINING

MEMBERS OF THE SENIOR LIFE SAVING CLASS held jointly by Central YMCA and Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, are shown getting some instructions at the YMCA pool where the classes were held. Thirty-five swimmers were in the senior life saving class that ran for two weeks and ended on Friday. When the picture was snapped, Mark Whitmore was administering artificial respiration to William Lynch, the "victim." James E. Kelley, Jr., instructor, is kneeling at Lynch's head. Seated for the demonstration are (left to right) Lillian Knippenburger, Jean Morton, Joan Robinson, Mary Louise Coyle, Shirley Turner and Diana Crane. Standing (left to right) are Stanley Leasure, Eugene Herman, William Doub, Bernard Coyle and Gary Moler.

Barron Is Leader In Golf Tourney

White Plains Pro Posts Four-under-Par 66 in Greensboro Open

By KEN ALYTA

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 22 (AP)—Herman Barron, veteran White Plains, N. Y., professional, who is this year's fourth leading money winner although he has not won a tournament, banged out a four-under-par 66 today to take a two-stroke lead after the first round of the $7,500 Greater Greensboro open golf tourney.

His 32-34—66 equalled the course record for the 6,720-yard par-70 Sedgefield Country Club course near here and gave him an edge on Jim Ferrier, former Australian now playing out of Chicago, who had 33-35—68.

Eight players were tied with 69's and Sam Snead, the favorite from Hot Springs, Va., was bracketed with four others with even par 70's.

Jimmy Demaret of Houston, strongly favored behind Snead, headed the group with 69's. Others were Joe Zarhardt, Philadelphia; Walter Romans, Utica, N. Y.; Leonard Dodson, Kansas City, Mo.; Bob Hamilton, Chicago; Lloyd Mangrum, Los Angeles; Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., and Dick Metz, Chicago.

Two amateurs—Frank Stranahan of Toledo, who won the Durham open last fall, and Ralph Irvin of Nashville—were in the 70 bracket with Snead, Herman Keiser, Akron, O., and Orville White, Winston-Salem N. C.

Another 18-hole round is slated tomorrow with the 36-hole finals Sunday.

Employment of Women Is Cause of Trouble at Bay Meadows

SAN MATEO, Calif., March 22. (AP)—The 45-day spring racing meet at Bay Meadows has been tentatively cancelled, pending approval of the closing by the state racing board, William P. Kyne, manager of the race track, said today. Kyne said the board probably would take action by Monday.

SAN MATEO, Calif., March 22. (AP)—Bay Meadows' 45-day spring meet will not open tomorrow as scheduled, Track Manager William P. Kyne announced today, because of a strike called by the Mutuels Clerk Guild over employment of ten women by the track.

Officials said they considered it obligatory to hire the women since the California horse racing board had issued a ruling that there will be no discrimination.

Kyne said women had worked at these same posts for the past five race meets.

Guild officials contended that the women had been hired only as a temporary wartime measure and refused to allow their employment.

The quarrel grew so bitter at the track today that a call for police was issued, and twenty officers from the San Mateo Police Department and the sheriff's office were dispatched in case of disorder.

Ortiz Will Retire

EL CENTRO, Calif., March 22 (AP) — Manuel Ortiz, bantamweight champion of the world, announced today that he will retire from boxing in the near future.

Resting at his ranch here after the torrid 15-round draw he fought in Los Angeles Tuesday night with California Featherweight Champion Carlos Chavez, Ortiz said he might fight a few times in England before he hangs up his gloves.

Spy Song Arrives

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 22 (AP) —Dixiana Farm's speedy Spy Song, among the early favorites for the seventy-second running of the Kentucky Derby, arrived from New Orleans at Churchill Downs today, ready to begin preparation for the "run for the roses."

The Balladier colt, along with nineteen stablemates, stood the long jaunt like a champion, Trainer Jack Hodgins said.

LIFE SAVING CLASS GETS PRACTICAL TRAINING

MEMBERS OF THE SENIOR LIFE SAVING CLASS held jointly by Central YMCA and Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, are shown getting some instructions at the YMCA pool where the classes were held. Thirty-five swimmers were in the senior life saving class that ran for two weeks and ended on Friday. When the picture was snapped, Mark Whitmore was administering artificial respiration to William Lynch, the "victim." James E. Kelley, Jr., instructor, is kneeling at Lynch's head. Seated for the demonstration are (left to right) Lillian Knippenburger, Jean Morton, Joan Robinson, Mary Louise Coyle, Shirley Turner and Diana Crane. Standing (left to right) are Stanley Leasure, Eugene Herman, William Doub, Bernard Coyle and Gary Moler.

Barron Is Leader In Golf Tourney

White Plains Pro Posts Four-under-Par 66 in Greensboro Open

By KEN ALYTA

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 22 (AP)—Herman Barron, veteran White Plains, N. Y., professional, who is this year's fourth leading money winner although he has not won a tournament, banged out a four-under-par 66 today to take a two-stroke lead after the first round of the $7,500 Greater Greensboro open golf tourney.

His 32-34—66 equalled the course record for the 6,720-yard par-70 Sedgefield Country Club course near here and gave him an edge on Jim Ferrier, former Australian now playing out of Chicago, who had 33-35—68.

Eight players were tied with 69's and Sam Snead, the favorite from Hot Springs, Va., was bracketed with four others with even par 70's.

Jimmy Demaret of Houston, strongly favored behind Snead, headed the group with 69's. Others were Joe Zarhardt, Philadelphia; Walter Romans, Utica, N. Y.; Leonard Dodson, Kansas City, Mo.; Bob Hamilton, Chicago; Lloyd Mangrum, Los Angeles; Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., and Dick Metz, Chicago.

Two amateurs—Frank Stranahan of Toledo, who won the Durham open last fall, and Ralph Irvin of Nashville—were in the 70 bracket with Snead, Herman Keiser, Akron, O., and Orville White, Winston-Salem N. C.

Another 18-hole round is slated tomorrow with the 36-hole finals Sunday.

Truman, Wallace Talks Are Booked By Radio Chains

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP) — Broadcast of Jackson day dinner speeches at Washington, with Secretary of Commerce Wallace and President Truman to be heard in that order, has been scheduled for Saturday night. As scheduled in advance NBC and MBS are to open the program at 10 with Secretary Wallace, with CBS and ABC listed to join in at 10:15 when the president speaks.

CBS has a new series of biographical dramas which it calls American portrait, for a 6:15 p. m. start. Alexander Hamilton will be the first theme, with Dean Jagger in the title role and Milton Bacon as narrator.

Tryout of a new program "Washington Finishing School" is planned for MBS at 10:30 a. m. An audience participation series, it is designed to "present unusual people behind the Washington scenes as well as prominent political figures." . . . Back on CBS, Carolina calling, made up of hillbilly tunes and folk songs, will be revived for 9:30 a. m.

Ralph Edwards and his NBC "Truth or Consequences" at 8:30 p. m. will celebrate the program's sixth anniversary by inviting Jack Benny, Dinah Shore and others. . . The Campfire Girls, celebrating their thirty-fourth birthday on MBS at 5:30 thought it would be appropriate to invite Eddie Cantor as M. C. . . . "Leave It to the Girls," MBS at 9, experts Ezra (H. Aldrich) Stone to be the male guest. . . . "Act of Faith," will be the CBS Workshop drama for 2:30.

Truman, Wallace Talks Are Booked By Radio Chains

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP) — Broadcast of Jackson day dinner speeches at Washington, with Secretary of Commerce Wallace and President Truman to be heard in that order, has been scheduled for Saturday night. As scheduled in advance NBC and MBS are to open the program at 10 with Secretary Wallace, with CBS and ABC listed to join in at 10:15 when the president speaks.

CBS has a new series of biographical dramas which it calls American portrait, for a 6:15 p. m. start. Alexander Hamilton will be the first theme, with Dean Jagger in the title role and Milton Bacon as narrator.

Tryout of a new program "Washington Finishing School" is planned for MBS at 10:30 a. m. An audience participation series, it is designed to "present unusual people behind the Washington scenes as well as prominent political figures." . . . . Back on CBS, Carolina calling, made up of hillbilly tunes and folk songs, will be revived for 9:30 a. m.

Ralph Edwards and his NBC "Truth or Consequences" at 8:30 p. m. will celebrate the program's sixth anniversary by inviting Jack Benny, Dinah Shore and others. . . The Campfire Girls, celebrating their thirty-fourth birthday on MBS at 5:30 thought it would be appropriate to invite Eddie Cantor as M. C. . . . "Leave It to the Girls," MBS at 9, experts Ezra (H. Aldrich) Stone to be the male guest. . . . "Act of Faith," will be the CBS Workshop drama for 2:30.

Three Persons Injured, One Critically, as Blast Wrecks Building Here

By F. ALAN WEATHERHOLT

Leaving wreckage that looks like some of the shelled and bombed buildings seen by American soldiers in the European theater and the Philippine Islands, an explosion shattered a two-story concrete block store room and manufacturing plant of the Cement Products company, at 405-413 Henderson avenue yesterday just before noon. Three persons were injured, one critically and another seriously. Several others received minor burns or were badly shaken.

Charles Cooper, who is 26 years old today, of Ellerslie, is in a critical condition at Memorial hospital, suffering from second and third degree burns, covering practically his entire body. Cooper was employed on the job of construction and remodeling at the place, by J. S. Cook and Sons, contractors.

William Leasure, 36 of Oldtown, a truck driver for the cement company, suffered injuries to his left leg and back. He is a patient in Allegany hospital and attaches said he may have suffered a fractured left knee, but this had not been fully determined last night. Leasure is said to have been hit in the stomach by a concrete block.

Charles L. Nestor, of Westernport, president of the company, received hospital treatment at Allegany hospital for first and second degree burns on his left hand and arm, and burns on fingers of his right hand. After being treated he returned to the scene. Nestor was burned when he removed the flaming clothing from Cooper, and was not actually injured in the blast.

Man Blown across Street

Richard Cook, a member of the J. S. Cook and Sons contractors had slight burns on his hands and his eyebrows and eyelashes were singed. He was standing in the entrance of the Queen City Glass Company building next door when the explosion occurred. Cook started to the hospital with Cooper in a truck, but was met by Stein's ambulance en route. Cook returned to the scene to help clear the wreckage and check his men to see if any others had been injured. Cook said the force of the blast blew him out of the doorway and across the street.

The actual cause of the explosion has not been officially determined, according to insurance men, members of the firm, county and city authorities.

Witnesses will be examined today at the office of State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris, according to Terrence J. Boyle, county investigator, who is conducting an investigation into the explosion for the state's attorney's office.

Mention Probable Cause

The probable cause of the explosion, witnesses and some offcials believe, was ignition of fumes thought to have escaped from a gasoline storage tank of 550-gallon capacity, under the sidewalk in front of the building. The tank was attached to a gasoline pump just inside the front wall, where trucks owned by the company were refueled.

One authority, after learning that gasoline had been delivered to the tank an hour of two before the explosion, said fumes may have escaped from the tank through a faulty connection or other opening, as and after the tank was filled. These fumes, it was explained would be heavier than air and would have a tendency to collect in the basement and under the floor of the building.

Workmen about the place said the blast seemed to come from underneath the building, as the whole structure just raised and then settled. Cooper, who was critically burned, had gone into the pit or basement, in the vicinity of the gasoline storage tank a few minutes before the blast.

Nestor said he was coming down a ladder to the street floor when the blast occurred. He was hurled about, he explained, but managed to hang onto the ladder. In a few seconds, Cooper came clamboring out of the pit, screaming that he was "on fire". Nestor grabbed Cooper and began tearing the flaming clothing from him. Nestor was badly burned while aiding Cooper.

Fire Follow Blast

Fire followed the blast, but it was extinguished by firemen who arrived within minutes after the explosion. Most of the damage, firemen said, was from the explosion and not from fire which followed.

Engine companies Nos. 1 and 4 of the city fire department responded to the alarm, and all flames were extinguished in less than thirty minutes. Pipeman Thomas L. Lindner of the East Side company had his eye brows and eye lashes burned, but was not seriously injured.

Firemen said there were several drums of some inflamable material in the basement, which were burning and throwing off dense black smoke and fumes when they arrived. These drums seemed to account for most of the fire and it required some difficult work to confine the blaze to them and extinguish it.

Crawled Under Ruins

The first thing firemen did was crawl into the wrecked basement

Additional Groups Favor Proposed County Library

Four Individuals Express Opposition; Lots Are Offered Veterans

Three more county organizations and one individual yesterday lined up behind the proposed county library project with four other individuals, three from Cumberland and one from Frostburg, registering protests against the plan.

The views on the proposed bookmobile project which would boost the county tax rate two cents, were presented at the regular Friday meeting of the board.

Meanwhile, the Allegany County Co-ordinating Council, comprised of representatives of educational, fraternal, religious and welfare groups, is going ahead with plans for a rally early in April when the organization intends to boom the proposed library project. It was also announced that a series of broadcasts are being arranged by the council and allied groups to push the proposed broadening of the library facilities.

Point Out Advantages

Organizations that hopped on the library bandwagon yesterday were the Barton Parent-Teacher Association, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Barton Hose Company, the Cumberland branch of the American Association of University Women and Ross F. Shaw, who said he was speaking for the residents of Oldtown.

Mrs. Louise M. Footen, secretary of the Barton P-TA; Mrs. Margaret Devlin, secretary of the auxiliarly of the hose company, Shaw, and Mrs. Ann Blakeslee Smith, secretary of the University Women, indorsed the library project with the latter group stating, "we are wholeheartedly in favor of the proposal. We all realize the many advantages of such a program which will afford innumerable educational opportunities for all the inhabitants."

Protests against the moving library came from:

Fred Owens, Frostburg—"The proposed plan is neither essential or necessary."

J. W. Radcliffe, Cumberland—"The increased taxation is already a hardship on most people and funds should be used for more essential things such as roads."

G. J. Frantz, Cumberland, who protested the proposed two cents increase in the tax rate.

R. L. Burkett, Cumberland, who also opposed any increase in the tax rate for the present.

With the exception of Commissioner C. N. Wilkinson, the board members have not committed themselves to date on the proposal which would necessitate adding two cents to the levy, if approved. Wilkinson has gone on record as favoring the library.

Lots Offered Veterans

Acting on a resolution presented last week by Commissioner Wilkinson, an opinion was given by Horace P. Whitworth, Sr., attorney to the board, under which county-owned lots may be made available to veterans for a nominal price, or free of charge, in some cases.

Commissioners Simeon W. Green, James Holmes and Wilkinson agreed to submit the proposal to veterans' organizations. The attorney in his opinion cited:

"In accordance with your order I am advising you with reference to the matter of turning over to the Veterans' Organizations, free of charge, the various lots now the property of Allegany County, and acquired under the statute providing for their being bought in by the County Commissioners when sold for taxes.

"A check of the holdings of the County in this respect shows that in addition to some acreage through-

Tydings, Radcliffe To Back Federal Housing Project

Contact Wilson Wyatt and Forward His Replies to W. R. Carscaden

William R. Carscaden, representative for a group of local citizens sponsored a proposed federal housing project for veterans in the vicinity of the Six Mile House, has been given the support of Senators Millard E. Tydings and George L. Radcliffe.

In response to inquiries by Carscaden, both Senators Tydings and Radcliffe contacted Wilson W. Wyatt, administrator of the National Housing Agency, Washington, and then forwarded Wyatt's replies on the proposition to Carscaden.

Wyatt informed Senator Radcliffe "I am glad to give you the information requested by Mr. Carscaden. Under Priorities Regulation 33 of the Civilian Production Administration, priority assistance is available to builders interested in constructing housing for returning veterans. Housing built under the regulation cannot be sold for more than $10,000 or rented for more than $80 and it must be reserved for veteran occupancy for a period of thirty days after it is completed.

In his communication to Senator Tydings, Wyatt stated that he has asked Charles S. Ascher, regional expediter, New York, to have a representative from his office contact Carscaden and supply him with additional information.

Vandals Puncture Tires

Police reported yesterday that the owners of three cars parked on South Liberty street early yesterday morning reported that the tires had been punctured. An officer who investigated said the vandals had used an ice pick to punch from five to eight holes in each tire.

Final Report Shows $45,053.68 Collected in Red Cross Drive

Former Prisoner of War Sends $50 and Letter of Sincere Appreciation

A final report has been prepared in the recent Allegany county Red Cross fund campaign, showing reports from all divisions and branches, with a total contribution of $45,053.86.

The county-wide goal for the campaign was $30,500, and the final report shows that contributors in the county amply supported the drive by giving volunteer solicitors $15,053.86 more than the requested budget.

Advanced Gifts Section

The Advanced Gifts section, headed by Henry C. Swearingen and W. Earle Cobey, co-chairmen, was assigned a quota of $12,200, and raised a total of $15,051.50. This section raised and contributed fifty per cent of the total county quota, from about two hundred contributors.

The Labor section headed by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Castle had an assigned quota of $3,000, to be raised from workers of the Celanese, Kelly and B and O railroad. They reported a total of $2,268.56. Of this amount $2,030 was raised from B and O employes, through the efforts of Roy W. Eves. Leaders said, had an equal effort been made at the Celanese and Kelly plants, this section would have been far over the assigned quota.

National Firms section, which has not closed its report, shows to date $1,098.33, against a goal of $1,200. These gifts are received mostly by mail from firms operating here but with headquarters elsewhere.

Youth Is Killed, Three Are Hurt In Two-Car Crash

Michael Duda, 21, Brownsville, Pa., Faces Charge of Manslaughter

A 16-year-old Brownsville, Pa., youth was instantly killed and three other persons were injured, one of them seriously, as a result of a two-car collision on Route 40, one and one-half miles west of Grantsville, yesterday morning at 7:10 o'clock.

State Trooper Blair J. Buckel, who investigated, identified the dead youth as Robert Duda, 217 Front street, Brownsville. Death, the trooper added, resulted from a broken neck and a fractured skull.

Also injured was his brother, Michael Duda, 21, driver of the car, who was reported in a "fair" condition in Miners hospital, Frostburg, early last evening, suffering from severe shock, multiple bruises and a possible concussion of the brain.

Catapults over Car

Trooper Buckel said the car occupied by the two brothers was headed east when it went out of control after the right side of the vehicle crashed against the front of a westbound car driven by Thomas G. Calabrese, Teaneck, N. J.

The Duda car, Trooper Buckel added was on the wrong side of the road and apparently traveling at a terrific rate of speed when it catapulted over the Calabrese car and crashed against the embankment.

Calabrese was treated by a Grantsville physician for a lacerated upper lip and left knee injury while his wife, Mrs. Betty Calabrese, riding with him, was treated for a left leg injury.

The trooper reported the Duda car was completely demolished by the crash which tore the doors from the vehicle and threw the back seat of the car outside. Both of the brothers, he added, were still inside the vehicle.

Faces Hearing

Duda, Trooper Buckel said, will be given a hearing before Magistrate J. U. Stanton, Grantsville, Monday or Tuesday, on a charge of manslaughter by a motor vehicle. The hearing, he added, will be held as soon as possible so that Mr. and Mrs. Calabrese may resume their journey to Ohio where they will reside.

The Calabrese car, loaded down with household goods was also badly damaged, the trooper said.

The accident victim is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Duda, Sr., Brownsville. The body was taken to Brownsville last evening.

Allegany County Had 17 Traffic Accidents in Feb.

Two Persons Were Killed and 10 Injured; Extra Caution Urged

A total of 1,186 accidents were investigated in Maryland during the month of February with twenty-five persons killed and 603 injured, the monthly report of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission shows.

Seventeen accidents were reported for the month in Allegany county with two killed and ten injured. Baltimore City Police reported 698 accidents with six persons killed and 324 injured.

Cumberland had one of the two fatal accidents in Allegany county but the city had a perfect score on the traffic injuries side of the ledger.

Eleven of the twenty-three counties, Caroline, Carroll, Cecil, Charles, Garrett, Kent, Queen Anne, St. Mary's, Somerset, Talbot, and Worcester experienced a fatality free month.

According to municipal and state police officers, pedestrian accidents continued to lead all other types for severity—five of the six persons killed in Baltimore City, or eighty-three per cent, were pedestrians, and eight of the nineteen persons killed in the counties, or forty-two per cent, were pedestrians.

The safety commission points out that the heavy percentage of pedestrian accidents indicates that the "education of the pedestrian in traffic safety has not had its effect on the pedestrian."

Governor O'Conor, the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission and co-operating agencies and individuals interested in traffic safety have warned that "now that spring is here, there will be more motorists, pedestrians and bicyclists on the streets and highways of the state," —which the commission adds "is our cue to be doubly cautious."

Mrs. Bertha Young Rites Are Planned

Funeral services for Mrs. Bertha Young, 70, widow of Thomas Young, 441 Bond street, who died here early yesterday morning, will be conducted Monday morning at 9 o'clock in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic church. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

The body is at the Stein funeral home.

She was a native of this city, a daughter of the late Francis and Elizabeth Dorner Messman.

For a number of years she was a resident of St. Louis, Mo., but had made her home here for the past decade. She was a member of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic church.

Mrs. Young was the last surviving member of her family. A number of nieces and nephews of this area also survive.

BOLYARD CHILD DIES

Funeral services for Virgil Royce Bolyard, 13-months-old son of Homer and Audra McDonald Bolyard, who died yesterday morning at his home, Town Creek, near Flintstone, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home.

The Rev. George E. Baughman, pastor of First Methodist church, will officiate and interment will be in Brethren cemetery, near Flintstone. The child had been ill since Sunday.

Besides his parents he is survived by four sisters, Wanda Lee, Alice Deveda, Lilly Ruth, and Betty Jean Bolyard, all at home; two brothers, Homer Aubrey and James Earl Bolyard, also at home, and his grandmothers, Mrs. Alice McDonald, Grafton, W. Va., and Mrs. Isora B. Bolyard, Thornton, W. Va.

MISS JACKSON RITES

Funeral services for Miss Edith V. Jackson, 42, negress, who died early yesterday morning at her home, 705 Baker street, will be conducted Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home.

The Rev. Ramsey Bridges, pastor of McKendree Methodist church, will officiate and interment will be in Sumner cemetery.

Miss Jackson had been ill for several months. She had been employed at the Celanese plant and was formerly an elevator operator at the Fort Cumberland hotel.

She was a daughter of Harry C. Jackson, this city. One half-brother, Walter Twyman, also survives.

JOHN HEIER RITES

Funeral services for John Conrad Heier, 68, 24 Thomas street, who died Wednesday morning in Allegany hospital, were conducted yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Thelma Wharton, 121 West Oldtown road.

The Rev. Dr. Hall Sharp, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church, officiated and interment was in the church cemetery.

Pallbearers were Ralph Wharton, John Gray, Norman Hall, Jacob Judy, H. E. Northcraft and Morris Steele.

Rubber Workers Receive Sanction To Call Strike

Brief Work Stoppage Reported at Kelly-Springfield Plant

Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, has been authorized to call a strike, at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, in the event that negotiations on the union's demands for a wage increase break down, Ralph C. Beard, president, reported last evening.

The union official said sanction for the action was received yesterday in a telegram from the executive board of the international union.

Local 26, he added, contacted the executive board last Sunday asking permission to take strike action if necessary after the workers of the local tire company rejected a company offer to settle wage differences at the Kelly plant.

Meetings Are Planned

The union official said the company offered an eight cents an hour increase but that the union is holding to its original demand for an eighteen and one-half cent hourly increase.

The company and the union met Thursday but decided to halt negotiations until early this week.

A meeting of all union officers, members of the executive board, division chairman and department committeemen has been called for tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the union hall, Beard announced.

The group will discuss the entire negotiation picture at the meeting and will also formulate plans for the election of division chairman of the Kelly plant, the union official said.

A six-hour work stoppage of about twenty-five employes of the final finishing department of the Kelly plant ended yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Report Work Stoppage

Union officials said the employes stopped work about 9 a. m. protesting the action of an assistant foreman, asserting the company supervisor was rude in giving orders to a female employe and of accusing one of the workers with telling a falsehood.

Union officials said the workers stopped work pending the settlement of the issue but that the 3 p. m. shift in the department reported for work and that the day shift is expected to report for duty today.

A company spokesman confirmed a union report that the issue leading to the work stoppage will be investigated immediately.

Committees Are Named To Plan For YMCA Dances

Standing committees of the newly organized Saturday Nighters council of Central YMCA were named at a meeting of the council yesterday evening at the "Y", according to Robert L. Sisson, general YMCA secretary and one of the advisors to the group.

A special committee was named to arrange for a name band to come to Cumberland early in May to play for a Saturday night dance at the "Y". The group includes Marcus Whitmore, Mrs. Anna Everline, James D. Preaskorn and Ronald Lohr.

The next dance to be sponsored by the council will be held Saturday, March 30. Dances are planned for each Saturday except April 20, for young adults and adults.

Katherine Ullery was named chairman of the decorations committee to be assisted by Betty Shaffer, Mrs. Arthur Bright, Ronald Lohr, Leslie Brinkman, John Cox and John Shriver.

Whitmore was named chairman of the committee on arrangements, which also includes Miss Eva Henry, W. Donald Smith, Preaskorn, Thomas Waller, Ted DeHart, Anthony Diddio, Charles Calhoun and Paul Long.

The tickets and advance sales committee includes Edward T. Beall, chairman; Fred D. Steiding, Miss E. Jane Gilchrist, Miss Naomi Enfield, Mrs. James Brazel, Donald Hambleton, Donald McIntyre, Victor Athey and Mrs. Everline.

Brazel will head the special programs committee, and will be assisted by Hilda O'Neal, Mrs. William M. Somerville, Kathryn Yankie, Doris See, Charles Dicks, Mary Lee Winebrenner and Eli S. Wilson.

The attendance committee includes James W. Bishop, chairman; Mrs. E. F. Phillips, Paul George, Jr., Philip Lucas, Doris Smith and Charles Porter.

Red Cross To Complete Hendricks Hotel Aid Early Next Week

The American Red Cross has met the complete needs of all but five of the families made homeless by the recent Hendricks hotel fire, and every family that suffered losses they are unable to meet will be taken care of by the first part of the week, according to Benedict R. DeAngelo, eastern area representative.

The Red Cross, he added, has met the complete needs of twelve families who suffered damage in the fire, he added.

Local Police Will Form Pistol Team

Seven members of the Cumberland police department have already signed up for the Cumberland police pistol team, Sgt. John H. Newhouse, reported yesterday.

Present plans call for competition with local pistol teams as well as a number of matches with the Hagerstown police team.

The captain of the team will be chosen at the first meeting of the group to be held about April 1.

Carver High School Students Plan for Negro Health Week

Special pulpit announcements, a radio broadcast, a poster contest and a series of school assemblies are being planned for the week beginning March 31 and ending April 7, which has been set aside throughout the nation as the thirty-second annual observance of Negro Health week.

Earle L. Bracey, principal of Carver high school, is being assisted by Miss Ruby M. Adams, director of elementary education in county schools, in arranging for local observance.

On Sunday, March 31, the opening day, special announcements of the observance will be made from the pulpit by the Rev. Ramsey Bridges, pastor of McKendree Methodist Episcopal church; and the Rev. J. W. Parker, pastor of Metropolitan M. E. church. Arrangements are also being made for a pulpit announcement by the Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, pastor of St. Philip's Episcopal chapel.

A fifteen-minute radio broadcast will be presented over Station WTBO Thursday, April 4, at 6:15 p. m. by senior and junior Carver high school students. The program will include a sketch of the history of Negro Health week and its purpose, and selections by the Carver high school chorus.

Dowling To Speak

Also scheduled for April 4 is a general school assembly at 12:40 p. m., when J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian, will discuss the need of milk in the daily diet, and movies will be shown on how to prevent disease through proper health conditions. Dowling will be introduced by Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, city and county health officer.

A poster contest open to the 230 pupils at the school, from grades 1 through 12, is now being held, and the best poster submitted from each of the nine rooms will be judged at the assembly by members of the county health department.

Prizes for the three best posters will be awarded at the school commencement, to be held May 30.

As an illustration of the need for proper nutrition, feeding experiments are now being conducted in the science room at Carver on two groups of three-week-old baby chicks.

Experiment in Process

Three of the chicks are being fed nothing but bread and water, while the remaining three are being fed milk and mash. The experiment, which has been underway for the past ten days, has already showed results, with a marked difference in the weight and apparent health of the chicks.

Bracey said they will be exhibited at a meeting of the nutrition committee of the elementary school program April 4 at the board of education building, Washington street.

Small school assemblies are planned each day during Negro Health week for discussion purposes, and on Sunday, April 7, the closing day, the ministers of the churches listed above will make pulpit announcements evaluating the local program.

A food display and posters, prepared by the county health department, will be exhibited at Carver high school during the week.

The regular monthly negro baby clinic will be held Thursday, April 4, at 10 a. m. in the basement of city hall, in charge of Miss Grace Hardman and Miss Louise Batie, city public health nurses.

Ash's Application For Class D Beer License Is Denied

The circuit court judges yesterday sustained the remonstrance filed by 146 near-Flintstone citizens and denied Thomas Ash his request for a Class D beer license at Black Valley, a short distance from Flintstone.

In denying the application for the license, the court stated that apparently the citizens of the community did not want the establishment and the proposed location was not a fit and proper place.

Remonstrants in the case pointed out that in 1882 a petition was circulated in Flintstone Election District No. 3 to prohibit the sale of intoxicants within the district and that a law was passed to that effect. However, in 1933 a special session of the legislature repealed the law, unbeknown by the citizens of the community.

Several witnesses testified that they purchased homes in the locality believing there could be no license issued in that locality.

The testimony also developed the fact that the proposed establishment is a small, three-room bungalow without any water supply or toilet facilities with the operator stating that he anicipated that most of his trade would come from Pennsylvania.

Ash, represented by William L. Wilson, Jr., testified that he planned to build an outside privy to remedy the lack of toilet facilities whereupon Earl E. Manges, counsel for the remonstrants, stated that such a move would be objectionable to neighbors living "within fly-flying distance."

It was also pointed out that the proposed establishment would be located on a crooked, country road and would be without adequate police protection.

The petition for the license was filed a month ago after which the remonstrance was filed with the names of 146 people all living in the same geographical territory as six citizens who signed the applicant's petition.

Local Man Is Robbed And Beaten; Soldier And Civilian Sought

No trace had been found last evening of a soldier and civilian police said escaped in a stolen car after severely beating a local man in the Baltimore street B. and O. subway early yesterday morning.

Police said Lewis E. Long, Brunswick hotel, was attacked and robbed of $13 by the pair in the subway about 12:40 a. m. today and added that the local man was treated in a local hospital for cuts on the hands, face and legs.

The men escaped in a two-door Plymouth sedan bearing Maryland tags No. 597,374. Police said state police reported at 12:30 a. m. that the car had been stolen from James Morgan in Mt. Savage.

The men are also suspected, police added, of stealing two coats and a pair of shoes from a car owned by Edgar Collier, Central YMCA.

Minke Says Foxes Are Becoming Menace to Wild Game in County

A. J. McKenzie, of RFD No. 1, Hyndman, Pa., who claims to be a professional trapper, appeared in trial magistrates court yesterday afternoon with five grey fox and one red fox pelts, trapped in this county.

He collected a total of $30 bounty on the half-dozen pelts and said he could sell the furs for about $2.50 each. The county pays $3 and the state $2 bounty for each fox taken in Allegany.

McKenzie explained he came to this county and set his traps at the request of Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke, to help eliminate the animal, said by sportsmen to destroy small game. The fox has been reported multiplying rapidly in this area.

McKenzie said he took these particular pelts in the Little Orleans section on Green Ridge and Polish mountains. He says he still has traps out and hopes to get more foxes in that and other nearby areas.

Must Eliminate Foxes

Minke explained last night that a survey indicated foxes destroyed considerable small game and birds, and the state's game technician and other game officials decided an effort should be made to eliminate the predaceaous fox. Both red and grey fox seem to be thriving here and in adjoining counties.

Minke said McKenzie and James Beal, of Mt. Savage, another professional trapper, were persuaded to bring their traps to this section ten days ago, and have together, taken eleven foxes in the state forest, and are just getting started. This year, McKenzie has taken a total of 130 red and grey foxes in this and adjoining counties, Minkie said.

The district warden has been showing both McKenzie and Beal over the 25,000-acre state forest on Green Ridge, Town Hill and Polish mountain during the past few days. Minke expressed the opinion that when the pair of trappers learn more about the ground, they will clean out the foxes pretty well.

Under the system set up to pay bounty on fox pelts, Minke remains at home at 106 McKinley avenue each Friday, to check pelts and issue payment vouchers. They are first checked in at trial magistrates' court, he explained.

In three weeks, Minke said he has paid bounty on a total of fifty-two fox pelts taken in this county. In the same period in Garrett county, State Game Warden Francis Ruge of Deer Park, has paid bounty on ninety pelts.

When pelts are brought in for bounty, the hard center of the nose on each fur is split, so it cannot be presented for payment of bounty a second time, Minke explained. This does not damage the fur in any way, and the trapper can sell it as a pelt.

Will Release Game

There is considerable wild game to be released in the state forest, which is practically all open hunting ground in season, and if the fox is permitted to multiply and prey upon other wild life, it is almost useless to release the game, Minke explained. Birds and other game require a few days to become wild and adjust themselves to their wild environment, and this is the time when the fox has less trouble attacking and killing them, Minke added.

Minke said the game technician

Wastepaper Drive Will Open Monday

W. Donald Smith has announced that the monthly wastepaper salvage drive will begin Monday and continue through Friday in Cumberland and vicinity. Smith is chairman of the drive.

LaVale, Bowman's Addition, Potomac Park, Bowling Green, Bedford Road from Nave's Crossroad to State Line, and the Baltimore Pike to Miller's service station, will be included in Monday's collection.

The schedule of pickups for the rest of the week is as follows: Tuesday, West Side; Wednesday, east of Wills Creek and north of Baltimore street and avenue; Thursday, between Baltimore street and avenue and Oldtown road, and Friday, south of Oldtown road.

Conditions of Accident Victims Are "Fair"

The condition of 4-year-old David Null, 120 Seymour street, was reported as "fair" at Memorial hospital last night where he was admitted after being struck by a car in front of his home Wednesday.

The condition of Charles Bricker, 65, 449 Virginia avenue, who was injured last Thursday afternoon when struck by a car on Virginia avenue, was also reported as "fair" at Memorial hospital.

Five Enlist in Army

The veterans are: Addison Marple, 21, 916½ Bedford street, a veteran of three years previous service; and Foster Talecott Berkey, 24, Route 5, who has a total of four years and four months prior service.

Those enlisting for the first time are: Charles Marvin Stansberry, 17, 1036 Lexington avenue; Dallas Waldo Hite, 17, 515 East First street; and Warren Clyde Teter, Barton.

Three Persons Injured, One Critically, as Blast Wrecks Building Here

By F. ALAN WEATHERHOLT

Leaving wreckage that looks like some of the shelled and bombed buildings seen by American soldiers in the European theater and the Philippine Islands, an explosion shattered a two-story concrete block store room and manufacturing plant of the Cement Products company, at 405-413 Henderson avenue yesterday just before noon. Three persons were injured, one critically and another seriously. Several others received minor burns or were badly shaken.

Charles Cooper, who is 26 years old today, of Ellerslie, is in a critical condition at Memorial hospital, suffering from second and third degree burns, covering practically his entire body. Cooper was employed on the job of construction and remodeling at the place, by J. S. Cook and Sons, contractors.

William Leasure, 36 of Oldtown, a truck driver for the cement company, suffered injuries to his left leg and back. He is a patient in Allegany hospital and attaches said he may have suffered a fractured left knee, but this had not been fully determined last night. Leasure is said to have been hit in the stomach by a concrete block.

Charles L. Nestor, of Westernport, president of the company, received hospital treatment at Allegany hospital for first and second degree burns on his left hand and arm, and burns on fingers of his right hand. After being treated he returned to the scene. Nestor was burned when he removed the flaming clothing from Cooper, and was not actually injured in the blast.

Man Blown across Street

Richard Cook, a member of the J. S. Cook and Sons contractors had slight burns on his hands and his eyebrows and eyelashes were singed. He was standing in the entrance of the Queen City Glass Company building next door when the explosion occurred. Cook started to the hospital with Cooper in a truck, but was met by Stein's ambulance en route. Cook returned to the scene to help clear the wreckage and check his men to see if any others had been injured. Cook said the force of the blast blew him out of the doorway and across the street.

The actual cause of the explosion has not been officially determined, according to insurance men, members of the firm, county and city authorities.

Witnesses will be examined today at the office of State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris, according to Terrence J. Boyle, county investigator, who is conducting an investigation into the explosion for the state's attorney's office.

Mention Probable Cause

The probable cause of the explosion, witnesses and some officials believe, was ignition of fumes thought to have escaped from a gasoline storage tank of 550-gallon capacity, under the sidewalk in front of the building. The tank was attached to a gasoline pump just inside the front wall, where trucks owned by the company were refueled.

One authority, after learning that gasoline had been delivered to the tank an hour of two before the explosion, said fumes may have escaped from the tank through a faulty connection or other opening, as and after the tank was filled. These fumes, it was explained would be heavier than air and would have a tendency to collect in the basement and under the floor of the building.

Workmen about the place said the blast seemed to come from underneath the building, as the whole structure just raised and then settled. Cooper, who was critically burned, had gone into the pit or basement, in the vicinity of the gasoline storage tank a few minutes before the blast.

Nestor said he was coming down a ladder to the street floor when the blast occurred. He was hurled about, he explained, but managed to hang onto the ladder. In a few seconds, Cooper came clamboring out of the pit, screaming that he was "on fire". Nestor grabbed Cooper and began tearing the flaming clothing from him. Nestor was badly burned while aiding Cooper.

Fire Follow Blast

Fire followed the blast, but it was extinguished by firemen who arrived within minutes after the explosion. Most of the damage, firemen said, was from the explosion and not from fire which followed.

Engine companies Nos. 1 and 4 of the city fire department responded to the alarm, and all flames were extinguished in less than thirty minutes. Pipeman Thomas L. Lindner of the East Side company had his eye brows and eye lashes burned, but was not seriously injured.

Firemen said there were several drums of some inflamable material in the basement, which were burning and throwing off dense black smoke and fumes when they arrived. These drums seemed to account for most of the fire and it required some difficult work to confine the blaze to them and extinguish it.

Crawled Under Ruins

The first thing firemen did was crawl into the wrecked basement

Additional Groups Favor Proposed County Library

Four Individuals Express Opposition; Lots Are Offered Veterans

Three more county organizations and one individual yesterday lined up behind the proposed county library project with four other individuals, three from Cumberland and one from Frostburg, registering protests against the plan.

The views on the proposed bookmobile project which would boost the county tax rate two cents, were presented at the regular Friday meeting of the board.

Meanwhile, the Allegany County Co-ordinating Council, comprised of representatives of educational, fraternal, religious and welfare groups, is going ahead with plans for a rally early in April when the organization intends to boom the proposed library project. It was also announced that a series of broadcasts are being arranged by the council and allied groups to push the proposed broadening of the library facilities.

Point Out Advantages

Organizations that hopped on the library bandwagon yesterday were the Barton Parent-Teacher Association, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Barton Hose Company, the Cumberland branch of the American Association of University Women and Ross F. Shaw, who said he was speaking for the residents of Oldtown.

Mrs. Louise M. Footen, secretary of the Barton P-TA; Mrs. Margaret Devlin, secretary of the auxiliarly of the hose company, Shaw, and Mrs. Ann Blakeslee Smith, secretary of the University Women, indorsed the library project with the latter group stating, "we are wholeheartedly in favor of the proposal. We all realize the many advantages of such a program which will afford innumerable educational opportunities for all the inhabitants."

Protests against the moving library came from:

Fred Owens, Frostburg—"The proposed plan is neither essential or necessary."

J. W. Radcliffe, Cumberland—"The increased taxation is already a hardship on most people and funds should be used for more essential things such as roads."

G. J. Frantz, Cumberland, who protested the proposed two cents increase in the tax rate.

R. L. Burkett, Cumberland, who also opposed any increase in the tax rate for the present.

With the exception of Commissioner C. N. Wilkinson, the board members have not committed themselves to date on the proposal which would necessitate adding two cents to the levy, if approved. Wilkinson has gone on record as favoring the library.

Lots Offered Veterans

Acting on a resolution presented last week by Commissioner Wilkinson, an opinion was given by Horace P. Whitworth, Sr., attorney to the board, under which county-owned lots may be made available to veterans for a nominal price, or free of charge, in some cases.

Commissioners Simeon W. Green, James Holmes and Wilkinson agreed to submit the proposal to veterans' organizations. The attorney in his opinion cited:

"In accordance with your order I am advising you with reference to the matter of turning over to the Veterans' Organizations, free of charge, the various lots now the property of Allegany County, and acquired under the statute providing for their being bought in by the County Commissioners when sold for taxes.

"A check of the holdings of the County in this respect shows that in addition to some acreage through-

Contact Wilson Wyatt and Forward His Replies to W. R. Carscaden

William R. Carscaden, representative for a group of local citizens sponsored a proposed federal housing project for veterans in the vicinity of the Six Mile House, has been given the support of Senators Millard E. Tydings and George L. Radcliffe.

In response to inquiries by Carscaden, both Senators Tydings and Radcliffe contacted Wilson W. Wyatt, administrator of the National Housing Agency, Washington, and then forwarded Wyatt's replies on the proposition to Carscaden.

Wyatt informed Senator Radcliffe "I am glad to give you the information requested by Mr. Carscaden. Under Priorities Regulation 33 of the Civilian Production Administration, priority assistance is available to builders interested in constructing housing for returning veterans. Housing built under the regulation cannot be sold for more than $10,000 or rented for more than $80 and it must be reserved for veteran occupancy for a period of thirty days after it is completed.

In his communication to Senator Tydings, Wyatt stated that he has asked Charles S. Ascher, regional expediter, New York, to have a representative from his office contact Carscaden and supply him with additional information.

Vandals Puncture Tires

Police reported yesterday that the owners of three cars parked on South Liberty street early yesterday morning reported that the tires had been punctured. An officer who investigated said the vandals had used an ice pick to punch from five to eight holes in each tire.

Final Report Shows $45,053.68 Collected in Red Cross Drive

Former Prisoner of War Sends $50 and Letter of Sincere Appreciation

A final report has been prepared in the recent Allegany county Red Cross fund campaign, showing reports from all divisions and branches, with a total contribution of $45,053.86.

The county-wide goal for the campaign was $30,500, and the final report shows that contributors in the county amply supported the drive by giving volunteer solicitors $15,053.86 more than the requested budget.

Advanced Gifts Section

The Advanced Gifts section, headed by Henry C. Swearingen and W. Earle Cobey, co-chairmen, was assigned a quota of $12,200, and raised a total of $15,051.50. This section raised and contributed fifty per cent of the total county quota, from about two hundred contributors.

The Labor section headed by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Castle had an assigned quota of $3,000, to be raised from workers of the Celanese, Kelly and B and O railroad. They reported a total of $2,268.56. Of this amount $2,030 was raised from B and O employes, through the efforts of Roy W. Eves. Leaders said, had an equal effort been made at the Celanese and Kelly plants, this section would have been far over the assigned quota.

National Firms section, which has not closed its report, shows to date $1,098.33, against a goal of $1,200. These gifts are received mostly by mail from firms operating here but with headquarters elsewhere.

Ash's Application For Class D Beer License Is Denied

The circuit court judges yesterday sustained the remonstrance filed by 146 near-Flintstone citizens and denied Thomas Ash his request for a Class D beer license at Black Valley, a short distance from Flintstone.

In denying the application for the license, the court stated that apparently the citizens of the community did not want the establishment and the proposed location was not a fit and proper place.

Remonstrants in the case pointed out that in 1882 a petition was circulated in Flintstone Election District No. 3 to prohibit the sale of intoxicants within the district and that a law was passed to that effect. However, in 1933 a special session of the legislature repealed the law, unbeknown by the citizens of the community.

Several witnesses testified that they purchased homes in the locality believing there could be no license issued in that locality.

The testimony also developed the fact that the proposed establishment is a small, three-room bungalow without any water supply or toilet facilities with the operator stating that he anicipated that most of his trade would come from Pennsylvania.

Ash, represented by William L. Wilson, Jr., testified that he planned to build an outside privy to remedy the lack of toilet facilities whereupon Earl E. Manges, counsel for the remonstrants, stated that such a move would be objectionable to neighbors living "within fly-flying distance."

It was also pointed out that the proposed establishment would be located on a crooked, country road and would be without adequate police protection.

The petition for the license was filed a month ago after which the remonstrance was filed with the names of 146 people all living in the same geographical territory as six citizens who signed the applicant's petition.

Youth Is Killed, Three Are Hurt In Two-Car Crash

Michael Duda, 21, Brownsville, Pa., Faces Charge of Manslaughter

A 16-year-old Brownsville, Pa., youth was instantly killed and three other persons were injured, one of them seriously, as a result of a two-car collision on Route 40, one and one-half miles west of Grantsville, yesterday morning at 7:10 o'clock.

State Trooper Blair J. Buckel, who investigated, identified the dead youth as Robert Duda, 217 Front street, Brownsville. Death, the trooper added, resulted from a broken neck and a fractured skull.

Also injured was his brother, Michael Duda, 21, driver of the car, who was reported in a "fair" condition in Miners hospital, Frostburg, early last evening, suffering from severe shock, multiple bruises and a possible concussion of the brain.

Catapults over Car

Trooper Buckel said the car occupied by the two brothers was headed east when it went out of control after the right side of the vehicle crashed against the front of a westbound car driven by Thomas G. Calabrese, Teaneck, N. J.

The Duda car, Trooper Buckel added was on the wrong side of the road and apparently traveling at a terrific rate of speed when it catapulted over the Calabrese car and crashed against the embankment.

Calabrese was treated by a Grantsville physician for a lacerated upper lip and left knee injury while his wife, Mrs. Betty Calabrese, riding with him, was treated for a left leg injury.

The trooper reported the Duda car was completely demolished by the crash which tore the doors from the vehicle and threw the back seat of the car outside. Both of the brothers, he added, were still inside the vehicle.

Faces Hearing

Duda, Trooper Buckel said, will be given a hearing before Magistrate J. U. Stanton, Grantsville, Monday or Tuesday, on a charge of manslaughter by a motor vehicle. The hearing, he added, will be held as soon as possible so that Mr. and Mrs. Calabrese may resume their journey to Ohio where they will reside.

The Calabrese car, loaded down with household goods was also badly damaged, the trooper said.

The accident victim is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Duda, Sr., Brownsville. The body was taken to Brownsville last evening.

Local Man Is Robbed And Beaten; Soldier And Civilian Sought

No trace had been found last evening of a soldier and civilian police said escaped in a stolen car after severely beating a local man in the Baltimore street B. and O. subway early yesterday morning.

Police said Lewis E. Long, Brunswick hotel, was attacked and robbed of $13 by the pair in the subway about 12:40 a. m. today and added that the local man was treated in a local hospital for cuts on the hands, face and legs.

The men escaped in a two-door Plymouth sedan bearing Maryland tags No. 597,374. Police said state police reported at 12:30 a. m. that the car had been stolen from James Morgan in Mt. Savage.

The men are also suspected, police added, of stealing two coats and a pair of shoes from a car owned by Edgar Collier, Central YMCA.

Allegany County Had 17 Traffic Accidents in Feb.

Two Persons Were Killed and 10 Injured; Extra Caution Urged

A total of 1,186 accidents were investigated in Maryland during the month of February with twenty-five persons killed and 603 injured, the monthly report of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission shows.

Seventeen accidents were reported for the month in Allegany county with two killed and ten injured. Baltimore City Police reported 698 accidents with six persons killed and 324 injured.

Cumberland had one of the two fatal accidents in Allegany county but the city had a perfect score on the traffic injuries side of the ledger.

Eleven of the twenty-three counties, Caroline, Carroll, Cecil, Charles, Garrett, Kent, Queen Anne, St. Mary's, Somerset, Talbot, and Worcester experienced a fatality free month.

According to municipal and state police officers, pedestrian accidents continued to lead all other types for severity—five of the six persons killed in Baltimore City, or eighty-three per cent, were pedestrians, and eight of the nineteen persons killed in the counties, or forty-two per cent, were pedestrians.

The safety commission points out that the heavy percentage of pedestrian accidents indicates that the "education of the pedestrian in traffic safety has not had its effect on the pedestrian."

Governor O'Conor, the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission and co-operating agencies and individuals interested in traffic safety have warned that "now that spring is here, there will be more motorists, pedestrians and bicyclists on the streets and highways of the state," —which the commission adds "is our cue to be doubly cautious."

Red Cross To Complete Hendricks Hotel Aid Early Next Week

The American Red Cross has met the complete needs of all but five of the families made homeless by the recent Hendricks hotel fire, and every family that suffered losses they are unable to meet will be taken care of by the first part of the week, according to Benedict R. DeAngelo, eastern area representative.

The Red Cross, he added, has met the complete needs of twelve families who suffered damage in the fire, he added.

Local Police Will Form Pistol Team

Seven members of the Cumberland police department have already signed up for the Cumberland police pistol team, Sgt. John H. Newhouse, reported yesterday.

Present plans call for competition with local pistol teams as well as a number of matches with the Hagerstown police team.

The captain of the team will be chosen at the first meeting of the group to be held about April 1.

Mrs. Bertha Young Rites Are Planned

Funeral services for Mrs. Bertha Young, 70, widow of Thomas Young, 441 Bond street, who died here early yesterday morning, will be conducted Monday morning at 9 o'clock in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic church. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

The body is at the Stein funeral home.

She was a native of this city, a daughter of the late Francis and Elizabeth Dorner Messman.

For a number of years she was a resident of St. Louis, Mo., but had made her home here for the past decade. She was a member of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic church.

Mrs. Young was the last surviving member of her family. A number of nieces and nephews of this area also survive.

BOLYARD CHILD DIES

Funeral services for Virgil Royce Bolyard, 13-months-old son of Homer and Audra McDonald Bolyard, who died yesterday morning at his home, Town Creek, near Flintstone, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home.

The Rev. George E. Baughman, pastor of First Methodist church, will officiate and interment will be in Brethren cemetery, near Flintstone. The child had been ill since Sunday.

Besides his parents he is survived by four sisters, Wanda Lee, Alice Deveda, Lilly Ruth, and Betty Jean Bolyard, all at home; two brothers, Homer Aubrey and James Earl Bolyard, also at home, and his grandmothers, Mrs. Alice McDonald, Grafton, W. Va., and Mrs. Isora B. Bolyard, Thornton, W. Va.

MISS JACKSON RITES

Funeral services for Miss Edith V. Jackson, 42, negress, who died early yesterday morning at her home, 705 Baker street, will be conducted Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home.

The Rev. Ramsey Bridges, pastor of McKendree Methodist church, will officiate and interment will be in Sumner cemetery.

Miss Jackson had been ill for several months. She had been employed at the Celanese plant and was formerly an elevator operator at the Fort Cumberland hotel.

She was a daughter of Harry C. Jackson, this city. One half-brother, Walter Twyman, also survives.

JOHN HEIER RITES

Funeral services for John Conrad Heier, 68, 24 Thomas street, who died Wednesday morning in Allegany hospital, were conducted yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Thelma Wharton, 121 West Oldtown road.

The Rev. Dr. Hall Sharp, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church, officiated and interment was in the church cemetery.

Brief Work Stoppage Reported at Kelly-Springfield Plant

Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, has been authorized to call a strike, at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, in the event that negotiations on the union's demands for a wage increase break down, Ralph C. Beard, president, reported last evening.

The union official said sanction for the action was received yesterday in a telegram from the executive board of the international union.

Local 26, he added, contacted the executive board last Sunday asking permission to take strike action if necessary after the workers of the local tire company rejected a company offer to settle wage differences at the Kelly plant.

Meetings Are Planned

The union official said the company offered an eight cents an hour increase but that the union is holding to its original demand for an eighteen and one-half cent hourly increase.

The company and the union met Thursday but decided to halt negotiations until early this week.

A meeting of all union officers, members of the executive board, division chairman and department committeemen has been called for tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the union hall, Beard announced.

The group will discuss the entire negotiation picture at the meeting and will also formulate plans for the election of division chairman of the Kelly plant, the union official said.

A six-hour work stoppage of about twenty-five employes of the final finishing department of the Kelly plant ended yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Report Work Stoppage

Union officials said the employes stopped work about 9 a. m. protesting the action of an assistant foreman, asserting the company supervisor was rude in giving orders to a female employe and of accusing one of the workers with telling a falsehood.

Union officials said the workers stopped work pending the settlement of the issue but that the 3 p. m. shift in the department reported for work and that the day shift is expected to report for duty today.

A company spokesman confirmed a union report that the issue leading to the work stoppage will be investigated immediately.

Committees Are Named To Plan For YMCA Dances

Standing committees of the newly organized Saturday Nighters council of Central YMCA were named at a meeting of the council yesterday evening at the "Y", according to Robert L. Sisson, general YMCA secretary and one of the advisors to the group.

A special committee was named to arrange for a name band to come to Cumberland early in May to play for a Saturday night dance at the "Y". The group includes Marcus Whitmore, Mrs. Anna Everline, James D. Preaskorn and Ronald Lohr.

The next dance to be sponsored by the council will be held Saturday, March 30. Dances are planned for each Saturday except April 20, for young adults and adults.

Katherine Ullery was named chairman of the decorations committee to be assisted by Betty Shaffer, Mrs. Arthur Bright, Ronald Lohr, Leslie Brinkman, John Cox and John Shriver.

Whitmore was named chairman of the committee on arrangements, which also includes Miss Eva Henry, W. Donald Smith, Preaskorn, Thomas Waller, Ted DeHart, Anthony Diddio, Charles Calhoun and Paul Long.

The tickets and advance sales committee includes Edward T. Beall, chairman; Fred D. Steiding, Miss E. Jane Gilchrist, Miss Naomi Enfield, Mrs. James Brazel, Donald Hambleton, Donald McIntyre, Victor Athey and Mrs. Everline.

Brazel will head the special programs committee, and will be assisted by Hilda O'Neal, Mrs. William M. Somerville, Kathryn Yankie, Doris See, Charles Dicks, Mary Lee Winebrenner and Eli S. Wilson.

The attendance committee includes James W. Bishop, chairman; Mrs. E. F. Phillips, Paul George, Jr., Philip Lucas, Doris Smith and Charles Porter.

Conditions of Accident Victims Are "Fair"

The condition of 4-year-old David Null, 120 Seymour street, was reported as "fair" at Memorial hospital last night where he was admitted after being struck by a car in front of his home Wednesday.

The condition of Charles Bricker, 65, 449 Virginia avenue, who was injured last Thursday afternoon when struck by a car on Virginia avenue, was also reported as "fair" at Memorial hospital.

Five Enlist in Army

Five Cumberland area men left Thursday for their initial physical examination in Baltimore prior to entering the army, Captain Laurence M. Bairstow, officer in charge of local recruiting, announced. Two of the men are veterans.

The veterans are: Addison Marple, 21, 916½ Bedford street, a veteran of three years previous service; and Foster Talecott Berkey, 31, Route 5, who has a total of four years and four months prior service.

Those enlisting for the first time are: Charles Marvin Stansberry, 17, 1036 Lexington avenue; Dallas Waldo Hite, 17, 515 East First street; and Warren Clyde Teter, Barton.

Carver High School Students Plan for Negro Health Week

Special pulpit announcements, a radio broadcast, a poster contest and a series of school assemblies are being planned for the week beginning March 31 and ending April 7, which has been set aside throughout the nation as the thirty-second annual observance of Negro Health week.

Earle L. Bracey, principal of Carver high school, is being assisted by Miss Ruby M. Adams, director of elementary education in county schools, in arranging for local observance.

On Sunday, March 31, the opening day, special announcements of the observance will be made from the pulpit by the Rev. Ramsey Bridges, pastor of McKendree Methodist Episcopal church; and the Rev. J. W. Parker, pastor of Metropolitan M. E. church. Arrangements are also being made for a pulpit announcement by the Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, pastor of St. Philip's Episcopal chapel.

A fifteen-minute radio broadcast will be presented over Station WTBO Thursday, April 4, at 6:15 p. m. by senior and junior Carver high school students. The program will include a sketch of the history of Negro Health week and its purpose, and selections by the Carver high school chorus.

Dowling To Speak

Also scheduled for April 4 is a general school assembly at 12:40 p. m., when J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian, will discuss the need of milk in the daily diet, and movies will be shown on how to prevent disease through proper health conditions. Dowling will be introduced by Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, city and county health officer.

A poster contest open to the 230 pupils at the school, from grades 1 through 12, is now being held, and the best poster submitted from each of the nine rooms will be judged at the assembly by members of the county health department.

Prizes for the three best posters will be awarded at the school commencement, to be held May 30.

As an illustration of the need for proper nutrition, feeding experiments are now being conducted in the science room at Carver on two groups of three-week-old baby chicks.

Experiment in Process

Three of the chicks are being fed nothing but bread and water, while the remaining three are being fed milk and mash. The experiment, which has been underway for the past ten days, has already showed results, with a marked difference in the weight and apparent health of the chicks.

Bracey said they will be exhibited at a meeting of the nutrition committee of the elementary school program April 4 at the board of education building, Washington street.

Small school assemblies are planned each day during Negro Health week for discussion purposes, and on Sunday, April 7, the closing day, the ministers of the churches listed above will make pulpit announcements evaluating the local program.

A food display and posters, prepared by the county health department, will be exhibited at Carver high school during the week.

The regular monthly negro baby clinic will be held Thursday, April 4, at 10 a. m. in the basement of city hall, in charge of Miss Grace Hardman and Miss Louise Batie, city public health nurses.

Minke Says Foxes Are Becoming Menace to Wild Game in County

A. J. McKenzie, of RFD No. 1, Hyndman, Pa., who claims to be a professional trapper, appeared in trial magistrates court yesterday afternoon with five grey fox and one red fox pelts, trapped in this county.

He collected a total of $30 bounty on the half-dozen pelts and said he could sell the furs for about $2.50 each. The county pays $3 and the state $2 bounty for each fox taken in Allegany.

McKenzie explained he came to this county and set his traps at the request of Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke, to help eliminate the animal, said by sportsmen to destroy small game. The fox has been reported multiplying rapidly in this area.

McKenzie said he took these particular pelts in the Little Orleans section on Green Ridge and Polish mountains. He says he still has traps out and hopes to get more foxes in that and other nearby areas.

Must Eliminate Foxes

Minke explained last night that a survey indicated foxes destroyed considerable small game and birds, and the state's game technician and other game officials decided an effort should be made to eliminate the predaceaous fox. Both red and grey fox seem to be thriving here and in adjoining counties.

Minke said McKenzie and James Beal, of Mt. Savage, another professional trapper, were persuaded to bring their traps to this section ten days ago, and have together, taken eleven foxes in the state forest, and are just getting started. This year, McKenzie has taken a total of 130 red and grey foxes in this and adjoining counties, Minkie said.

The district warden has been showing both McKenzie and Beal over the 25,000-acre state forest on Green Ridge, Town Hill and Polish mountain during the past few days. Minke expressed the opinion that when the pair of trappers learn more about the ground, they will clean out the foxes pretty well.

Under the system set up to pay bounty on fox pelts, Minke remains at home at 106 McKinley avenue each Friday, to check pelts and issue payment vouchers. They are first checked in at trial magistrates' court, he explained.

In three weeks, Minke said he has paid bounty on a total of fifty-two fox pelts taken in this county. In the same period in Garrett county, State Game Warden Francis Ruge of Deer Park, has paid bounty on ninety pelts.

When pelts are brought in for bounty, the hard center of the nose on each fur is split, so it cannot be presented for payment of bounty a second time, Minke explained. This does not damage the fur in any way, and the trapper can sell it as a pelt.

Will Release Game

There is considerable wild game to be released in the state forest, which is practically all open hunting ground in season, and if the fox is permitted to multiply and prey upon other wild life, it is almost useless to release the game, Minke explained. Birds and other game require a few days to become wild and adjust themselves to their wild environment, and this is the time when the fox has less trouble attacking and killing them, Minke added.

Minke said the game technician

Wastepaper Drive Will Open Monday

W. Donald Smith has announced that the monthly wastepaper salvage drive will begin Monday and continue through Friday in Cumberland and vicinity. Smith is chairman of the drive.

LaVale, Bowman's Addition, Potomac Park, Bowling Green, Bedford Road from Nave's Crossroad to State Line, and the Baltimore Pike to Miller's service station, will be included in Monday's collection.

The schedule of pickups for the rest of the week is as follows: Tuesday, West Side; Wednesday, east of Wills Creek and north of Baltimore street and avenue; Thursday, between Baltimore street and avenue and Oldtown road, and Friday, south of Oldtown road.
